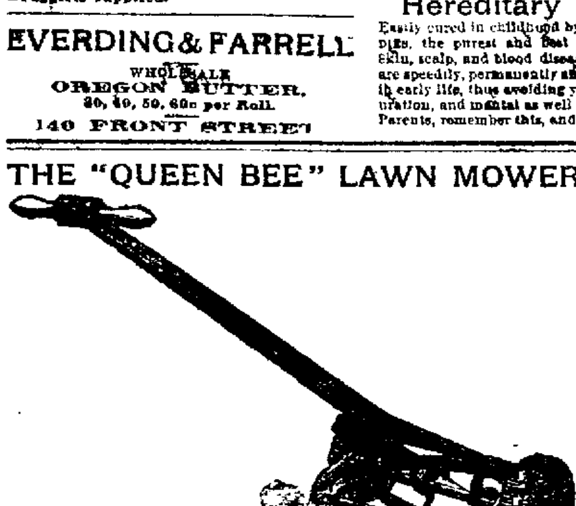
THE "QUEEN BEE" LAWN MOWER.



WHY WE RECOMMEND IT.

First—Because it runs more easily than any other machine made, and can be worked by a child with the greatest ease.

Second—Lightness, combined with strength in construction. Although lighter, it will stand more hard usage without breakage than any other mower made.

Third—By the simplicity of its construction, having only one gear on each side, it never can get out of repair.

Fourth—It has an enclosed ratchet, which is not only dirt proof but perfectly silent, thereby doing away with much of the noise and racket of other mowers.

Fifth—Its material is of the best, only solid cast steel knives, tempered in oil are used, and do not require sharpening once where others do a score of times.

Ask for this mower, insist on trying it and accept no other as being "just as good."

"Pum" Kelly's popularity has proved too much for the ring. Outside of this and the school superintendency the ticket is the same as outlined in yesterday's OREGONIAN. The word went out at noon yesterday that if the delegates wanted to yield to the popular demand for Wetzell they might do so. It was treachery in the camp, however, that defeated Summers for sheriff.

THE PRELIMINARIES.

For an hour prior to the assembling of the convention Masonic hall and the sidewalks and saloons in its vicinity were the scene of groups of men engaged in animated conversation. There was a good deal of buttonholing going on in the interests of Kelly and Hacheney, and the Simon men who would have been nominees if the cat had jumped differently, were made the target of considerable sharp talk. "You have made your bed and now you must lie in it." That is the way the victorious talk to the vanquished. There is abundant evidence, moreover, that the Lotan faction have quite as much human nature as magnanimity, and instead of offering to kill the fatted calf in honor of the prodigal's return, they prefer to fan the embers of rankling discontent in the breasts of the vanquished, and foster what probability already exists of a dissatisfaction at the polls.

ASSEMBLING.

About 10 o'clock the crowd filed into the halls. The victors were easily enough distinguished by their elevated chins and pompous air; the Simonites by the extreme length of their faces and the expression of poignant grief against which they struggled in vain. Quite a number of prominent republicans were also in the hall, and a few precinct candidates manifested astonishing cordiality in unfolding their designs upon the delegates.

GETTING DOWN TO WORK.

At 10:20 Chairman Lotan's burly form emerged from the scenery of the stage, and he rapped hard upon the table. He asked the meeting to come to order, and the delegates to move to the front of the hall. When quiet reigned, he said that he had made up his mind to make a speech, but the labors of a hot campaign had taxed his voice to such an extent that he would forego the pleasure.

T. A. Jordan nominated for temporary chairman P. L. Willis. He was elected by acclamation, and briefly thanked the convention for the honor.

On motion of D. M. Dunne, W. T. Hume and W. L. Boise were chosen temporary secretaries.

COMMITTEES APPOINTED.

Upon motion of T. A. Stephens, a committee on credentials of five delegates were appointed, namely: T. A. Stephens, P. F. Morey, D. M. Dunne, T. A. Jordan and Thomas Hislop.

On motion of J. H. Hall a committee on the order of business and permanent organization was appointed, the members of which were: J. H. Hall, L. C. Farrar, John Dudley, O. Summers and Calvin Powell.

Mr. Lotan then moved that a committee of seven be selected to place delegates to the state convention in nomination. This committee consisted of James Lotan, W. L. Boise, J. M. Scott, A. J. Coffee, Harry Morgan, F. Henshaw and Edward Ladd.

The convention then took a recess till 11 o'clock to allow the committees to prepare their respective reports.

THE DELEGATES PRESENT.

At 11:15 the convention was again called to order. First came the report of the committee on credentials, signed by the chairman T. A. Stephens, which was as follows:

To the Chairman of the County Convention of Multnomah County—SIR: We, your committee on credentials, most respectfully report that we have examined the credentials of the following named delegates, and find that they are entitled to seats as such in this convention:

Upon motion of R. M. Dement the report was adopted.

PERMANENT ORGANIZATION.

The following report of the committee on the order of business and permanent organization was then submitted:

First—We, your committee on the order of business and permanent organization, would respectfully report the following order of business. We recommend that the temporary officers be declared the permanent officers of the convention.
Second—The election of thirty-five delegates to the state convention.
Third—The nomination of a state senator.
Fourth—Nomination of nine representatives.
Fifth—One county judge.
Sixth—One sheriff.
Seventh—One clerk of circuit court.
Eighth—One clerk of county court.
Ninth—One recorder of conveyances.
Tenth—One county treasurer.
Eleventh—One assessor.
Twelfth—One school superintendent.
Thirteenth—One county surveyor.
Fourteenth—One county coroner.
Fifteenth—One county commissioner.
Sixteenth—Precinct officers.
Seventeenth—Appointments by the chair of seven persons to constitute the county central committee.

The report was signed by John H. Hall, chairman, and on motion was adopted.

THOMPSON'S CHOICE.

Secretary Hume then read the list of names selected by Chairman Lotan's committee for delegates to the state convention. They were as follows:

George H. Williams
Raleigh Stott
James Lotan
P. L. Willis
H. W. Scott
George L. Story
T. A. Jordan
J. A. Brown
Frank Thunander
D. M. Dunne
John Robertson

William McLean
F. R. Neal
W. W. Terry
A. H. McEwan
J. E. Floyd
David Morris
John H. Hall
E. J. Ladd
O. J. Laird
S. F. Scott

On motion of T. A. Jordan the names were made the choice of the convention.

R. M. Dement, D. M. Dunne, T. A. Jordan and F. Henshaw were appointed tellers. Mr. Jordan resigned, and A. W. Lambert, of the East Side, acted in his place. It was now 11:30, and Mr. Lotan arose, looked at his watch, and suggested that as it was about noon, it would be well to adjourn till after lunch. The delegates thereupon unitedly looked at their watches and became hungry. So they adjourned till 1:30.

Afternoon Session.

THE LAMB AND THE LION.

Upon reassembling, Mr. C. H. Carey passed up the following resolution, which was read from the secretary's desk:

Resolved, That the best interests of the republican party demand that all personal and private rivalry be laid aside and forgotten, and that every effort be made to harmonize all apparently conflicting elements in the party; and to that end, and with that in view, this convention will aim to select a republican ticket which will at the same time represent and unite all factions, and command the respect of the public and bring out the full party vote at the coming election.

On motion of James Lotan, the resolution was adopted.

TEN VOTES FOR MITCHELL.

P. L. Willis was nominated for state senator. He was chosen by acclamation, Secretary Boise putting the motion. Mr. Willis briefly and in good taste acknowledged his appreciation of the honor.

Eleven candidates for the lower house were then proposed, the ballot resulting as follows: John H. Hall, 73; Charles J. Reed, 73; J. T. Stewart, 69; P. F. Morey, 72; O. F. Botkin, 73; M. G. Griffin, 9; George L. Story, 72; J. B. Montgomery, 63; C. H. Meussdorffer, 70, W. E. Thomas, 68; Leo Peterson, 9. So Griffin and Peterson were thrown out.

A SAFE COPPER.

James Lotan nominated O. Summers for sheriff; A. W. Lambert nominated Penumbra Kelly. The mention of Kelly's name was the signal for a storm of applause from the crowd back of the delegates that by this time had filled the hall and thronged the wide entrance and corridor. When the tellers read his name three or four times in succession they howled again; and when the score opposite his name had grown to a majority of the total vote, so that his nomination was apparent, pandemonium broke loose. Cheers rent the air, delegates threw their hats at each other and jumped up and down. Kelly himself was hurried forward to the stage by enthusiastic adherents. He was about to speak, when Mr. Summers rose and addressed the chair. He said:

Mr. Chairman and Gentlemen of the Convention. [Confusion.] I think I have a right to the floor. This is not the first time I have been treated this way by a republican convention. I have been a candidate for this place before, and can stand defeat this time as well as hitherto. I am thankful to be able to say that I am able to get along without the office perhaps better than my opponent. However, I have been fairly beaten, and I shall fall into line, as I always have, and heartily support the whole ticket.

Mr. Kelly briefly thanked the convention for his nomination. He referred to the circumstances of his appointment two years ago, and said that it was the first time he had been nominated for the office. If elected he would try so to administer his office that those who had voted for him would not be ashamed of their choice.

The vote was then announced: Kelly 41, Summers 32.

John R. Duff was nominated for clerk of the circuit court by acclamation.

T. Cader Powell was unanimously chosen nominee for the office of county clerk.

W. L. Dudley went in for recorder without a hitch.

TWO MORE CONTESTED PLACES.

The county treasurership came next. Frank Hacheney, S. B. Willey and C. F. Pearson were placed in nomination. The first vote resulted: Hacheney 34, Willey 34, Pearson 5, blank 2. The second stood: Willey 43, Hacheney 31, Pearson 1, blank 1.

The chair discovered that he had passed over the county judgeship. H. H. Northrup and J. C. Moreland were nominated. The ballot stood: Moreland 52, Northrup 21.

For assessor J. A. Ahlmann received 54 votes, H. W. Metz 8, George Sears 10, George Schram 3.

The superintendency of schools came next. A. W. Lambert proposed W. A. Wetzell and P. F. Morey nominated R. R. Warren. The vote stood: Wetzell 54, Warren 22.

G. M. Hurlbut was unanimously made nominee for county surveyor.

George H. Ryers got the coronership by acclamation.

H. S. Stone was chosen for county commissioner without opposition.

PRECINCT OFFICERS.

The following nominations were reported by the various precinct delegations, and ratified by the convention:

North Portland—John D. Biles, justice of the peace; Alex Keegan, constable.
South Portland—W. H. Wood, justice of the peace; L. Thomas, constable.
East Portland—S. Bullock, justice of the peace; H. F. McMillen, constable.
Albina—J. P. Randall, justice of the peace; Sam Masters, constable.
Fulton—A. L. Speike, justice of the peace; Frank Precephtel, constable.
Sellwood—J. N. Fisher, justice of the peace; J. S. Thomas, constable.

On motion of John H. Hall the county central committee was authorized to fill the other precinct nominations as they should come in.

THE NEW REGIME.

The chair announced the county central committee: James Lotan, John H. Hall, D. M. Dunne, W. H. Foster, J. A. Brown, W. L. Boise and P. F. Morey.

With three cheers for the ticket, led by T. A. Stephens, the convention broke up.

BETWEEN THE ACTS.

Stephens for District Attorney—Lotan Satisfied With Kelly.

"Well, Mr. Lotan, what do you think of the ticket and the county convention?"

"The ticket suits me first rate. I never saw a more orderly or harmonious convention in my life. If the democrats think they can beat it, I should like to see them try it. They can't beat the ticket, either.

"Yes, Kelly's nomination suits me first rate, too. The only thing I was sorry for was that I couldn't stand in with him; but I never go back on my friends."

Hard work is what gave Kelly his renomination. The result was a surprise to everybody. The general feeling among the Lotan delegates was that Kelly had worked hard against them at two or three places, and had no right now to come in and ask for what he would not have given if he had been victorious. Before the ballot there were thirty-eight votes safely counted on by Summers. This included the thirty-six votes in the city and two from the country. The two from the country did not fail, it is said, so the conclusion is held that six or seven votes in the city went for Kelly. The disaffection is partly accounted for by some friction in Grand Army circles. At any rate the ring couldn't hold their votes. Too many people felt kindly toward "Pum."

The nomination of Kelly promises to do more towards uniting the factions than anything else could have done. The Simon people can hold up their heads again, and life seems once more worth living to them. The following conversation, overheard on the street, expresses the feeling of a good many:

"Are you a Simon man or a Lotan man?"
"Simon."
"Well, you ain't in it."
"What's the matter with Kelly? That's all we were fighting for."

The opposition to Superintendent Wetzell was so flimsy that it would not stand. Not but that he did some very effective rustling among the delegates in his own behalf. The East Side delegates were for him. A certain educational faction on this side, there are good grounds for believing, wished him ousted, and made a very poor success of decrying him. He has been an efficient superintendent, and the enthusiasm with which his nomination was received was only excelled by that shown to Sheriff Kelly.

Attorney T. A. Stephens says the delegates to the state convention are all solid for him for public prosecutor. Mr. Stephens began the practice of law in 1871, and settled in Portland in 1882. He is grand master of the A. O. U. W. of the state and popular generally in fraternity and social circles.

A great many delegates were sorry that Frank Hacheney had to lose his re-election, on account of a factional fight that was not of his seeking. The honor of his private and public life has made him popular in many quarters.

P. L. Willis, the nominee for state senator, formerly lived in the Umpqua valley. He settled in Salem in 1862 and at Portland in 1881. He says he never ran for office before and tried to get out of it this time.

Dr. Fisher, of Albina, was not nominated for the legislature, because he sent over word that he did not want it.

Three Simon men were nominated, Kelly for sheriff, Paxton and Laird for state delegates.

OTHER COUNTY CONVENTIONS.

Harmonious and Largely-Attended Meetings—Few Preferences Expressed.

PENDLETON, April 9.—[Special Telegram.]—The Umatilla county republican convention met to-day. The committee on platform presented a long set of resolutions, to the effect that its members had still unabated pride in the republican party, which Raised from the slimy dirt of doubtful credit the fair flower of financial honor and weaved with it laurels won from that party that endeavored to dismember the republic; that the support of the republicans of Umatilla county is pledged to the party leaders in congress in their gallant fight for the protection of American industries; that the conservative policy of President Harrison was approved; that Speaker Reed, in counting the democrats in the house of representatives, has the thanks of all good citizens; that the statement made in congress that the pension policy of the government should not be abandoned is applauded.

The recommendations are that the mortgage tax law be repealed; that the exemption law be so amended that every householder shall have free of execution $600 or its equivalent in property, and that the usury law be repealed.

W. M. Steen, J. W. Ferguson, W. B. Byers, R. Alexander, L. B. Banles, J. P. Vinson, A. B. Robley, J. M. Watson, B. F. Ogle and David Horn were elected delegates to the state convention. The following county ticket was nominated: Senator, John W. Gross, of Helix; for representatives, J. B. Eddy, Pendleton; O. R. Ballou, Milton, and William Folsom, Alba. No other nominations were made, and these three were elected by acclamation. J. N. Young, of Pendleton, received the nomination for clerk without opposition. E. J. Sommerville, of Milton, for sheriff, defeated Zoeth Houser, the present incumbent. L. P. Wood, of Weston, was nominated for treasurer without opposition; R. H. Whitehead, of Adams, for commissioner, by acclamation; A. W. Connett, of Pilot Rock, for school superintendent; P. A. Marquis, of Adams, for assessor, A S Adams of Pendleton for surveyor and Dr W C McKay for coroner Dr. McKay was in the audience and protested against being nominated He said he had served the republican party for years and had made nothing out of it but the convention was unanimous for the good old doctor and could not escape the nomination The ticket meets with approval from the greater number of republicans

SACKED BY THE STORM

Great Damage Wrought by the Revolving Air in Ohio.

JOHNSTOWN HAS WET FEET AGAIN

Patches of Country Between Georgia and the Great Lakes Scourged—People Killed Outdoors and In

AKRON Ohio April 9—A terrific wind storm visited Springfield township last night doing considerable damage Several farm houses and outbuildings were demolished and crops ruined Two or three people were slightly injured

Later reports show that the storm was most severe about two miles northwest of Sharon Wayne county In ten minutes it leveled everything in its track over six miles of farm lands for a width of thirty rods It demolished dozens of buildings killed one man, fatally injured a man and woman and seriously hurt others Old trees were cut down like corn stalks The storm first struck the farm of James Hartman From there it went to three other farms in a direct line tearing up everything in its path The occupants of the buildings escaped by seeking refuge in the cellars Then, after cutting a swath through nearly a mile of timber land the tornado struck the farm of Christian Wall tearing the barns to pieces and tipping a two story building over on its side Matthew Gromley's barn was carried several rods and dashed to splinters Mr Gromley was fatally injured The storm then visited the farm of Hugh Franks where the destruction was complete, houses and outbuildings being shattered to fragments Franks was killed and his wife was fatally wounded

After this the tornado evidently rose high in the air, and, jumping over the southern part of this city, dropped down on Springfield township with the result mentioned above From there the storm trailed along into Starke county leaving debris scattered over a stretch of fifteen miles The loss amounts to many thousands of dollars This is the first tornado or cyclonic storm that has ever visited this section

PITTSBURG, April 9—Western Pennsylvania was visited by a severe rain, wind and electric storm this morning Great damage was done, and at least two lives lost. In this city a number of houses were struck by lightning and several persons stunned but not seriously injured Rain fell in torrents, flooding cellars and causing small streams to overflow

At West Elizabeth two children of George Beattie were drowned while crossing Lobb's run

At Indiana a flouring mill struck by lightning was burned

In Westmoreland county rain fell in torrents for two hours All the streams overflowed their banks and much property was washed away At Penn station a number of families were compelled to vacate their houses

Up Manor valley the greatest damage was done Most of the bridges were carried away, and the Manor Valley railroad badly washed out Country roads are deeply gutted rendering travel dangerous At Tyrone, the Juniata river is over its banks houses and lots are inundated and people are compelled to move

A man named Hiller was driving this morning during the storm and was killed by a flash of lightning His horse was killed also

JOHNSTOWN Pa April 9—A terrific wind storm to-day caused the Conemaugh river to rise rapidly and a large part of the town is flooded but at 9 P M the highest point seems to have been reached The whole borough of Woodville is flooded to a depth of two to four feet The lower floors of sixty or seventy buildings are covered with water The gas works are flooded and there is no light to-night except lamps and candles The bridges have been washed out excepting the Pennsylvania railroad bridge which is the only means of communication with the other side Considerable damage has been done the Cambria mills It is thought the water will recede to-morrow

CHICAGO, April 9—A terrible wind and rain storm swept down upon the suburban village of Highland Park late last night and did great damage to property The Catholic church was blown over, crushing the dwelling houses of Martin Blettel and Michael Rafferty Several other buildings were badly wrecked, but no one was seriously injured The entire fronts of several stores were blown in, and the tin roof of a big block was ripped off and banged about the streets for several minutes, creating no end of terror Considerable damage was also done at Lake Forest.

ROANOKE, Va, April 9—A tornado passed over this section of the state this evening In this city it cast down a house At the Crozier iron works three persons were severely hurt Nearly 100 buildings in the course of erection were totally demolished Salem furnaces were blown down, and one man was slightly hurt The loss here will be over $100,000

CLEVELAND O. April 9—Later reports from Norwalk say the damage by last night's cyclone will amount to $75 000 Besides Dora M Palmer, no other fatality is reported but several people were seriously hurt At Collins twenty houses two saw mills a factory and a dozen barns were demolished, trees blown down fences destroyed and several people hurt two or three of whom may die

WEST ELIZABETH Pa April 9—[Pacific Postal Special]—Twin children of George Beattie aged 7 years were drowned this morning while going to school They were crossing a swollen stream on a log The girl fell in and was swept down with the current Her twin brother jumped in to rescue her, and had almost succeeded, when his strength failed, and both were drowned

GODERICH Ont April 9—A terrific gale on Lake Huron to-day caused the loss of a number of fishing boats. The freight schooner Parisian, manned by three Matheson boys, is missing, and it is feared she is lost.

COLUMBUS Ga, April 9—A tornado swept this vicinity this afternoon and did much damage in this city Several villages in Eastern Alabama were also badly damaged No fatalities are reported

NYACK N Y, April 9—A terrific thunder and lightning storm this morning destroyed half a dozen barns in Rockland county Considerable stock was killed by lightning and hail

RICHMOND April 9—A violent gale, accompanied by heavy rain, did great damage to buildings to-night. Several people were slightly injured

THE KILLING OF KEMMLER.

Full Particulars Will Be Furnished by the Associated Press

ALBANY N Y, April 9—There was an important consultation to-day to decide who should form the jury to witness the first electrical execution in the state It was finally decided to form the jury of scientific experts, among whom will be Elbridge T Gerry, and other members of the commission which reported in favor of this mode of execution.

A representative of the Associated Press will be made one of the party to witness Kemmler's death. He will not be asked to give any pledge that he will not violate the provisions of the law in reference to publishing details but the law will be read to him He must be prepared to take the responsibility if he violates it either for the purpose of testing its constitutionality or any other purpose

THE HATCH MURDER CASE

Sensational Trial in Colorado, and Intense Public Interest

COLORADO SPRINGS Colo April 9—The third day of the Hatch trial has been largely devoted to the hearing of expert testimony with a view to proving that Hatch was murdered The defense followed their theory in the cross examination that deceased died from natural causes Dr Godsman who was on the stand when the court adjourned last night occupied the stand throughout the entire morning and underwent one of the most rigid cross examinations Dr Godsman was the physician called to examine the body after death He had made no further examination than the skull and brain He had no instrument with which to perform his post mortem examination than a small carpenters' saw and chisel He described the wounds on the head of deceased There was little laceration of the scalp and from the outside of the wound it appeared slight The brain however was congested and there had been a hemorrhage of the mouth, nose and ears He admitted that while hemorrhage of the ears might occur in a case of apoplexy, it tended to prove that Henry Hatch had suffered from a fractured skull He said there was one way to have established the fact as to whether deceased suffered from apoplexy beyond a doubt, and that was to examine the vital organs, but he had failed to do this The testimony of Dr Godsman summed up, was that while he believed Hatch died from injuries of his brain, the condition of the organs was not such as to preclude the possibility of apoplexy, and while he failed to discover a fracture he believed from the conditions that, though perhaps slight, it was present

Dr Christopher of this city, was called as an expert He believed hemorrhage of the mouth and ears tended to disprove the theory of apoplexy, while not precluding it entirely Without having examined the vital organs he would not attempt to venture a fixed opinion as to the cause of death

W J Parke, who found the body, was recalled He said that during a month's acquaintance he had never known Hatch to complain of any chronic disease

W J Keegan was called and said he had first seen defendant at Plager the day previous to the discovery of the body He had as location agent driven defendant out in the country to look at claims When they had driven a mile and a half and at a point half a mile from Hatch's cabin defendant had asked where the latter was and said he would walk back to town and alighted from the buggy The next time witness saw defendant was next morning at a hotel The latter said he had spent the night with friends Witness asked if he had seen his friend Hatch (meaning the old man) but the defendant did not reply making a remark on a different subject instead Defendant left on the noon train for Burlington where he had friends The testimony was then closed for the day

Among the new persons which surrounded the table at the bar of the court to-day was the widow of Henry Hatch who had not been living with her husband for some time before his death It is believed her presence here may lead to new and interesting developments There is rather an increase than abatement of interest in the case and all day long the courtroom has been thronged

SPORTING NOTES.

The Future of Sunol

SAN FRANCISCO April 9—[Pacific Postal Special]—From Herbert C Nash Senator Stanford's private secretary some little information regarding the probable future movements of Sunol prior to her passing out of Senator Stanford's hands was obtained to-day He said

There have been no definite plans arranged as yet for Sunol's future so far as I am aware but it is a fact that two big purses have been offered to Axtell and Sunol. One was from Detroit and the other from Buffalo. I believe they amount to $15 000 each Where or when Sunol will be entered is a difficult matter to answer She may not be in condition when the season arrives and then on the other hand should she be entered it is doubtful if any trotters would be entered against her From different sources we learn that Axtell has a disabled leg, which may prevent him from racing this season He has also several engagements in the stud which may make his condition somewhat doubtful It is however safe to say that Sunol will be taken East with Starling from the Palo Alto stables, and that her speed will be tested during the Eastern circuit Among the string will be Palo Alto himself This is all the information I have upon the subject.

Chicago Billiard Tournament.

CHICAGO April 9—At the matinee game in the billiard tournament between Catton and Heiser, the play was slow on both sides, and a brilliant shot was the exception and not the rule The game was rather closely played throughout and at the end of the twenty fifth inning each had 167 points In the next two innings Catton, by magnificent playing won the game Score Catton 200 average 9 7 27 best run 74, Heiser 169, average 6 13 26 best run 25,

The game this evening between Schaeffer and Ives was a walkover for the former He was to play 600 points against Ives's 245 The game was the most remarkable in the present tournament Schaeffer beating the highest run which had been made by Slosson In the eleventh inning the wizard scored 200 and then missed an easy two-cushioned shot Ives's playing throughout the game was very tame Score Schaeffer 600 average 38 0 16, highest runs 133 and 200, Ives 52, average 4 highest run 14.

OUTCRY AGAINST CRUEL MATTHEWS

The Czar a Wreck and His Wife Growing Insane—Emperor William Urges Him to Make Concessions

LONDON April 9—[Pacific Postal Special]—The action of the brewers in urging Goschen chancellor of the exchequer, to remit a portion of the duty on beer is regarded generally as a hint which if it is not heeded will be followed by the exercise of pressure too great for even the obstinate Goschen to withstand Already the chancellor is reminded that Gladstone's second ministry very much more strongly intrenched than the present government, was overthrown because of its attempt to impose additional taxation upon beer and the same fate, it is predicted, will befall Lord Salisbury's cabinet if it shall persist in its purpose to maintain the present duty on the poor man's beverage

As predicted in last night's dispatches, it is now asserted upon unquestionable authority that the action of Home Secretary Matthews in the case of the brothers Richard and George Davies the former of whom was hanged yesterday for killing his father, will be made the subject of parliamentary discussion at as early a moment as the matter can be brought up The fact that not even the queen's recommendation of clemency was permitted by Matthews to alter his determination to hang young Richard has deeply incensed thousands of the home secretary's political adherents, and his obduracy will cost him his seat in the ministry if his expulsion can possibly be brought about

A thoroughly reliable account of the accident to James S Morgan at Monte Carlo, which resulted in his death, states that Mr. Morgan was driving in a two horse Victoria from Monte Carlo to Beaulieu As the vehicle was nearing the station a railway train passed upon which Morgan observed a friend, Spencer Brunton Brunton waved his hand and Morgan stood up in his carriage and returned the salute Before he could resume his seat the horses shied and the near horse broke a trace Morgan asked the coachman what had happened, but before the latter could reply the carriage mounted a heap of stones and Mr Morgan, losing his balance was thrown out He will probably be buried in London His estate is stated to be valued at $30 000 000 Pierrepont Morgan, his son arrived on the steamer Teutonic from New York to-day, and immediately left for Monte Carlo by a special train, arrangements having been made for similar transportation the entire distance

HOPE FOR THE AGED.

A Prominent Man Shows How Elderly People Can Prolong Their Lives and Avoid Weakness and Suffering.

Charles Dickens never wrote a truer thing than the following

"Can anything be more pitiable than the sight of elderly men or women who realize that the strength of earlier years is departing? Down the lane of life whose end is in darkness, they look and wonder if their weary steps will carry them painlessly to the end "

Any elderly person who feels a trembling of the nerves, a weakening of the muscles, lessened vitality decreased vigor chilled hands or feet needs nay, must have, assistance Money cannot render it. Drugs should be avoided. Here is what one of the greatest of modern physicians a no less personage than Dr Gardner says on the subject

Elderly persons who in winter suffer from cold feet and find artificial heat applied externally fail to afford relief may with undoubted propriety and advantage, take whiskey and hot water on going to bed. If a headache or foul tongue follow the inference is the spirit was impure probably containing fusel oil. A very light trace of this noxious ingredient in spirit, will in some constitutions produce headache as accurate a test of impurity as chemistry can employ "

There is only one absolutely pure whiskey free from fusel oil, and that is the well known and justly popular Duffy's Pure Malt Whiskey It has all the properties that contribute to health and vigor, and none that injure. It cannot harm the stomach even of a child It is sold universally and well merits its wonderful popularity Be sure and take no other.

RANDALL IS DYING.

End Cannot Be Delayed More Than a Few Days.

SE MAY COME AT ANY HOUR

Not Allowed to Visit His Bedside—Sadness Among the Congressmen—Hoping Against Hope.

WASHINGTON, April 9.—[Pacific Postal Special.]—Much uneasiness has been felt at the capital to-day as to the condition of Representative Randall. There is no doubt but the ex-speaker was very much worse this morning, and he has continued to sink, and at present he is in an exceedingly critical condition. Mr. Randall's associates from Pennsylvania have almost entirely given up the hope of the recovery of their leader and can hardly speak of the dying man with dry eyes.

Dr. Mallan, Mr. Randall's physician, while admitting that his patient is about as low as a man can be to live, says that he is a little better this afternoon, and that his friends need not fear immediate dissolution. There was a more healthy flow of pus from the abscess to-day, and Dr. Mallan says that the patient is conscious and recognizes members of his family.

Speaker Reed called at Mr. Randall's house this morning. He was not admitted to see him. Mr Randall's friends believe that he has but a few days more to live.

Later.—Representative Randall's condition to-night is just about the same as last night. He is, if anything, a little easier, but owing to the free flow from the abscess, he may at any time have a recurrence of the relapses which sap away his strength.

RAISING UP A DYING BOOM.

Story That the Union Pacific Will Extend to Southern California.

SAN FRANCISCO, April 9.—[Pacific Postal Special.]—A rumor has been telegraphed from Los Angeles to the effect that a Dr. and a man named Embody, of that city, have been quietly at work securing right of way between Los Angeles and San Diego in the interest of the Union Pacific road. It is also stated that these individuals have bonded forty acres within the limits of Los Angeles, on the west side of the river for the location of car shops, etc., and San Pedro grounds have been secured for depot and yards, and that the conveyance stipulates that the right of way is for a railroad line, and it is expressly provided that it must be a competing line with the Southern Pacific, and that the property must be deeded to the latter road. An inside route is then mapped out by which it is claimed the Union Pacific could reach the Pacific seaboard.

Mr. Fillmore told a reporter this morning that he did not believe there was anything whatever in the rumor. It was no secret that the Union Pacific had any idea of extending their road to California. President Adams had expressly so stated to Senator Stanford. Mr Fillmore thinks the rumor was very likely started to give a little life into the waning boom in that section.

IN THE CITY OF HUNGER.

Hundred Starving Men in San Francisco Swear to Their Wretchedness.

SAN FRANCISCO, April 9.—This afternoon 30 men appeared at the county clerk's office and asked to be sworn to the statement that they were absolutely destitute and could get no work. It was done, and the copies of the affidavit were prepared for circulation to prove that there is distress among the working classes.

VANDERBILTS AND THE NORTHERN.

Wall Street Excited Over a Story of a Change of Control.

NEW YORK, April 9.—The World says Wall street is much interested over the story to the effect that the Vanderbilts had secured large holdings of Union Pacific stock, and that at the annual election next month the board of directors of that company would be reorganized in their interest.

A SOCIAL LION MISSING.

Gobbled Up Ten Thousand Dollars and a Young Woman.

CHICAGO, April 9.—The Times Fosston, Minn., special says: R G. Tweeton, cashier of the Fosston National bank and a social lion, is missing, together with $8000 or $10,000 of the bank's funds and a young woman with whom he became infatuated. It is understood that they are in Canada.

Lieutenant Steele in Luck.

VANCOUVER, April 9.—[Special Telegram.]—The record in the Steele court-martial case is now in the hands of Major-General Schofield, having passed out of the hands of Judge-Advocate General Lieber this morning. General Schofield said this afternoon that the findings of the court will be announced not later than to-morrow from his office. This fact settles one point, that Lieutenant Steele will not be dismissed, as in that event the record would be placed in the hands of Secretary Proctor, and finally reach the president. The general impression is that Lieutenant Steele will simply be reprimanded, though he may be suspended for a brief period.

Robbed Even His Wife and Children.

NORRISTOWN, Pa, April 9.—The debts of the absconding lawyer and member of the board of charities, Shellenberger, so far as ascertained, are over $100 000. He used, it is stated, stolen moneys belonging to the estate of his wife and children. Cases of swindling by Shellenberger continue to be reported from country districts, farmers and others, and the liabilities will probably mount up much higher than before reported.

Liberals Vote for Reciprocity.

OTTAWA, April 9.—[Special Telegram.]—The debate in parliament on the budget closed to-day. Cartwright's amendment was defeated, 96 to 66. All the liberals voted for unrestricted reciprocity. Cartwright's amendment practically meant a wide measure of free trade, and called upon the house to commit itself to abolishing or reducing the taxes now imposed on articles of prime necessity to farmers, miners, fishermen and all other producers.

In the commons to-night, in reply to an attack by the opposition regarding the tariff, Minister of Finance Foster said Canada intended to act independently in the future. The government would frame a policy without regard to outside powers. Canada had waited many years for a reciprocity treaty with the United States, and would not wait any longer. She was not hostile to the United States, but had to look after her own interests.

In the commons to-day Sir John Macdonald said the government intended to renew the fishery modus vivendi with the United States for another year.

Minneapolis Broker Commits Suicide.

MINNEAPOLIS, April 9.—[Pacific Postal Special.]—L. W. Henry, a well-known iron broker, was found dead in bed this morning. Death was at first supposed to have been caused by heart disease, but subsequently a bottle labelled "laudanum" was discovered near by, emptied, and it is believed he died from poison administered by himself.

San Francisco Trust Refinery to Start.

NEW YORK, April 9.—[Pacific Postal Special.]—N O Jones & Co.'s Financial News says the sugar trust expects to get permission from the court within a month to start up the American refinery in San Francisco. As Spreckels has a large quantity of high-cost sugar on hand the trust is likely to deal him a heavy blow.

Arrested for Advertising a Lottery.

VIRGINIA, Nev., April 9.—J. M. Campbell, lessee of the Territorial Enterprise, was arrested to-day, charged with violating the Nevada law prohibiting the publication of lottery advertisements. Campbell gave bonds in the sum of $250. The penalty is a fine of $500 or six months' imprisonment.

The Atchison Railroad Retrenching.

BOSTON, April 9.—[Pacific Postal Special.]—President Manvel has reduced the Atchison salary list $500,000, and will reduce the operating expenses $1,000,000. The Traveler says that all advices from Magounan and Reinhart, of the Atchison system, now in California, are of the most satisfactory character.

McAuliffe Replies to Carney.

CHEYENNE, Wyo., April 9.—Jack McAuliffe, in an interview here to-night, said he was ready at any time to meet Jim Carney, and cover any amount of money in sight. He would prefer to have the fight come off at the Pelican Club, London, next winter, but was willing to meet him anywhere that is considered satisfactory.

Austin Corbin Stronger Than Ever.

PHILADELPHIA, April 9.—At a meeting of the Reading board of managers to-day, Baer, Caldwell and Shipley resigned, and Dolan, Gibson and McLeod were elected to fill the vacancies. This was surprising, and seems to leave Corbin stronger than ever before.

The World's Fair Incorporated.

SPRINGFIELD, Ill., April 9.—[Pacific Postal Special.]—The secretary of state to-day issued final papers incorporating the World's exposition for 1890. A complete list of the stockholders represents 500,000 shares and $5,000,000 capital stock.

Electric Executions in Iowa.

DES MOINES, April 9.—[Pacific Postal Special.]—The senate to-day considered the bill providing for the execution of murderers by electricity instead of hanging. The bill was indefinitely postponed.

Creed Haymond About to Resign.

SAN FRANCISCO, April 9.—Creed Haymond, of counsel for the Southern Pacific, stated to-night that he had not handed in his resignation to the board of directors, but intended to do so on Friday or Saturday.

Disarmament of France and Germany.

PARIS, April 9.—La Paix, supposed to be inspired, says there is talk of the possibility of an agreement between France and Germany to be followed by a general disarmament. La Paix thinks Emperor William will not shrink from any means to attain this end.

Steamer Propeller with Three Blades.

HAMBURG, April 9.—The American line steamer Augusta Victoria has been fitted with new three-blade screws, instead of screws with four blades. A speed of twenty knots an hour (equal to twenty-three miles) was maintained during an eight hours' trial.

Supplies for Major Wissman.

LONDON, April 9.—[Pacific Postal Special.]—A steamer sailed from Hamburg for Zanzibar to-day with a cargo of railway iron, bridge material, arms, ammunition, etc., in response to a requisition from Major Wissman.

Liberty in Free Brazil.

RIO JANEIRO, April 9.—The government has promulgated a decree for liberty of the press, liberty of association and public meeting.

Charlemagne's Statue

London Standard.

The many thousands of English people who visited Paris during the exposition probably imagine that the really magnificent colossal statue of Charlemagne, which they must have noticed on the Parvis Notre Dame, was the property of the town, but unfortunately such is not the case. Its author, the late Louis Rochet, who consecrated ten years of his existence to the completion of the work, offered to sell it at a very low price to the city, but all he could obtain from the council was permission to place it where it now stands. A pedestal costing over 4000f. had to be provided. The work was executed, but has not yet been paid for. M. Marcadet, the contractor, after vainly seeking to obtain payment for the pedestal, is now taking legal proceedings for the sale both of the pedestal and the statue, but he is hindered in his action by the founder, who, not having been paid for the bronze of the statue, puts in a prior claim. It is hoped the municipal council will smooth over all these difficulties by purchasing the statue, which is certainly a great ornament to the Parvis. Though the municipal authorities are lavish in their expenditure in raising statues to more or less insignificant republican heroes, it is doubtful whether they will make up their minds to remember that in the time of Charlemagne republicanism had not yet come into existence and that he was a liberal-minded monarch.

CHINESE ARE COMING.

Soon to Be Dumped Into Mexico by the Steamer-Load.

TWENTY FIVE TAKEN AT SAN DIEGO

The Importation Very Brisk Along the Great Lakes—When Caught and Returned They Try It Again.

SAN DIEGO, Cal., April 9.—Another capture of ten Chinese was made early this morning. They were entering the harbor in a fisherman's boat from Lower California about 2 o'clock, when they were stopped by customs officers on guard at Ballast Point, at the entrance to the harbor. The boat was owned by J. E. William, who is also in custody.

The Chinamen captured this morning are also a part of those transferred to the steamer Newbern from the steamer City of Pekin in San Francisco harbor, March 25, and taken by the Newbern to Ensenada, Lower California. Twenty-three Chinese are now in custody here.

DETROIT, April 9.—Monday afternoon Detroit custom house officials received word of the presence of four strange Chinese in Windsor. They were duly watched, but threw the United States officials off guard and during the night they were ferried across to Detroit and spirited away by their compatriots or agents of an institution which seems to be carrying on a wholesale Chinese importation business along the border between here and Sarnia. Wun Lee, of Toronto, is at the head of the business.

CITY OF MEXICO, April 9.—Geeshorn & Weepack, representatives of the Chinese companies of San Francisco, completed arrangements before leaving here with the Compania Maritima Asiatico-Mexicana, which holds a concession from the Mexican government, for a steamer line between Mexico and Asia, and will bring Chinese emigrants to Tehuantepec, to which place a railway will be built in less than a year.

SAN DIEGO, April 9.—Two more Chinese were caught at Tia Juana this forenoon while trying to steal across the line, making twenty-five apprehended since Sunday.

NIAGARA FALLS, April 9.—Four Chinamen made two unsuccessful attempts to smuggle themselves into the United States to-day—once in the closet of a car which crossed the bridge during the day, and again at night, when they were rowed over the river. The second failure was due to their being shadowed by an American customs officer. The Chinamen have left for Toronto.

CHICAGO BOSSES LOSE.

Smaller Contractors Yield to the Union Carpenters.

HALF THE MEN WILL SOON RESUME

They Have Unlimited Resources—Even Non-Union Cigarmakers Strike—The Eight Hour Day Nearly Established.

CHICAGO, April 9.—There was no change of note in the carpenters' strike to-day. The strikers have pickets at all the depots and suburban towns, and whenever they find men coming to town to work they generally succeed in inducing them not to. The strike is costing the union over $35,000 a week, but they say they are prepared for an all-summer siege. When their money is exhausted they claim they will fall back on the national council, behind which is the Federation of Labor. They claim that they are supported by every labor organization in the United States. The struggle is for recognition of the union, and the bosses declare they will not grant this.

The cigar makers' trouble took a new turn this morning, when fifty non union men employed at the Columbia factory struck for higher wages. While they were negotiating with representatives of the Cigar makers' Union with a view of joining that body, two of their leaders were arrested on a charge of intimidation.

An important development in favor of the striking carpenters was learned to-night. A committee of non-union master carpenters called on the strike committee this evening and had a lengthy conference. There are 1500 or 1600 of these small bosses in the city, employing nearly, if not quite half of the journeymen, and they object to the 116 large bosses who compose the builders' exchange monopolizing and controlling all the business. They proposed to the men to form an alliance with the strikers. They are and have been willing to grant the men's demands, but the action of the association of masters has locked them out. This they resent, and a meeting has been called for to-morrow to form an association. One of their leaders said late to-night:

> You can say that within a day or two the non association bosses will have all their men at work again at union rates while the Carpenters' and Builders' Association will find itself reduced to the necessity of coming to the strikers' terms or remaining without help. This arrangement, if made, will result in more than half the strikers going back to work and will strengthen the cause of the others immensely.

GRANT'S SPEECH.

An Incident of the War When the Hero Was a Colonel.

Washington Star.

During the war Major Wham was a lieutenant in General Grant's regiment, the Twenty first Illinois, and was as fortunate bodily then as he has been since.

"We were in for thirty days at first, and had a colonel who had two pistols in his belt and made speeches on dress parade," he said to a circle of friends at the Ebbitt last night. "We refused to re-enlist unless we could have a new colonel, and the case was presented to Governor Dick Yates while the regiment was encamped at Springfield. It was then that Colonel U S Grant was assigned to our regiment, and the governor suggested that the boys be enthused with some speeches by Logan and one or two others. The programme was carried out, and the boys, who had been worked up to a three-cheers-and-a-tiger state of mind, and were accustomed to speeches from their old colonel, called for 'Grant!' Grant!' 'Colonel Grant!' with the accent on both words. There was a slight hesitation, and then Colonel Grant, who had been sitting down, arose and made an effective speech without exhausting the English language. It could be hardly divided into three parts required by rhetoricians, for it consisted of about four words, to-wit:

"'Go to your quarters.'

"I told the story once at a reunion when Grant was present, and the veterans took it with a storm of applause, but the old commander never smiled. It was one of those incipients of necessary army discipline which he thought ought never to be alluded to at reunions, and I have never told it since."

"What did you think of your colonel those days?" was asked.

"A man who couldn't see Grant had the elements of greatness in him was a shoat himself," was the reply. "We all said then he was bound to climb the ladder, and the world has seen our prophecy fulfilled."

RIGID ECONOMY.

'Tis a Poor Rule That Don't Work Both Ways.

There is a good story told of the economical qualities of two well-known and wealthy gentlemen living in the east part of town, says the St. Joseph Herald, that is a good lesson for those recklessly extravagant persons who are not possessed of the true spirit of economy. On a certain night one of these gentlemen called on the other to transact a little business at the former's residence. The host lighted a candle that they might examine some papers, but immediately blew it out again when they were through, leaving both sitting in the dark.

"Why did you blow out the candle?" asked the caller.

"Oh, we can talk in the dark as well as in the light, and it saves the candle," was the reply.

They continued their conversation for a short time, when the host heard some mysterious sounds coming from the direction of the caller's chair, and inquired what his friend was doing.

"Why," said his friend, "it's dark in here, and no one can see me, so I thought I would take off my trousers to save the wear on them."

Lives Lost in the Forth Bridge.

London Daily News.

The cost of the Forth bridge has to be counted in lives as well as in money. Major General Hutchinson and Major Marindin, in their final report to the board of trade on the bridge, state that the total number of fatal accidents during the seven years of its construction has been fifty-six. The inspectors do not appear to think this expenditure of life was avoidable. They say, although it is greatly to be deplored, "the fact that it has not been larger on a work of such magnitude, with so large a number of men employed in dangerous positions, shows that no reasonable precautions for their safety have been omitted." The report concludes with this splendid testimony: "We think it right to record our opinion that this great undertaking, every part of which we have seen at different stages of its construction, is a wonderful example of thoroughly good workmanship with excellent materials and that both in its conception and in its execution it is a credit to all who have been connected with it, bearing testimony to the ability of the engineers who have designed it, to the skill and resource of those who have superintended it and constructed it, and to the zeal and courage of the workmen who have been employed upon it."

WHAT THE FELLOW WANTED.

An Iowa Court Yarn as Told by Representative Mason.

The Washington correspondent of the New York Tribune sends the following: Representative Mason tells a "court yarn," the incidents of which occurred while he was an attorney in Iowa. Mason appeared as counsel for the defendant. While engaged in delivering his argument an old countryman entered the court and took a seat next to the panel of jurors. Mason naturally directed his attention frequently to the furthest man from him, as he thought, in the jury. This happened to be the venerable man from the country. Glaring at him he said:

"Gentlemen of the jury, I want to know how on earth this man (referring to the plaintiff in the case, but staring at the supposed juror) can have the assurance to come into court? What does he want? What is his business here? What is he seeking? Again I demand, gentlemen of the jury, why is he here?"

These questions were thought by the countryman to be addressed to him, but Mason thought the indignation written on the features of the countryman was the result of the argument and therefore highly promising for his client. He paused to note the effect of his words on the jury, when the rustic jumped up and howled.

"You want to know what I am here for, you cross-eyed fool? What am I looking for in this here court? Well, I'll tell you, you little fat son of a gun! For three days I have been here waiting for my fees, and nary a red cent have I got yet. What am I here for, you good for nothing animal? Pay me my witness fees, sir, and I'll get out of here at once."

The unexpected outburst "brought down" the house, judge, jury and lawyers included. As for Mason, he was so amazed that the able argument which he had prepared was never concluded.

THE BISHOP WANTED A CHEW.

Dr. Tiffany Tells a Good Sunday Story About Bishop Scott.

In the cosy library of Judge O H Horton's residence, No 2615 Indiana avenue, says the Chicago Inter-Ocean, the Rev. H S. Tiffany, D D., entertained numerous callers recently. "A story is told here, doctor, about your fondness for good chewing tobacco. Do you plead guilty?"

"Well," said Dr Tiffany, with a hearty laugh, "are they going over that old ground again? I guess I'll have to give you the true version of that, as I see they are making it out that I went out Sunday morning and bought some tobacco, a thing I never did.

"I was at Philadelphia at a conference, and stopping at the house of the Rev. Mr. Murphy. It was Saturday afternoon, and knowing that I couldn't with propriety smoke in my host's house, as he didn't use tobacco, and feeling sure I should want some, I went out in the afternoon and bought some chewing tobacco, although I wasn't in the habit of chewing. Sunday morning at breakfast I found Bishop Scott, who had arrived late the previous evening. We started out for church together, and on the sly, just before leaving the house, I took a good sized chew. On the way to church, as we were walking along, Bishop Scott suddenly stopped, seized me by the arm and whirled me around and said:

"'Young man, I am shocked! Here you are, on this beautiful Sabbath day, on your way to the house of God with your mouth full of tobacco.' The bishop looked very stern. 'You now have in your mouth twice as much as any man ought to chew at one time, and,' lowering his voice and relaxing his sternness, 'here I am perishing for a little.'

"You may imagine with what alacrity I supplied the bishop with fine-cut."

A MODERN METHUSELAH.

Jaloquin Happole, a Patagonian, Who Is Said to Be 193 Years Old.

During my stay in Chili, where I was employed as the superintendent of a silver mine near Huasco, says a writer in the Philadelphia Press, I came in contact with an Indian, who was found after careful investigation to be at least 193 years old. His name is Jaloquin Happole. The miners called him Hercules.

Happole was born in the southern part of Patagonia, and is a perfect type of the Patagonian Indian, being 7 feet 8 inches in hight. He is of heavy build, his voice is remarkably sonorous, and his hair, now white, reaches far down his back and is coarse.

For about fifty years this Indian worked in the copper region, and he also worked in the silver mines for twenty-five years. He has learned to speak the Spanish language. Men that knew him fifty years ago say he could make a running leap of thirty feet with great ease and many are the tales of his strength. Old native Indians say that their grandfathers have spoken of him as being old in their youth. Some of the oldest Spanish settlers in the region remember him to have been gray-haired when, seventy-five years ago, he, with about sixty or seventy other Patagonians, was induced to come and work in the copper mines.

Happole says he can remember a Spanish Catholic missionary named Alondez traveling through Patagonia. It has been found that this was in the years 1718 49. The first and largest part of his life he was uncivilized, obtaining his living by the chase.

The Wanderer.

From Puck

Mrs Greenmeadow (in from the country on a visit)—And, Martha, dear, how's Maria Percher?

Mrs. Upham-Upham—Oh, here's a card from her! She's been away for two months—in Europe, you know—and will be at home to-morrow from 4 to 7. We must call.

Mrs. Greenmeadow—Well, I declare! Been away two months, and going to stay home only three hours! Did you ever?

Superior Quality of the Indian as a Packing Animal—The Latest Intelligence From the Mines.

The Juneau City Mining Record of April 3 contains the following news.

Mr. Thomas Mein's son arrived on the Elder. The young gentleman departed from home several years ago, and his father knew nothing of his whereabouts until recently, when he sent for him. The return of the son caused joy in the paternal household on Douglas island.

Mr. Barnhardt returned on the Elder from a brief business visit to Portland. He intends doing considerable development work on the Bear Nest property and also contemplates inaugurating new enterprises in the way of mining in Alaska. His enterprise and perseverance should be rewarded with success.

Last Tuesday John Lyons met with quite a serious accident. He was employed on the Treadwell ledge and was sent to get a hot iron to thaw the holes out, and by mistake put the hot iron in a hole that had been loaded with giant powder, which exploded. He was blown quite a distance and received several severe cuts on the head and neck. He is now in St. Ann's hospital, where he will receive good care and attention.

Death has its charms for the noble red man of this far-away section. A few days ago Interpreter Jake's father died, and to-day a grand potlach is in progress and will continue for several days. Blankets, calico, etc., will be freely distributed, and a grand feast will terminate the festivities. China Joe has an order for 600 loaves of bread, and the friends of the dead man will eat heartily while the spirit marches over the rough and rugged trail which leadeth to the clam beds and fishing grounds of the other world.

Captain John J. Healy has been here the past few days loading his schooner with merchandise, with which to replenish his stores at Chilcat and Chilcoot. He reports the state of business improving at both his stores, but yet very light. He is getting out logs to erect a large store at Haine's Mission the coming season. The weather has been very severe the past winter, the mercury having been down to 16 deg. below zero, and the quantity of snow that has fallen is considerably more than has buried the country adjacent to Juneau. Captain Healy will carry several parties to the portage who are bound for the Yukon. The climate at Chilcat appears to agree with the captain, as he is looking much better than when last here in the fall. Mrs Healy is well and is running the store at Chilcat during the absence of the captain. Mr. Healy's son, who left here a few weeks ago in a small boat with several others, arrived safely at Chilcat after an uneventful trip occupying five days. On his next trip Mr. Healy expects to bring down a fine lot of Yukon furs, which are the finest furs found anywhere in America.

The Alaska Free Press says: This week one of our merchants having to send up supplies to the Silver Bow basin tunnel, engaged a lot of Indians to pack the goods up, the distance being about three miles and over a rough road. When this train, so to speak, arrived at the tunnel, Joe Farnsworth, the foreman, perceived a very small, insignificant specimen of the Alaskan native coming bravely up the dump with a ponderous sack of potatoes on his shoulders, and out of curiosity weighed the beast and load. The Indian weighed 94 pounds and the sack of potatoes 120 pounds, and yet that little rat, for $1 25 had packed that load three miles over one of the worst roads imaginable. When it comes to packing, our Indians are second only to the jackass.

THE RECORD'S MINING NOTES.

Prospectors are patiently waiting for the snow to disappear, so that they can start out into the mountains.

Work on the Bear Nest has been temporarily suspended, and will not be resumed until the ground is clear of snow.

The S. B. B. M. Co will not run an upraise on the Charlotte ground, but will continue operations on the main tunnel until the main basin is tapped.

Messrs. Willoughby and Ware have ordered a large lot of lumber to be shipped to Admiralty island to be used in the construction of a stamp mill on their mining property.

The rush to the Yukon is not so great as during previous years since its discovery. Nearly all who are going in have been there before and have great faith in it as a future mining camp.

Work on the Lucky Chance mine near Sitka will be actively prosecuted during the summer. This property has been under development for four years and it is to be hoped that this year will witness a successful and profitable working of the property.

Work was commenced last Monday on the Sheep creek road connecting that district with Juneau. A subscription was raised and all the mine owners in that section subscribed liberally as did many of our business men. The road when completed will be quite a convenience, and will place that mining district in direct communication with Juneau and will be a great convenience.

The schooner Adventure will sail for the westward in a few days on a prospecting and trading expedition. James McCauley and A. C Campbell will take passage on her for the purpose of investigating the mineral resources of that vast section of Alaska and of which little is known. However the prospector and miner is gradually wending his way to that section and before many years its merits will be well known.

Hard on Both Hack and Inmate.

Philadelphia Inquirer.

Writing about hacks recalls a funny incident which occurred to a guest of the Continental hotel the other night. He had been asleep and woke up about fifteen minutes before midnight. He expected to catch the 12 o'clock train for New York, and had to hustle. He jumped into his clothes and got downstairs at five minutes of midnight. Hailing a "night hawk" who happened to be passing, he told him he would give him $3 if he got him to the Broad Street station in time for his train. He jumped into his rickety hack and went rattling away at a great rate. At Twelfth street the bottom of the hack fell out. As luck would have it, the passenger landed on his feet and grabbed hold of the windows. He yelled with all his might for the driver to stop, but his voice was drowned in the slap bang and clatter of the wheels. All he could do was to run. He had to keep up with the hack. He did run. He must have broken the record, and nearly broke his neck. Once in awhile he lagged behind, but the back of the cab hit him and made him scoot again. He got there just in time. As he opened the door and walked out of the cage he looked witheringly at the cabman as he mopped the perspiration from his face and then ran up the steps to the train. The train pulled out before the driver sufficiently recovered from his surprise to collect his money. He did not know what had happened until he caught another passenger and tried to put him in the bottomless cab.

Johnny—My book, pa, says that honesty is the best policy. Is that true, pa? Munnibaggs—Yes, my son; if there hadn't been some honest people in the world how do you suppose I should ever have been able to get ahead as I have? Yes, my son, honesty is a great help to a man, a great help.—Boston Transcript.

Mr. Newcome—"Mary, tell the cook to hurry up with those eggs. She has had time to cook them, surely." Mary—"Please sir, cook says she don't know when they have been in three minutes." Mrs. Newcome—"Why, haven't you a clock in the kitchen?" Mary—"Yes, ma'am; but cook says as its fifteen minutes too slow."—Boston Beacon.

He Was a Hustler.

New York Sun.

"Ah! Mr Greene!" he said as he shook hands with a gentleman from New Haven as they met in Union square.

"Glad to see you, Mr Smith."

"By the way, I sent you a young man, a few months ago."

"You did."

"I recommended him as a hustler."

"Yes."

"Well, I wanted to ask you how he developed. When I pass judgment on a man I like to follow him up and see if I was wright or wrong."

"Oh, you were right in this case."

"Then he was a hustler?"

"Indeed he was. When he had been with me three months he ran away with my daughter. I took them home, extended my blessing and now he has gone with my wife and $10,000 in cash. You made no mistake in your man, sir. He is at present outhustling five good detectives."

OREGONIANA.

The question of organizing a fair association is under discussion at Athena.

The Umatilla County Sunday School Association will hold a convention in Athena, commencing April 18 and lasting three days.

The office of assessor of Clatsop county is going begging, says the Astorian. It is a lucrative position, is vacant and no one wants it.

An effort is being made by private subscription to open up a very much needed road along Wild Horse creek to intersect the Indian mountain road in Umatilla county.

The Hon. Henry Failing, of Portland, has shown his confidence in the permanent growth of Oregon City, becoming interested in the Commercial National bank of that city, of which D. C. Latourette is president.

The Little Nestucca Wagon Road Company will commence this week to rebuild their large bridge across the Little Nestucca river, in the same place where the one stood that washed out last winter. This new bridge will be a combination crib and suspension.

The Salem Statesman says it is becoming extremely difficult to get timber in the East for keelsons, masts and spars for the large sailing ships now building. Enterprising ship-owners and builders are looking to the Pacific coast for their supplies. Oregon pine is now used for these purposes, and the industry of preparing the timber for ship building is daily growing in importance.

Yesterday morning, as the patients from the Salem asylum for the insane were coming down Fourteenth street, one of them, a very large man, broke away and started down State street as fast as his feet could carry him, with two attendants after him. Some of the patients that did not seem to be so crazy tried to get the rest excited and to run away, but the guards made them keep quiet, and soon the runaway was overtaken and brought back.

WASHINGTONIANA.

Three miles of streets have been graded and planked in Sehome during the past year.

The expenditure for the superior court of King county from November 18 last to March 2 amounted to $13,542 65.

The Seattle Post-Intelligencer thinks that the time is ripe for the establishment of a public library in that city.

The Tacoma Globe says that the increase in the wheat acreage of Washington for the coming season will reach 33 per cent.

The Sun thinks that Snohomish is sure to have a fire this summer and is already in the field urging the organization of a good company.

There is still a large amount of snow in the Big Bend, but, notwithstanding, immigration has commenced to pour into that section.

Centralia is promised street cars in the near future, a company having been organized to construct a line, work to be commenced within sixty days.

The legal voters of Ellensburgh will on April 23 decide whether or not the district shall be bonded in the sum of $50,000 for the purpose of erecting a brick school building.

A resolution was adopted by both branches of the Washington legislature on March 21, memorializing congress to increase the efficiency and reduce the expense of the signal corps of the army and weather service by transferring it to the department of agriculture.

A great many miners and prospectors are in Ellensburgh at present, awaiting the disappearance of the snow in the surrounding mining districts and the opening of the Kootenai river. The Okanogan and Kootenai districts appear to be the objective points of the majority this year.

Joe Wheeler, a lumberman, while handling logs at Port Madison Monday afternoon had his leg broken by an accident which threw a heavy log on his limb. He was brought to Seattle on the steamer Edith and placed in Providence hospital. His condition is considered very serious.

At Whatcom 250 scholars attend the public schools. At Sehome and Fairhaven the figures indicate 360 more, making a total of 600 school children in the bay cities. At Sehome and Fairhaven new schoolhouses are in course of erection, and a magnificent brick and stone structure will be built at Whatcom within four months. The county schools are also well attended.

The quality of the iron ore in Kittitas county says the Ellensburgh Register, is said to be of the best for the manufacture of steel. The tests made of it for this purpose are very satisfactory. This has awakened an interest in the iron producing districts of Pennsylvania, and men engaged in the production there look upon this as a very significant value. The Cascade mountains, west of Ellensburgh and less than forty miles distant, have vast beds of graphite, enough to supply the world.

All miserable sufferers with dyspepsia are cured by Simmons Liver Regulator.

Port Discovery Addition, Port Townsend.

MEETING NOTICES.

A. A. O. N. of the M. S.—Al Kader Temple No. 1. Thursday, April 10, at 7:30 o'clock. Illustrious nobles attend. Extraordinary observance. Great fantasia. Moolid of Seyyid Ahmed El Bedawi. Pleasures and festivities. Dervish recitations. Oriental mysticism. Illuminations and fantasiya. Ancient festival of Egyptian Venus. Traditional banquet. This is not a business meeting, but a journey across the burning sands. Those who follow the paths of truth shall bathe in the rivers of incorruptible waters. They shall drink of milk, the taste whereof changeth not, and wine, the soul's delight, pleasant unto those who partake thereof, and shall eat the fig, date and pomegranate, and repose upon couches of fine linen and be at peace with one another. If you are true believers obey this mandate.

J. D. WILCOX & CO.

Real Estate and Stock Brokers, 54 Washington Street.

We offer below some very desirable property at prices below what adjacent property is selling for:
A large lot, 45x123, feet adjoining Tibbetts addition, East Portland, near three motor lines, for $450.
5 acres in Little Homes, one mile from motor line for $800. (This is $200 less than land adjoining).
15¾ acres in Hillsboro, 5 blocks from the court house (house barn, etc.), for the remarkably low price of $3000. There will soon be 1000 men at work on the Astoria road, commencing at Hillsboro, which will be the junction of the Southern Pacific branches. Can be laid out as an addition and sold in lots. 9a3r

SOUTH PORTLAND PARK

Is situated on the line of the West Portland motor line, which is now graded through the property, and cars will be running through SOUTH PORTLAND PARK by July 1. Every lot is desirable, and commands a good view of surrounding country. This park has good water and a fine soil, and will be shortly a most delightful place for suburban homes. SOUTH PORTLAND PARK is only 30 minutes' drive from the city on a good macadamized road, and will be only a few minutes' ride by the motor line. An electric motor line is projected which will pass within two blocks of SOUTH PORTLAND PARK. Lots will be sold for $10 cash and balance in monthly payments of $10. Prices range from $75 to $120 per lot. Everyone can save $10 per month from his salary, and it is better to put that amount into real estate than it is to place in a savings bank. For full particulars apply to J. D. WILCOX & CO.,
5a*tf 54 Washington st.

CHELMSFORD

Adjoins Fulton Park and is one of the most sightly tracts offered on the Portland market. Every lot commands a fine view and is easily accessible by rail or road. West Portland Motor Line, now being built, runs within 80 feet of Chelmsford. Fine soil, fine water and fine speculation. Chelmsford is only one-half mile from the city limits, and there is not a lot in this addition that will not be worth $1000 in a very short time. This addition is placed upon the market for 60 days at the low price of $450 for inside lots and $500 for corners. The terms are one-fourth cash and the balance in quarterly payments. Anyone with $125 cash can purchase a beautiful and sightly lot in Chelmsford which will make a splendid home or be a good speculation. Call early and get first choice. Remember this is the first day that this property has been for sale. Apply to J. D. WILCOX & CO., 54 Washington st. 6atf

UNITED STATES MARSHAL'S NOTICE—ADmiralty seizure. The bark Charles Cotesworth. United States of America, district of Oregon ss.—Whereas, a libel of information hath been filed in the District Court of the United States for the District of Oregon, on the 20th day of March, 1890, by Messrs. Ditchburn and Copeland, proctors, on behalf of Edward Driscoll as libellant, in a cause of contract, civil and maritime, against the Bark Charles Cotesworth, her tackle, apparel and furniture, and praying the usual process and monition of the court that all persons interested in said Bark, her tackle, apparel and furniture, may be cited to appear and answer the premises and all due proceedings being had, that the said Bark may be decreed to be sold and the proceeds thereof distributed according to law. Therefore, in pursuance of said monition under the seal of the said Court, to me directed and delivered, on the 20th day of March, 1890, I do hereby give notice generally, unto all persons having or pretending to have any right, title or interest in the said Bark, called the "Charles Cotesworth," her tackle, apparel and furniture, to appear before the said Court in the city of Portland in said district, on the first Monday in May next (if it be a court day, or else on the next court day thereafter) at 10 o'clock in the forenoon of said day, then and there to answer the said libel, and to make known their allegations in that behalf.

Dated at Portland, in said district, this 24th day of March, 1890. LOUIS J. BARIN,
United States Marshal for the District of Oregon.
Ditchburn and Copeland, Proctors for Libellant.

PROPOSALS FOR FLOUR—OFFICE CHIEF com'y of subs, dept. of the Columbia, Vancouver barracks, Wash., April 8, 1890. Sealed proposals, in triplicate, subject to the usual conditions, will be received at this office and at the offices of the acting commissaries of subsistence at the following named posts, until 12 o'clock noon on Monday, May 12, 1890, at which time and places they will be opened in the presence of bidders, for the delivery on or before July 1, 1890, of the following amounts of flour, viz. Boise barracks, I. T., 65 barrels; Fort Sherman, I. T., 120 barrels; Fort Spokane, Wash., 85 barrels; Fort Walla Walla, Washington, 150 barrels. Samples of flour (not less than ten pounds) proposed to be furnished must be submitted with the proposals. The flour to be tested by baking before acceptance. Proposals for quantities less than the whole required will be received. Preference will be given to articles of domestic production or manufacture, conditions of quality and price (including in the price of foreign productions or manufacture the duty thereon) being equal. The government reserves the right to reject any or all bids, and to diminish, or with the consent of the bidder to whom award is made, to increase the quantities called for, as the exigencies of the service may require. Blank proposals and printed circulars, stating the kind of flour required, and giving full instructions as to the manner of bidding, conditions to be observed by bidders, and the terms of contract and payment, will be furnished on application to this office or to the A. C. S. of the post at which it is proposed to make delivery. Envelopes containing proposals should be marked, "Proposals for flour at ——" and addressed to the undersigned, or to the acting commissaries of subsistence at the posts to be supplied. W. H. NASH, Captain and C. S., U. S. A., Chief C. S. D. C. 8a

NEWS OF THE METROPOLIS.

Work Being Pushed on the Waverly-Woodstock Motor Line.

Very Narrow Escape—Shipping Salmon to Europe—Embezzler Arrested—A Wild Bruin—Incorporated to Advertise Oregon.

IMPROVEMENT NOTES.—The work of excavating for the foundations for the 100 feet square brick building, at the corner of Third and Taylor, to be built by Mackay & Therkelsen, was begun yesterday. Work was also begun on the excavations for the brick block, 150 on Third and 100 on Morrison, to be erected by L. Fleischner. The work of construction is being pushed on the half a dozen small brick stores being built at the corner of Third and Washington. The foundation of Hon. H. W. Corbett's four-story brick block, 100 feet square, at Oak and Fifth, is about complete, and the joists for the main floor will be put in next week. The foundations for R. Perkins's six story hotel, at Fifth and Washington, are well along, and Captain Buchanan's building of 100 feet front on Alder at Fifth, is nearing completion. The houses are being removed from the quarter block at the northwest corner of Washington and Sixth, preparatory to the erection of a fine building there. As to the houses being built in every part of the city and suburbs, there is no end to them.

THE CHURCH WILL ADVERTISE OREGON.—The music of hammer and saw about the old Presbyterian church, at the corner of Third and Washington streets, has, no doubt, led many to wonder what use this familiar house of worship will be turned to now. It has been standing idle for some time, and at last it is to be refitted for use. The church proper is being remodeled for the Oregon bureau of information, an institution similar to the immigration board, and will soon be filled with one of the finest exhibits of fruits, grains, and other Oregon products that have ever been seen in the state. The bureau of information will be a sort of co-operative affair, inasmuch as it will be supported by all the counties in the state. Each county will be given a fair representation. No better location could have been selected for such an institution.

TO FAR OFF RUSSIA.—Mr. Lindenberger, who has been having salmon put up here in barrels, salted, for shipment to Europe, sent off his first carload yesterday. It is bound for St. Petersburg, going to New York over the Union Pacific, thence by steamship to Hamburg and thence by steamer to St. Petersburg. The salt will be extracted from the fish on its arrival there, and it will then be canned and put on the market. This scheme is adopted to avoid the payment of the heavy duty on canned goods. If nothing goes wrong, in a little over two weeks the czar of all the Russias may flop his imperial lip over a hunk of Chinook salmon, and if he does not think it a finer fish than the sturgeon of the Danube, it will be owing to the way in which he has been brought up.

A VERY NARROW ESCAPE.—The foundation for the drowning report mentioned yesterday was the narrow escape of the little boy and girl of Mr. Biessing of Holladay's addition Tuesday evening. It appears that the little boy was fishing on the pontoon landing of the steamer Cyclone, near the railroad bridge, and his 8-year-old sister came down to watch him. By some means the little girl fell in the river, when her brother immediately sprang in to rescue. Both would have been drowned but for the assistance of a by-stander, who threw in a gangplank for them to catch hold of. The boy was pulled out first, and then the little girl was taken out. She seemed to be lifeless, but she was finally resuscitated. Both children had a narrow escape from drowning.

THE W. AND W. MOTOR LINE.—The Thomson Huston Electric Company, who are building the motor line to Waverly and Woodstock, have completed an arrangement with the Morrison Street Bridge Company for the use of their track on Fifth street from Alaska in and across the bridge. Everything is being got ready for laying the steel rails and the work will be begun in a few days at Alaska and Fifth and carried on with vigor till completed to Woodstock. The contract was let a day or two since for a $2000 church which is to be erected there by the Evangelical brethren. It is rumored that a branch of the Woodstock line is to be built out east to the vicinity of the Kelly butte, and that the surveys have already been made.

SPRING, GENTLE SPRING.—The balmy spring weather of yesterday was too good a treat not to be taken advantage of. It was more than a spring day, as the sun during the early part of the afternoon shone with its wonted Fourth of July fervor, and thoughts of straw hats, summer clothing, and fun at the seaside stole over one without even a bidding. People were everywhere. First and Third streets, as also several of the cross streets, were crowded with pedestrians, the electric and cable cars did a land-office business, and it seemed as if every vehicle in the city was out. The City park received many callers, and the White house road was not forgotten. The only comment that can be made on such weather is "Give us more."

FINE OFFICE FIXTURES.—The new black walnut counters and fixtures for Wells, Fargo & Co.'s express office have arrived from San Francisco. The architect will reach here from San Francisco Friday, and the furniture being all ready to put together, it is expected that between the closing hour Saturday night and the opening hour Monday morning, the old counters will be removed and the new fixtures put in. Superintendent Eugene Shelby, of the company, has had the offices painted and calsomined in appropriate shades, which correspond with the new dress. The office, when finished, will be one of the most handsome in the city.

JEWELRY EMBEZZLER ARRESTED.—George W. Fread, was arrested Tuesday night by detectives Barry and Griffin for embezzlement. Several months since the detectives at Portland were notified that the American Jewelry Company, of San Francisco, had been embezzled out of a lot of jewelry samples, by Fread, who was acting as solicitor for the firm. The detectives have kept their eyes open for the man, and upon his arrival in the city nabbed him, and he is now under lock and key at the police station. Officers armed with the necessary papers are now enroute from the Bay city, and Fread will be taken back to the scene of his crime.

TOO HEAVY FOR THE BRIDGE.—The bridges through the country are not all adapted for the use of elephants, and these animals should speak well for any that carry them safely over. Mr. H. H. Carter, a son of the road supervisor of Clackamas county, was in the city yesterday looking for McMahon's circus. He states that two elephants and eighteen horses belonging to that circus, in crossing a bridge over a creek near Ford's place in that county, damaged the structure to the extent of $15 or $20, which he expects the circus man to pay if he can be found.

TELEGRAPHIC IMPROVEMENTS.—In the office of the Pacific Postal Telegraph Company, Manager J. W. Hayes has in operation a very handy labor-saving device in the shape of a Lamson carrier, which transfers the messages from the counter-clerk's desk to the operating room, and vice versa. The clerk has simply to slip a dispatch under a spring, pull a string, and the message is sent shooting along a suspended wire, and a second later it is in the hands of an operator. The carrier is very ingeniously put together, and saves a great many steps in the course of a day.

A WILD BEAR IN THE CITY LIMITS.—A big black bear came down from the hills the other morning and wandered about the Burnside place, on the Cornell road, close to the city limits. He took to the woods at the approach of several young men armed with clubs. One of the young men started after Bruin, after which the bear wheeled around and chased his pursuer for about 100 yards. The young man never stopped running until he boarded a Washington street electric car. He did not even wait to pick up his hat.

BOYS' ARM BROKEN.—Yesterday afternoon a lad named White, 9 years of age, went up on a scaffold where some carpenters were at work on Frank Hacheney's house in South Portland. While the boy was trying to walk along the scaffolding he fell off. The distance to the ground was about fifteen feet, but he fell across a board set on edge, as a border to a flower bed and his arm was broken. The fracture was reduced by Dr. Saylor, and the boy will not climb any ladders for a while.

WORK ON THE STATE REFORM SCHOOL.—Work on the state reform school will begin shortly. It will be located four miles south of Salem, where the state has purchased 360 acres of fine land for $13,000. The last legislature appropriated $30,000 for the school. Of this amount $17,000 remains after the purchase of the land, which will be applied in the erection of the building. It will be ready for occupancy by the time the legislature meets next January.

NEW 'BUS FOR THE HOTEL PORTLAND.—The Hotel Portland will soon have a 'bus that will knock the spots off anything that has ever been seen in these parts. It is similar to the stages which run on Fifth avenue, New York, daily except Sunday. The Sunday trips were stopped by the pious Editor Sheppard, of the Mail and Express, who bought the line to do it. The Portland's new 'bus will accommodate twenty-four.

THE REMAINS BROUGHT DOWN.—The steamer Latona arrived from Oregon City yesterday afternoon, with flags flying at half-mast. On board was the body of Mrs. Julius Logus, who died at her home in the falls city, Monday. The remains were followed to their last resting place in the Lone Fir cemetery by many friends, about seventy of whom had accompanied the bereaved family from Oregon City.

SOME NECESSARY IMPROVEMENTS.—For the past two days carpenters have been making improvements in the sidewalks at the corner of Fifth and Morrison streets. The old walk has been torn up and heavy new lumber replaced, which will serve the purpose very well for a few months, when it is intended that a fine brick block will replace the wooden buildings which now occupy the corner.

ANOTHER DEPUTY.—Mr. R. M. Stuart has received his appointment as deputy, under United States Marshal Barin. Mr. Stuart is an officer of experience, having been a deputy sheriff under Kelly, and connected for five and a half years with the police department.

BOYS OF ALL SIZES, complexions, ages and conditions wanted at A D T Co., 162 First street. Premiums paid for discreet boys with good lively legs.

A RING WITH A HISTORY.—Mr. Chas. H. Read has a heavy chased gold ring with an opal set which he found on the site of the Mountain Meadow massacre, while escaping from the Indians, in Montana, some years ago. A lady's ring with a red stone ornament was also found near the other. Mrs. Read has it now in her possession. Mr. and Mrs. Read reside in East Portland, near the Jefferson street ferry landing.

TWO MEMBERS APPOINTED.—Mayor DeLashmutt has appointed Gerdes and Scoggin members of the city hall building committee in accordance with the resolution passed by the council increasing the number of the committee to five. The vacancy caused by the resignation of Farrell from the committee has not been filled. In fact his resignation has not been accepted.

THEY WILL MEET.—The new Hook and Ladder, organized in the Third ward, will meet this evening in the Pioneer Engine Company's hall, in East Portland. Officers will be elected. A constitution has been drawn up, and also an application to the board of fire delegates for admission to the fire department, which will be presented to the board to-morrow night.

SETTING THE GRADE STAKES.—The route of the Sellwood & Milwaukie motor line has been located and Engineer C. W. Brown is now setting the grade stakes. The line has been graded along Ninth street, from the Hawthorne avenue motor line to the Southern Pacific road near Brooklyn. Let the good work go on. The next thing is a line or two to Oregon City.

A LARGE ATTENDANCE is assured at Mrs. Geisler's concert to-night. Mr. Freiderich, our popular pianist, will render some of his favorite selections, and Mrs. Geisler's own numbers, as well as the rest of the programme, have all been selected with excellent taste. Tickets at Klein & Day's, 166 First street, or at the Arion Hall.

A HANDSOME RESIDENCE.—Mr. D. L. Williams has plans and specifications proposed for a handsome residence for himself, to be built at Ninth and Market. Up to the second story the building will be of stone, probably basalt, with sandstone trimmings. The house will be a very handsome one, costing about $10,000.

MORE ROLLING STOCK.—The Metropolitan street Railway Company expect to have their second track completed to the city limits by May 1st or at the latest by May 10th. They have six very elegant open cars now being shipped by the Pullman company, and the motors for these are already here.

MINING COMPANY INCORPORATED.—Articles incorporating the Oregon Consolidated Gold and Silver Mining Company were filed yesterday by L. D. Brown, M. Hobart, G. W. Penter, William Alperson and L. T. Barin. The capital is $2,500,000.

MIKE GOLDSTEIN GETS A DEPUTYSHIP.—Mr. Michael B. Goldstein, who was one of the secretaries of the republican state central committee in the campaign of 1888, has been appointed a deputy United States marshal by Marshal Barin.

DURING THE GREAT EXCITEMENT in Vancouver yesterday over the railroad news, Elwell Bro's. made many transfers of real estate. They had a number of great bargains in acre tracts for platting. Wolf's Block, Vancouver, Wash.

SAWING OFF PILES.—The work of sawing off the piles for the foundation for the pivotal pier of the Madison street bridge, was completed yesterday and the work of building the grillage will be begun next week.

MONEY IN THE TREASURY.—County Treasurer Hacheney's report for March, filed yesterday, shows that there is $20,576 in the county fund, and $95 50—total in the treasury, $20,671 50.

VESSEL NOW LOADING.—The three masted schooner Jessie Minor, passed up the Columbia yesterday and is now loading at La Camas with lumber for San Francisco.

F. C. BARNES has removed his fish and game market to the corner of Second and Stark streets, where he may be found until his new premises are completed.

THE CHAMPION skater, Axel Paulsen, is at the Portland, and will give an exhibition of fancy skating at new Arion Hall, Saturday evening, April the 12th.

LICENSED TO WED.—A marriage license was granted yesterday for Harry McCormick, aged 37, and Minnie Thompson, aged 26.

A 13x17 portrait given with each dozen photographs to-day. Watson, 225 First street. Photographs $2 per dozen.

THE DRY GOODS ESTABLISHMENT

Of McAllen & McDonnell, cor. Third and Morrison, is in the estimation of the Oregonian the most popular dry goods emporium north of San Francisco. This fact has been demonstrated time and again, judging from the immense crowd of ladies that visit their stores daily. Their stock of French dress goods, Vandyke laces, spring ulsters, connemaras, black and colored jackets, is by far the best selected stock, the most complete ever shown by any house on the Northwest coast.

WOODSTOCK.

Now is the time to make your selections in Woodstock. We have sold from $50 000 to $60 000 worth of property in the past four months. Next month you will not be able to buy at present prices. The electric motor line is nearing completion, and you can shortly ride to this beautiful tract for 5 cents. Advance in values will be sharp, and your own interests will be best consulted by buying now. Prices are 30 per cent. lower than in any other as desirable suburb. For that reason look at Woodstock. Telfer & Sterns Real Estate Co., 33 Stark street.

ABERDEEN IS THE COMING CITY.

Gray's Harbor is the natural gateway of water to the coming great commonwealth of Washington. The distance from Aberdeen, on Gray's Harbor, by rail to the head of Puget sound is forty miles. The distance between the two points by water is fully 400 miles. Aberdeen is the natural site for the big city of the Gray's Harbor country. Write at once to Weatherwax & Co., of Aberdeen, for the best real estate buys.

GREAT ROCK ISLAND ROUTE.

The fast limited vestibule express trains of the Great Rock Island Route—with Pullman palace sleeping, palace dining and elegant reclining chair cars free—make close connections in Union depots with all overland trains from Oregon and Washington, at Denver, Omaha or St. Paul, to Chicago, Kansas City and all points East. PORTLAND, THURSDAY, APRIL 10.

TWO DIFFERENT THINGS.

Senator Stanford, explaining his government loan scheme in San Francisco, makes the same illegitimate comparison between [illegible] and the national banking system which has been used by so many of his adherents and admirers. Senator Stanford ought to understand better than less instructed persons that the comparison is unfair, and the deductions drawn from it unwarranted. His plan involves the direct loan of government money at a nominal rate of interest upon real estate security. The objections to it are first, that it is not the proper function of the government to loan money to any private person; and second, that a government loan at less than the current rate fixed by the law of supply and demand is an unjust interference with the natural operations of trade, and a dishonest taking of the property of one citizen for the benefit of another. The government has no money but that which it takes from its citizens by the power of taxation. To give this money to other citizens—and a loan at one half the lowest current rate of interest is half a gift—is legalized robbery. It is just like compelling the farmer to pay tithes in kind to the government, and then distributing the wheat, pork, poultry and butter thus received among the farmer's customers at half the market price of those products. To loan government money at the current rate of interest would be simply imprudent a transcending of the legitimate powers of the state, and an unwarranted risk of money needlessly taken from the owner without compensation. To loan it at less than the current rate would add dishonesty to imprudence by taking the money of one person to partly give it to another.

None of these objections apply legitimately to the national banking system. The mildest possible characterization of the Stanford scheme, and that commonly given to it by its author and adherents, is as a loan of government credit to citizens. The national bank plan is not even this. The government does not loan its credit to the banks. It sells its bonds in open market for what they will bring. The banker must buy them in open market and sometimes pay a round premium for them. Under these restrictions which give the state a very considerable power of taxation and control over his business, he is permitted to issue circulating notes to the amount of 90 per cent of these bonds, after depositing them in the treasury as security for the redemption of the notes. The government can safely guarantee the circulation of the banks, because it has possession of the bonds, without any need of foreclosure proceedings, and the bonds are always marketable, differing widely in this respect from mortgages on real estate. There is no imprudence in the government's guarantee, because if a bank fails to redeem its notes its bonds may be sold forthwith and the proceeds applied to that purpose. In the case of real estate security this could not be done without tedious foreclosure proceedings, and perhaps could not be done at all for lack of a buyer for the land. There is no dishonesty or deprivation in it, because the government taxes no one to enable the banks to do business, and neither gives nor lends to any one the money taken by it from citizens by the power of taxation. The interest paid upon the bonds is not paid for the benefit of the bankers, who could sell the bonds and reinvest the money at double the rate. This is just what they have done, to the extent of $150,00,00, within the last eight or ten years. It is paid under a contract entered into by the government years ago, to obtain money for its vital necessities. The payment is stopped as fast as the bonds mature and money can be found to pay them off without regard to the wishes or interest of the banks.

There is not the smallest resemblance, therefore, even apparent or superficial, between the Stanford scheme and the national bank plan. To create even such a resemblance the farmers would have to pay the full current rate upon the loan from the government, determined by free competition in open markets, the real estate mortgaged would have to be immediately salable at all times for at least one-third more than the amount of the loan, and its free and absolute title would have to be vested in the government, with power to sell as soon as default was made by the borrower. The first of these suppositions would be unpalatable to the authors and adherents of the Stanford plan and the second is impossible. The [illegible], whose realization would bring about the speedy nationalization of most of the land in the country would be acceptable to the socialist school of amateur politicians, but we doubt its general approval by the farmer class, which Senator Stanford desires [illegible] all to gratify and benefit.

THE OVERPRODUCTION OF GRAIN.

If the attention that farmers and their condition are receiving in the world of discussion will light their pathway out of debt into prosperity, it is clear that they will not much longer remain in the Slough of Despond, financially speaking. Now it is the commissioner of agriculture who tells them what they have done and what left undone that has added to the grand sum total of agricultural depression that rests so heavy on this country, and again the essayist, carefully conning the subject in his study, urges the Western farmer to return to the quiet orderly walks of New England thrift and the day of small economies if he would prosper in his vocation.

Mr. C. Ward Davis in an article in the Forum for April, discusses the question from a statistical standpoint, and reaches the conclusion therefrom that the increase of the farming industry in much greater ratio than the increase in the demand for the products of the farm is the chief cause of the poverty of farmers amid the abundance of their fields. He sees in the opening up of the vast acres of the fertile West the fruitful source of the farmer's woe. In a word farming has been overdone. "Our farms are so numerous and productive," says Mr Davis "as to reduce the returns of American agriculture to a point far below a reasonable profit and to lessen the value of farm and farm products of Canada, Great Britain and Western Europe. Clearly the unprofitableness of American agriculture is not in any degree due to insufficient crops." The causes usually assigned for this lack of agricultural prosperity, the demonetization of silver, the deficiency in a circulating medium, protective tariffs, absorbing trusts, speculative combinations, over greedy middlemen and exorbitant transportation rates are ignored in the search for the figures to prove that Mr Davis declares to be the real cause of the unprosperous condition of the farming industry of this and other nations. These figures being brought forward show that in the past thirty nine years the number of farms increased 260 per cent while the increase in population has been 175 per cent. Running through the list of agricultural products the statistician finds that the only staples the growing of which is fairly remunerative are pork and cotton. The prosperity of the latter is accounted for in our monopoly of the world's supply while the fact that the number of swine has increased but 66 per cent, while the population grows, as above stated an increase of 175 per cent in a little more than a generation, accounts for the latter. After stating in detail the per cent reduction of profits on various staple articles produced in abundance throughout the great region opened up to agriculture within the past twenty years, Mr. Davis declares that "the logical conclusion from the evidence offered is that the troubles of the farmer are due to the fact that there are altogether too many farmers, too many cattle, too many bushels of corn, wheat, rye, oats, barley, buckwheat and potatoes; too many tons of hay and too great production of nearly all other farm products for the number of consumers."

It will be remembered that the commissioner of agriculture a few weeks ago asserted that overproduction in the great grain staples was what was the matter with farmers, and he advised them, as a way out of the difficulty, to diversify their crops. Not to raise less in the aggregate, or to reduce their acreage, but to raise more of those products which are imported and less grain to lie in the country's storehouses begging for exportation to markets already glutted through a like mistake of the agriculturists of Great Britain and Western Europe. This is an opinion that carries with it the suggestion of a remedy while that expressed by Mr Davis is but a cold, bare statement unrelieved by the present possibility at least of improvement in the financial condition of the agricultural population. There is certainly little to encourage men to devote their energies to farming while the very productiveness of their broad acres is a source of financial loss. If, as experts assert, a reduction of the surplus in agriculture is the thing necessary to bring about a revolution in the fortunes of the honest, toiling yeomanry of the country, they should be encouraged to reduce the grain acreage, the productiveness of which is so detrimental to their welfare, and try what virtue there is in fruit growing, poultry raising the cultivation of flax, sorghum and such other products as pay those who raise them elsewhere to produce and ship them. Theorists have done their work in this matter thoroughly; it remains with those who drive the plow to show by experiment whether persons who hold aloof and study the question as observers merely have correctly diagnosed the case, the chief points in which the workers have been too busy to observe.

OREGON'S FRUIT GROWING INTERESTS.

The quarterly meeting of the State Horticultural Society, held in this city Tuesday, demonstrated anew the advantage of an interchange of ideas and a comparison of methods between men engaged in similar vocations. It is evident from the papers read and the animated discussions which the ideas and facts presented called out that the old aimless methods of the orchardist, which did not extend beyond the planting of trees and gathering such portion of their fruit as could be used by the family, have been superseded to some extent by intelligent methods, approved by practical horticulturists and resulting in profit to producers. This is encouraging as a promise that ancient, moss grown, neglected orchards, the home of the coddling moth and the aphis, will in time give place to fruit trees well kept and carefully pruned, the products of which will restore to Oregon fruit the reputation for size, condition and flavor that it so long maintained, but which has been seriously impaired by the neglect and ignorance of the fruit growers of the state during the last quarter of a century.

In defense of farmers who have permitted the reputation of Oregon apples to suffer through neglect of orchards, it is but fair to say that for many years the limited markets and inadequate transportation facilities of the state forbade a profit upon this fruit. Thousands of bushels of the finest apples that vigorous trees, favorable climate and fertile soil could combine to produce, annually for many years rotted upon the ground, there being absolutely no market for it. Trees from being overloaded were broken, the humid air encouraged the growth of moss and this in turn made nesting places for the insects that infest fruit. In this condition dilapidated uncultivated, practically worn out, the orchards of Oregon were called to meet the demand caused by railroad building and the consequent improvement of the market. It is no wonder that they proved inadequate to the demand, and no wonder, in the light of their past experience, that farmers were slow to devote their time to the restoration of their orchards made necessary by the new demand upon them.

While, however, on many of the old farms the sprawling, moss-grown apple trees of a past era will remain until ordered cut down and burned through legislation necessary to protect young orchards from insect pests, the fruit industry of Oregon is being placed upon an intelligent basis that promises profit to growers and a reputation for producing apples, prunes plums and pears second to that of no other state in the Union. Fruit growers are working with a well-defined purpose and with a promise of success in their vocation that is the meed of intelligent endeavor. They will be successful, of course. There is nothing to hinder them except that their product will have to struggle for several years to live down the reputation that neglect and carelessness fastened upon it.

Representative Turner, of New York, has introduced into the house a resolution looking to measures for the establishment of international patrol of the ocean in the line of trans-Atlantic travel, for the rescue from possible disaster of lives on the high seas. He declares, in a preamble to his resolution, that the rivalry between competing lines in the matter of rapid transit is so keen that considerations of safety are made subordinate thereto, and that an ocean patrol system is demanded by humanity. While the claim that the ingenuity of builders and the skill of navigators have reduced the perils of ocean travel to the miminum is well established, it is yet true that a contingency might occur wherein appalling sacrifice of life would be inevitable unless sufficient means of succor was at hand. Hence the idea of the New York representative that some of the idle war-ships of the nation might well be utilized as patrol vessels is worthy of consideration. It is not likely, however, that the proposition will receive the attention necessary to bring it before national counsellors unless it should first be emphasized by a catastrophe, the occurrence of which it is its purpose to prevent.

Time is getting short with the disciples of Mrs Woodworth in Oakland and San Francisco. But three days remain in which they may seek safety by flight from the cities which the visions of this prophetess have doomed to earthquake and deluge and much remains to be done. They are scampering pell mell to the Berkeley hills where secure in their temporary homes they hope to see the prophecy of destruction fulfilled in the extermination of the stiff necked unbelievers who would not give ear to the warnings and signs of the elect. It is hoped that these prophets of evil in seeking a retreat have found one in which they may securely hide themselves during the remainder of their natural lives and that their dupes may come back from their camping expedition recuperated for a summer of useful, honest, self supporting work, thus proving that even folly has its recompense.

The diocesan convention of the Episcopal church that will meet in Charleston April 7, is likely to have a hard time in the attempt to draw the color line. It will be remembered that in 1886 nearly one half the delegates seceded from the convention because the bishop admitted a negro clergyman. Various efforts to effect a compromise have proved unsuccessful. The conservative faction is willing to settle on the basis of admitting Rev I. H. M. Pellard, the colored rector of St Mark's church, Charleston, with the proviso that no other colored clergymen shall be admitted. The faction decline even to concede this much and the fight promises to be a bitter one. All of this trouble might have been avoided if the Almighty had not gone ahead and created, in his own image colored men without consulting the authorities of the Southern churches. This oversight on the part of the Creator has caused much contention among those who profess to consider the work of his hand perfect and all of his dealings with humanity just.

Columbia river fishermen are urged by the Fishermen's Protective Union to stand together for a scale of prices that "may mean less profit for canners and speculators but more wages for fishermen." Fishermen, like all other laborers are entitled to fair and reasonable wages. Their vocation is a peculiar one, both in its pursuit, and in the element of danger, and in the fact that it lasts not more than a third of the year. These facts should have weight with canners in determining whether the prices asked are unreasonable. If the fishing industry of the Columbia will not pay fair wages to its employes and at the same time leave a fair margin of profit to cannerymen, it has fallen into decadence that suggests the withdrawal of the capital invested with a view to employing it in some industry that will do this. While the profits of cannerymen from various causes have suffered reduction within the past few years, the returns do not warrant any such assumption as this. On the other hand it is certainly in the interest of fishermen for their employers to make money hence if they have wise leaders they will make their demands within a limit that employers can, with justice to themselves, concede without wasting even a portion of the short fishing season in idleness, that is the certain result of unreasonable action on their part. It is well to consider the reciprocity of interests in this matter before an arbitrary stand is taken from which both sides are too stubborn to recede. The history of the iron moulders' strike in San Francisco would make good reading for employers and workingmen throughout the Pacific coast just now. The contest has been a costly one to both sides, and each looking back to the beginning, might well exclaim "Behold, how great a matter a little fire kindleth."

The ballot reform bill that has been passed by the legislature of New Jersey, is likely to fail in achieving the results desired. The bill provides, among other things, for the registration of voters by county boards, made up of two members of each party, appointed by the governor, which boards are to appoint four enumerators for each election precinct, for the printing of each party's ballot, separately at public expense, for secret booths and isolated polling places, and for heavy penalties for any violation of the act, and for imitating the official ballots. The registration system does not seem to have been securely guarded, and as any person can procure in advance as many of the party tickets as he desires by paying for them, there is opportunity enough to fix voters before election time, especially combined with the presence in the room where the ballot box is placed, of two challengers of each party. A ballot reform bill such as this would never have been vetoed by Governor Hill of New York.

The Chicago Herald, the most prominent democratic paper of the West thinks the democrats gained a questionable victory in Milwaukee on the school question, and it warns them that "if the democracy of the state should follow in the wake of the city democracy of this city and stake its success on opposition to compulsory education, it will suffer a disastrous defeat." The Herald adds:

> The state of Wisconsin has the right to Americanize its foreign population and to compel the children of its foreign born citizens to be educated and to be taught the English language. Anything to the contrary involves a want of national self respect, and is repugnant to the feelings and instincts of every American citizen who is worthy of the name. If the democracy of Wisconsin should commit itself to such a position it will simply invite its fate.

General O O Howard in a temperance lecture at a meeting of the New York Religious Society, on the evening of the first day of April stated that General Grant had never drank intoxicating liquors, and remarked that the great soldier had said that the reason he had never joined a temperance society was that if he did it might prove to the world that he was temperate, whereas if people did not say he drank they might say something worse about him. People who knew General Grant on this coast early in the '50s are asked to remember that this statement was made on the first day of April and to forget that General Howard never jokes.

Herr Most concluded a recent address by saying "I have strong convictions, I am willing to die for them if necessary." This will not be denied, for every man may develop into a hero under fire, but if Herr Most has become a fearless man, his nature must have undergone a wondrous change. The greatest notoriety ever achieved by Most was when he was dragged from beneath a bed by his boots. At that time he was attempting to hide in order that he might escape the consequence of the reckless utterance of those loud boasted convictions. Herr Most is a demogogic crank and is unworthy to influence a single American workingman.

The blushing honors of a portion of Oregon's supreme court must yield before the claims of a Perry county judge in Pennsylvania. An associate judge sitting on the bench was an applicant for a hotel license, and, in spite of a strong remonstrance himself granted his own license. The president judge revoked the license, and an effort is being made to retire the audacious associate judge. A man who has a conception of judicial ethics so slight should hardly be permitted to remain upon the bench.

The people everywhere have grown tired of the abuses that have grown around the old method of casting the ballot. The Australian system for the next four years will be tried under sufficiently contrasting conditions to either prove or disprove the utility of universal adoption. Yesterday the house of representatives of Iowa passed the Australian ballot reform bill thus placing that state among the rapidly increasing number of commonwealths that desire purification of the ballot.

The German emperor in defining the causes for which duels may be fought in the German army, has shown that, despite his boasted progress he is still much behind the age. What the kaiser should have done was to forbid the duel for any cause. The "code of honor" is a hollow mockery. It is true honor's cheapest cheat, and William has made a gross mistake in not suppressing an evil that will come back to haunt him in the future by influence on the German soldier.

Four thousand immigrants, mostly Italians, arrived at Castle Garden, April 1. And all that our contract labor law can shut out are musicians, clergymen and skilled laborers. Let us be thankful, however for the discrimination that keeps an invoice of wheezy hand organs from being landed as the personal property of a like number of lazy malodorous sons of Italy intent on torturing their living out of the community.

Most persons regard recent occurrence of tornadoes and cyclones as unprecedented in the history of the country. Yet there is evidence that like storms have visited the land for many years past. An official of the United States signal service has compiled a table extending back a full century which proves that in former years these storms were as frequent as now. The difference in the effect is noticeable now on account of the growth and settlement of the country and necessarily the heavier losses of life and property as compared with the past.

EVARTS AND DAWES THE LEADERS

Ways and Means Committee Polishing Up the New Tariff Bill.

WASHINGTON PUBLIC BUILDINGS

Democrats Threaten to Talk on the Montana Case Till the Session Ends—Alaska Land Laws Needed

WASHINGTON April 9.—[OREGONIAN Office, corner Fourteenth street and Pennsylvania avenue.]—The republican members of the ways and means committee were in conference this afternoon, adding the finishing touches to the tariff bill. The most important change made was the schedule relating to fine linens, and here the committee reconsidered all former action and wiped out the provision that increased duty be collected and fixed the rates as they stand in the existing law.

The republicans of the house will hold a caucus to-morrow evening to consider the order of business for the session. The tariff the silver and the pension questions will probably be considered and a general line of policy adopted.

Holman, of Indiana, and Stockbridge of Mississippi, opposed the proposition to reduce the national park along the Yellowstone river, so as to allow the railway to build to Cook City. When Carter was before the committee he stated that the only object was to secure right of way. The first proposition was to grant a right of way to the Cook City Railroad Company. This was rejected and another proposition was made to open that part of the park, so that any road might be built. Holman claims that the bill was a plan of the Northern Pacific railroad, and he was opposed to any scheme of that road. Stockbridge claimed that there was a money power behind the scheme, and he is therefore opposed. This Cook City country might be rich in mineral wealth, but it was certain that if this bill was passed some one would make money out of it. He should oppose it. The entire day was consumed by these opponents of the bill, and no action was taken. The majority of the committee is in favor of reporting for a cession of the Yellowstone strip.

Alaska and its land matters attracted the attention of the committee on public lands to-day. The townsite bill recently passed by the senate was referred to a sub-committee which listened to M. W. Bruce and Acting Surveyor General Garcia, of Alaska, who urged the passage of this bill, which gave men who had erected buildings and started canning factories title to the lands they occupy.

An important matter was brought to the attention of the committee. The secretary of the interior has asked the department of justice to bring suit against the people resident of Alaska who have cut or used any timber in the territory. This will involve every resident in litigation, as the timber all belongs to the government. The Alaska representatives want some bill passed which will allow residents of the territory to use such timber as is necessary for building purposes. The sub-committee will probably report favorably on the bills now pending with such amendments as may be suggested by the Alaska men now in Washington.

The house committee on public buildings and grounds to-day decided to report favorably the senate bills for the purchase of sites for buildings at Seattle, Tacoma and Walla Walla Wash. The Spokane bill had been previously reported at $100,000 as it came from the senate. To day the house committee decided to cut down the appropriation for Seattle and Tacoma from $100 000 to $75 000 while Walla Walla was reported at $30 000 as it came from the senate. Senator Squire, who had busied himself all day in helping along in the senate the bills of house members of the committee on public buildings, was not pleased with the cut made on his bills for Seattle and Tacoma. He had the pledges of a number of the committee to stand by the bills as they came from the senate. The Washington senators believe the amounts can be increased in conference.

The democrats of the senate have agreed to a caucus on two schemes to prevent the admission of the republican senators from Montana. One is to talk until next November, if necessary. There is no plan of ordering the previous question in the senate and as long as some one of the senators desires to talk there is no way of shutting him off. When there is no longer any excuse for talking, the democrats will refuse to vote, and give the presiding officer an opportunity to count a quorum. When the debate grows so monotonous that the republicans will leave the chamber and the democrats will move an adjournment. Already the republicans are trying to get the democrats to fix a date to close the debate, but this was refused by the democrats. Instead of there being a vote in a week it may occur several weeks hence, but the democrats will get tired in time.

Senator Wilson to-day from the committee on interstate commerce reported amendments to the bill to amend section 3 of the the interstate commerce act. The bill as amended provides that "any article of commerce, the manufacture or sale of which is prohibited within any state, shall not be transported or conveyed to such state, but this shall not be held to prohibit the transportation of such articles of commerce to persons in such states authorized by the laws to receive the same, or through such state to any state or territory in which such manufacture or sale is not permitted."

At a meeting of the house committee on territories to day the following sub committees were appointed to take under consideration bills providing for enabling acts for the territories of Arizona and New Mexico: Arizona, Messrs Struble, chairman, Morrow Mansur and Washington, New Mexico, Messrs Struble, chairman, Perkins, Rife, Springer and Kilgore.

Hale's battle-ships bill was reported by Senator Hale to day from the naval affairs committee as an amendment to the naval appropriation bill. Senator Hale also reported as an amendment to the same bill, a proposition looking to the appointment of an additional secretary of the navy, at an annual salary of $4500.

Representative Bartine, from the committee on coinage, weights and measures today reported to the house the house the bill agreed upon in the committee, authorizing coinage of subsidiary coins of the United States. The subsidiary silver coin now in the treasury amounts to $22 774 257.

IN THE SENATE.

Turpie's Extraordinary Metaphors—Friends of Chinese Outnumbered.

WASHINGTON April 9.—In the senate—Among the bills reported from committees and placed on the calendar was the bill to amend the third section of the interstate commerce act.

The house bill appropriating $75,000 to supply the deficiency occasioned by the Silcott defalcation was passed.

The senate then resumed consideration of the Montana case, and Pugh concluded his argument in favor of the democratic claimants.

Turpie presented an argument on the same side of the question. The canvassing board at Helena had no right to throw out the abstract of the returns at precinct 34. They had not dared to throw out the abstract for the whole county because that would have defeated the republican candidate for congress. The action of the territorial board of canvassers was an act of usurpation, and therefore utterly void. The elimination of precinct 34 was null, and therefore the election of five delegates from Silver Bow county was null. The word "elimination" as used by the territorial canvassers was a mellifluous euphemism of that body for an act of forgery. "Upon a claim so detestably false, what legal title," he asked, "could be made?" He asked whether the abridgement of a lie was to have more force than the whole edition, and characterized the rejection of the votes of precinct 34 as an act of strangling on the part of the three thugs of the returning board. Further on he spoke of the canvassing board as "a triple coil of adders, composed of a chief justice from Verulam, a secretary from Sodom and a governor from Gomorrah," and wound up with a scathing denunciation of all concerned.

In the course of the discussion as to the time of a vote it was stated by Morgan that the democratic senators were ready to vote upon the question without further debate. The offer was accepted by the other side, but the arrangement was defeated by Call taking the floor and stating his desire to address the senate on the subject to-morrow.

The Montana election having been laid aside, Hale asked unanimous consent to have the Chinese census numeration bill taken up and disposed of. Evarts objected. Then Hale made a motion to that effect. The motion met with resistance on the republican side, but all the democrats voted with Hale, and the vote resulted—yeas 39, nays 19 and the bill was taken up.

Hale said he did not desire to take up time with the bill. He was willing to proceed with a vote on the pending amendments and on the bill.

Evarts said he regarded the amendments reported by the census committee as an improvement on the house bill, and was willing they should be adopted, but as to the merits of the bill itself, it was his design and his duty to debate it, and at some length.

Mitchell explained the purpose of some amendments which he offered. He did not like the bill very well as it came from the house, but as amended by the senate committee it was, he said, absolutely worthless and insufficient. He desired to have the pending bill amended to require Chinese to show that they were residents on the 1st of October, 1888, the date of the Scott exclusion act, instead of, as the senate amendment proposed, on the 1st of June, 1890. He asked Hale whether he was willing to give a certificate that should be good as a "ticket of leave" or a "ticket of stay" to those Chinese who have got into the country unlawfully since October, 1888.

Hale admitted that he was willing to give amnesty to 500 or 5000 Chinese persons who have come since October, 1888, for the sake of closing the doors in future.

Hearst said his idea and notion of legislation on the subject was the passage of a law that would exclude Chinese from coming to the country, after a certain date, but would treat Chinese already here fairly.

Mitchell agreed with Hearst, and desired to have a law that would exclude all Chinese except members of the diplomatic corps.

Dawes wanted to know what use there would be in having Chinese diplomats admitted if they had no Chinese interests to look after.

"I would rather never see a Chinese diplomat here," was Mitchell's reply, "than permit the country to be overrun by the yellow hordes of the Chinese empire."

Without action the senate adjourned.

In the House.

WASHINGTON April 9.—In the house on motion of Struble of Iowa, the senate amendment was non concurred in to the house bill providing for townsite entries of land in Oklahoma, and a conference was ordered.

The house then went into committee of the whole on the naval appropriation bill. Wilkinson of Louisiana said he would not emulate Great Britain in building ships, but China had a better fighting armament to-day than the United States. This government had been taking extreme measures with China. It was a part of proper precautions to build ships which could cope with those of the nations upon which contumely had been cast. He advocated the establishment of a navy yard at Algiers Louisiana.

Adams of Illinois said the people he represented were anxious for a navy yard at the mouth of the Mississippi river.

Coleman of Louisiana advocated New Orleans. Pending final action the committee rose and the house adjourned.

THE NORTHERN PACIFIC GRANT.

LEWISVILLE, Wash, April 6.—[TO THE EDITOR.]—I wish to make an inquiry. If the people or individuals of Portland, or any other town, should make a contract with a railroad company to pay them a certain amount of money to build a road through their town, and if said railroad company never built according to contract, and built that road in some other town or state, could that company get the money, or is there any law that will give that company the money from individuals?

Second. If an early settler of Washington, having filed in the United States land office for a donation claim according to law, and if said man never lived on that land, but lived back East, can he hold said claim? If that can not be gotten by law, how is the Northern Pacific going to get 34 560 acres of land in Clarke county, Washington? They have men surveying and no doubt expect to run the poor settler off after he has worked hard to clean up the land.

GEORGE ARMSTRONG.

The land grant due to the Northern Pacific Company on account of its line from Portland to Tacoma, extends into Clarke county, Washington, just how far, THE OREGONIAN does not know. The company cannot take any land not within the limits of the grant and cannot take any land acquired by settlers or settled on according to law before the company filed a record and map of its railroad line. Under the settlers donation law the claimant was obliged to live on his land four years. He could not claim the benefit of the donation land law without residing on the land, but the land grant railroads were given lands under entirely different conditions and for wholly different purposes. The donation settler could get land only by complying with the law as to residence and cultivation, the railroad company could get land only by complying with the law as to building a railroad line. From his first question it may be supposed that the correspondent supposes that the Northern Pacific Company is entitled to no land in Clarke county, because it has built no road there, and hence has no more right to claim land in Clarke county than a company would have to claim that a subsidy, pledged on condition that a railroad should be built, should be paid, though no road had been built. But the fact is that the land grant of the Northern Pacific, earned by construction of the line from Portland to Tacoma, extends far into Clarke county. The company, however, cannot take away any settler's land. If, however, any one has settled on a piece of land since the line of road was fixed, and such piece of land is within the railroad section, the settler would be obliged to buy from the company or give up the land. These are facts that it might be supposed every settler would take pains to learn beforehand, so as not to subject himself to the disappointment and loss sure to follow settlement on land which the government had already granted to a railroad company.

Armies of Mice Devastating Russia.

NEW YORK, April 9.—According to a cable dispatch a terrible plague has swept over a large section of Southern Russia. Millions of field mice have overrun those provinces and are passing northward. They have ruined cultivated fields, completely gutted granaries and wheat stacks, and killed and eaten several hundred dogs. They swim rivers and climb mountains, and there seems to be no way either of exterminating them or arresting their progress.

DEMOCRATS SANGUINE.

Governor Pennoyer's Re-election Confidently Claimed.

THEY WILL MAKE A BETTER FIGHT.

Labor Trouble Expected With the Carpenters' Union This Season.

WHAT SOME OF THEM DEMAND.

Mr. Quimby Claims There Has Been Unjust Discrimination—New Telegraph Line—What Speaker Reed Said—Etc.

The democrats are keeping very quiet, but they are all as confident as Chairman Church, of the county central committee, that they will bury the republicans out of sight in June.

The republican split is water on their wheel. They say a great many republicans are disgusted with the way things are going and unless they change their minds they will vote with the democrats.

The sanguine democrats are already claiming that Governor Pennoyer will be re-elected by from 3000 to 5000 majority. Chairman Church says it will be fully as much as it was four years ago. He does not think the governor's majority will be so large in this county as in 1884 but he looks for a larger majority in the interior of the state.

The democratic primaries will be held Saturday. Up to last night there had been no indication of a split, not even a sign of an opposition ticket. The judges and clerks of election are not known. They will be selected at the polling places before the voting begins. In such a nebulous state of affairs there is but little talk about the ticket. John Kelly is named for treasurer, but his friends think he would make a better run for sheriff. Henry Gray, H. Verwig and Joseph Meyers are mentioned for recorder.

WHAT THE CARPENTERS DEMAND.

They Ask for the Discharge of Non-Union Men—Labor Trouble Anticipated.

The union carpenters in the employ of V. Hepp have demanded that he discharge the non-union carpenters in his employ. The Builders' Association, of which Mr Hepp is a member, demanded that the non-union carpenters be not discharged, and so Mr. Hepp is in something of the same fix as the man who stood between the devil and the deep blue sea. A gentleman who does not belong to the Carpenters' Union and is probably not in sympathy with it, says that these union carpenters worked alongside the non-union carpenters for Mr Hepp all winter, all hands receiving $3 50 per day, although during the short days they did not and could not work full time. Now that the building season is open and there is plenty of work, they demand the discharge of the non-union men.

This action is likely to precipitate the trouble anticipated when the carpenters' union attempts on the 1st of May to enforce their demand for a reduction of their hours of labor. It is well known that the employers have organized and intend to resist the reduction, and then there will be a strike, just as building operations are beginning to be pressing. The bricklayers and plasterers are satisfied with their hours and their wages, as well they may be, but it is more than likely that if the carpenters' strike is continued for any length of time they will be "called out," and building operations practically suspended for the purpose of forcing the contractors to terms. The idea that such a state of affairs is impending causes a feeling of uneasiness and is already having a bad effect on building projects. It has been suggested that the business men and capitalists of the city take a hand in the matter and try to bring about a satisfactory arrangement. A public meeting might be called, and those who are interested given a chance to express their opinions on the matter, and either the contractors instructed to accede to the demands of the carpenters or the union instructed that the contractors would be sustained in asserting their demands, or a committee appointed to effect a compromise. Some action should be taken to put an end to the feeling of uneasiness in regard to strikes.

MR. QUIMBY SPEAKS HIS MIND.

Unjust Discriminations Against Phalmont Boy—His Horses Described.

As announced in Monday's OREGONIAN, the Quimby & Sawyer stables have come down from Hillsboro, and were yesterday taken out to City View by their owners, Mr L P W. Quimby, and Mr John Sawyer, the well known trainer. Mr. Sawyer when asked the reason for the change replied, "It was made because the proprietor of the Hillsboro track would not allow me to train my stallions on his track and breed my mares in Washington county."

A reporter had the pleasure of viewing Mr Quimby's noted and valuable importations yesterday at Mr. Cook's barn. The horses are as handsome a set of noble, high bred animals as has been seen in Portland. They have now fully recovered from the effects of their long railroad trip, and are fully acclimated and in excellent condition. The string is headed by Pricemont, a handsome bay horse 5 years old, by Altamont, dam by Doble. He has a 3 year-old record of 3 35, and a trial mark of 2 27½ as a 4-year old. He is probably the finest Altamont colt in the state, and, if nothing befalls him, is calculated to secure a great mark. Pricemont is a fine-looking horse and a natural born trotter.

Phalmont Boy is a noble looking colt, dark bay and three years old, by Phalmont, he by Phallas, with the fastest three and four year record of any horse in the world, dam by Pochahontas Boy. He thus inherits its extreme trotting speed on his sire's side and extreme pacing speed on his dam's side. He was entered in five races last season in the East, in which he was unable to start on account of sickness, from which he is now, however, fully recovered. Mr Quimby purposes to give him a record on any track over which he is allowed to trot. Phalmont Boy is a full brother to Phalmont Girl now being handled by Ed Bithers at Allen's farm, Pittsfield, Mass. Mr. Kinney, her breeder, writes that he has every expectation of her being placed inside the 20 list. Her record as a 3 year was 2 25.

Two geldings with no record were next looked at. One of them was bought out of the plow a year ago, having suited the fancy of Mr Quimby. Mr Sawyer fancies him, too, and it will speak all the better for him as a trainer if he can develop speed in him.

Maple Leaf is a beautiful bay filly, 3 years old, by Surgert, the sire of Moody, record 2 18¾, dam by Lakeland's Abdallah. She promises to be a good breeding filly and is calculated to do good work in some of the 3-year races.

Beulah was also shown in the stable. She is bred to Phalmont Boy, and is well known to Oregon horsemen.

Mr Quimby was asked if the home talent clause in the state fair programme affected his horses.

"It certainly does," he replied, "in regard to Phalmont Boy. The bars have been placed so that he has just been shut out by about thirty days' time from being able to enter. I placed great dependence upon being able to show the people of Oregon at their state fair, that I had brought a good horse into the state."

"Do you think the matter was so brought about designedly?"

"It certainly looks so, in view of the discrepancy between the time set for the runners and trotters. There is no other horse here desirous of entering but Phalmont Boy. It looks as though the provision was put in for the special benefit of my horse or of me."

Mr. Quimby evidently feels that an injustice has been done him in this matter. He purchased Phalmont Boy two years ago, and it was in [illegible] His interests are all here, and it [illegible]

TELEGRAPH LINES IN WASHINGTON.

Postal Company to Extend Its System in the Eastern Part of the State.

Manager Hayes, of the Postal Telegraph company, received a dispatch from Olympia, Wash, yesterday, announcing that Senator Payne's bill, declaring the rights of telegraph companies had been filed in the office of the secretary of state. Governor Ferry did not sign it. Singularly enough the constitution of Washington does not require the governor to sign a bill after the adjournment of the legislature, and he must either veto it or file it in the secretary's office to become a law without his signature. The Postal Company fought hard for this bill during its pendency in the legislature. It will become a law June 28, and the company will then be enabled to extend its lines in Eastern Washington. L W Storror, manager of the San Francisco office of the company, says this will be done as soon as possible.

HE GIVES THE TRUE VERSION.

Hon. L. B. Montgomery Says About Speaker Reed, the Chinook Salmon and Wine.

L. B Montgomery has been somewhat indisposed since his return from a few months' visit East, a few days since, and has not been out much. He is much pleased with the new hotel, and says he has seen no building during his trip so pleasing in appearance, so elegant in appointments and so perfectly arranged for the convenience of the traveling public as The Portland, except the Auditorium in Chicago which is said to have cost $3 000,000

Mr. Montgomery says the story going the rounds of the papers in regard to his offering wine to Speaker Reed, has been garbled. The facts in the case are that wishing to let a number of his friends know what a Chinook salmon was like, he sent out here for a sample. He then invited his friends to dinner, and had placed before them a fine 40-pound Columbia river fish. There was quite a party present, among them Speaker Reed, the members of the river and harbor committee, and congressmen from [illegible], Pennsylvania, California, etc. The guests greatly enjoyed the luscious Chinook, and Colonel Henderson, chairman of the committee on rivers and harbors jokingly remarked that he should hereafter feel inclined to oppose all appropriations for the improvement of the Columbia, for fear the salmon might be destroyed by the improvement.

Speaker Reed, who was sitting by Mr. Montgomery, was asked by him if he would take wine?

"Most certainly," was the reply

"I was a little timid about asking you," said Mr. Montgomery, "knowing what state you came from."

"Ah," said he, with his inimitable drawl, "we are different in our state from the people of Kentucky; we never carry our habits outside the state."

The point of the allusion lies in the fact that only a few days before a judge from Kentucky had shot a man dead with his pistol.

COMIC OPERA AT THE NEW PARK.

Manager Howe Will Go East This Morning to Get the Company.

Manager John P. Howe, of the New Park theater, will pack his theatrical trunk this morning and start on a flying trip to the East. He will go to Denver and Chicago and perhaps to New York. Mrs. Howe will accompany him.

When Manager Howe returns he expects to be able to give the Portland people assurance of a successful summer season of comic opera at the New Park. He is in correspondence with several companies, the W. A. Thompson opera company in particular, which includes some people well known in Portland. Among them are Miss Bebe Vining, who is quite a favorite here; Miss Ida Mulle, who was with the "Orpheus and Eurydice" company; Will Rising, Arthur Miller and thirty others. They play a repertoire of favorite old and new operas. If Manager Howe concludes arrangements the company will open about April 28 for a season of ten weeks. Other companies will follow.

The New Park is a comfortable theater for singing, and its operatic seasons have been successful. Manager Howe intends to keep up its past record with good music.

AT THE THEATERS.

Capital Houses Greet the Respective Plays Presented to the Public.

"The Count of Monte Cristo," as given last night by James O'Neill at the Marquam Grand opera house, greeted a warm and enthusiastic audience. Mr. O'Neill demonstrated his ability to hold the interest and attention of the cultivated assembly from the beginning to the end of the play.

The same play will be the bill the remainder of the week, and there is no doubt that the house will fully meet the demands.

The Levy Concert.

The large reserve sale for the concert to be given by Levy, the prince of cornet players and his distinguished company, indicates that the fame of the incomparable performer is well known in this city. It is accepted as a fact that Levy is without an equal in his line. The verdict of our people conforms with the high estimate placed upon his abilities, as the greatest cornetist in the world. Even P. S. Gilmore, himself a cornet player of splendid achievements, pronounces him as being at the head in the whole world, and says in a letter to Levy: "No man in the world can fill your place. For the past twenty five years you have held your position away in advance of all other cornet players, as you hold it to-day—without a peer. I need not tell you this, you know it full well. In justice I may add that, not only are you the greatest performer upon your instrument the world has ever known, but one of the most generous. Oft have you blown your magic horn, without reward, for patriotic and charitable purposes. Now that you propose to make your entry into Europe once more, and this time through the hospitable gates of Dublin, may you there begin to reap the reward of of good seed sown in a life devoted to adorning the most beautiful of the arts, in which you have won more glory and distinction than has ever fallen to the lot of any other cornetist under the sun"

Hanlon's Fantasma

On next Monday night the great Hanlons will appear at the Marquam Grand in their latest success, 'The New Fantasma." Their success in this latest revision of their wonderful and peculiar exposition of the mysteries of their profession is sufficiently attested by the notices of Eastern exchanges, of which the following is a fair sample:

The success of the Hanlon Brothers in "Fantasma" last season at their Albany visit, assured them a warm reception for the present engagement. It surprised no one, therefore, to find one of the largest opening audiences of the season at the Leland last evening. Many changes have been made in the play and some startling new mechanical and scenic effects have been introduced. The most notable innovation is in the second act, which now represents the bottom of the sea. A realistic bit in this was the diving of a man headfirst from the flies to the stage. Indeed, all through the play the law of gravitation seemed to be suspended, for spirits flew through the air as if they had wings, and even inanimate objects occasionally took aerial flights. The cyclone, during which a village is swept away, was rendered even more striking by an illuminated transparency at the back of the stage representing the spirit of the storm. In the third act some very clever specialties were introduced. For such a very heavy play to mount, the stage management was unusually good, there being but one or two slight hitches for an opening performance. "Fantasma" seems to delight old and young equally well, and crowded houses are certain to rule.

The Minstrels

Sunday next will inaugurate a short season of minstrelsy at the New Park theater. The Cleveland Haverly Company, with the original Willis P Sweatnam and fat and funny Billy Rice, Sugimoto's Royal Japanese troupe, to say nothing of all the comedians, singers, dancers, and musicians, and the original first part, entitled "Venetian Nights," is said to be very excellent. The sale of seats is now progressing at Hoyt's music store.

Cordray's Theater.

"Michael Strogoff" still draws good houses at this popular resort. The play will run the remainder of the week.

NEW CITY MAP,

Compiled by Riggen & Holbrook From the County Records and Data in Their Office.

For several years attempts have been made to furnish a reliable and convenient map of this city, but all efforts have in some respect failed to meet every expectation of a work of this importance, and it has remained for this firm to satisfactorily serve the people as they always do in everything they undertake.

Their new map differs from the "White" map in the respect that it shows all additions platted to date, as well as all the motor and street car lines in Portland, East Portland and Albina. It surpasses the "Habersham" map by being beautifully colored, as well as taking in additions adjoining the city limits, and is superior to the "Whitney" map by having concentric circles showing exact distances from the center of the city, and being printed on extra strong linen paper made expressly for pocket service. A copy of this map should be secured by everyone in order that they may know Portland and its environs, and especially so since the map is for free distribution. Everybody will be supplied with a copy by calling or sending to the office of Riggen & Holbrook, at 48 Stark street.

WHAT IS BEING DONE

The Port Townsend Southern to Be Pushed to an Early Completion.

The coming of 1000 more laborers from San Francisco means that active and lively work will be going on inside of a week or ten days on the Port Townsend Southern.

It is expected that twenty miles will be finished by July 1, which will bring the road to Lake Hooker in Leland valley.

There will be no cessation of work, however, as a locating party of several engineers have been ordered to proceed on with the line to Portland. As regards surveying, the twenty-mile section has three divisions, with a camp of engineers in each division. These, with the locating party, make four camps of engineers now in the field.

For purposes of construction the twenty-mile section is divided into stations and sections. A station means 100 feet, and the sections are one mile in extent, and number from 1 to 20.

Messrs Hale & Smith who have the contract for the whole twenty miles will sub let the work to a number of others giving them each certain stations or sections to grade. The first grading is now being done by Contractor Blusher who has section number 10, near James Woodman's place on Discovery bay. He has about twenty teams and fifty or sixty men at work. His camp is near Woodman's.

Messrs Peters & Brooks have a contract for three sections and are now getting their plant into shape to commence grading. Their sections are between Keymes and Port Townsend and their headquarters will be at Irving Park. The plant is a large one having nearly 200 head of horses and mules and all the necessary scrapers, tools, camp outfit, etc. They will employ between 300 and 500 men. They are now making preparations and are daily receiving supplies and men. By next Monday they expect to have things moving at a lively rate.

Messrs. Hitchcock & Frazer, of Seattle, have a contract for sections 10 and 11. These sections lie between Woodman's and the head of Discovery bay. They are also getting into shape to commence active work, and are receiving supplies and men to begin.

It is expected that a large number of subcontracts for grading will be let soon and before a month has passed the Quimper peninsula will be the scene of the greatest activity ever witnessed here.

The work of clearing the right of way has been going on for some time and is still being pushed by a crew of men. This work has nothing to do with the grading contracts, being a separate division of the construction.

The work to be done upon the terminal grounds in this city is now under consideration, and plans for great improvements are being made as rapidly as possible. Messrs. McKillen & Kerr, of Seattle, have a contract to construct a large wharf for the railroad company. The building of this wharf will be the first step in the work of improving the flats. The wharf will be large enough to accommodate all the inland and ocean traffic of the Oregon Improvement Company. Warehouses will be built. Work is to be commenced on the hotel building in the Eisenbeis addition, to cost $100 000, before the end of this month. Contractors are now figuring on the job of draining and filling in the flats, and it is expected that contracts will soon be let for that work.

A FIRE BRIGADE.

A Satisfactory Organization Effected at Anacortes.

ANACORTES April 6.—[Special Correspondence.]—At the monster meeting held last night in the interests of the fire brigade, J. B Fithian was elected president, F G Wilson, chief the fire brigade; W H Townsend, assistant chief; Gordon Bright, foreman; H D. Allison, assistant foreman; John M. Piatt (banker), treasurer; L D Dorsey, secretary.

The matter of naming the company was referred to the committee on constitution and by-laws.

The following were appointed a committee to prepare an entertainment and ball for the benefit of the department: Messrs T. S Wilson, R P Minter and Captain Frank Worth. Tuesday night was fixed as the regular meeting night of the brigade.

The following arrivals are registered today at the Hotel Notar: A Bush, Tacoma; J. F. Cutler, Portland; Geo. W Evans, Snohomish; F. H. Morris, Colfax; H Lankeder, Washington, D C, Paul Nittons, J. P. Poget C Rath, P. Gibbons, Seattle; H. P. Lauckton, W. Bath and wife, J. N. Prather and H C Moore.

A mass meeting of the citizens takes place to-night at the Arcade building, for the purpose of nominating a justice of the peace for Anacortes, and to consider other business tending towards the incorporation of the city.

A wrestling match came off this afternoon between the Jap and Cameron, the latter being declared the winner and securing the purse of $200, in less than eleven minutes.

To-morrow another event in the sporting world will come off. This is to be a running match of one mile for a purse of $500, between Taglor and some unknown.

Methodists Alarmed by Catholic Growth.

NEW YORK, April 9.—The Methodist Episcopal conference has petitioned congress to continue educational aid to such states as will accept the same. Complete legal prohibition was indorsed. The conference indorsed the establishment of a Methodist university, in order to counteract the ambitious enterprise of papal aggrandizement at Washington.

WEST PORTLAND HEIGHTS

Lies High and Level, and Is Mostly Cleared.

There is not a broken lot in the whole tract, and you can ride for 5 cents, by the first of July, 1890, on the West Portland motor line. There is plenty of good spring water on this tract.

This property is on the business side of the river and there will be three motor lines within eighteen months out in this direction.

We will offer lots, for a short time only, from $50 upwards, $5 down and $2 50 per month without interest, and will give 10 per cent. off for cash, and 20 per cent. off if parties buy a whole block.

Buy one of these lots, or more, and you will get from $800 to $1200 for it in from three to five years.

You can buy a quarter block of 10 lots for $40 down, and $20 per month.

There are lots of houses and a church and schoolhouse within a few blocks of this tract, also two new stores.

LOTS $50 AND UPWARDS.

West Portland Heights is not 500 yards from West Portland Park Addition where they are selling twenty five foot lots for $100 and $150.

We offer these prices for a short time only, so you had better send for one of our fine maps at once and purchase before they rise.

Lots on sand hills in San Francisco, eight or nine years ago sold for $50, are worth from $6000 to $9000 to-day. Always buy on the business side of the river.

There will be more money made in real estate in Portland, within the next five years, than in any city on the Pacific coast. She is the terminus of five transcontinental railroads, also the main line of the Hunt system of railways with a large number of short lines. She has also a line of fine steamers to San Francisco, Puget sound, Gray's harbor and Alaska, and a new line running to Japan.

Her exports by sea is about $20,000,000 annually. Her wholesale trade is $150,000,000 annually. Her annual output from factories is over $20,000,000. There will be over $11,000 000 of building, including a fine custom house, costing $500,000, and a city hall, costing $700,000, erected this year also a union depot to cost $1,000,000.

Portland has the largest and finest water power in the world.

Without doubt her population will be 250,000 within two years.

She has the finest farming country at her doors, and is one of the greatest cities for productions of stock fish, fruit, lumber and wheat.

Her mines are unequaled by any others.

There is no surer place to speculate than in Portland. Now is your chance to get a home. You will not get the same opportunity to get a home at the figures we offer again.

West Portland Heights is not 500 yards from West Portland Park addition, where they are selling 25 foot lots for $150.

This property is within a short distance of the largest iron and steel works in Oregon.

It will pay you to write to us at once, as there is no suburb to Portland like West Portland Heights. We have given two lots to the Norwegian M E church, two lots to the Presbyterian church two lots to the M. E. church, and two lots to the Catholic church. Also four lots for a schoolhouse.

We now offer all of those blocks numbered from 21 to 40 for sale. First-class title guaranteed; We have the best investments on this coast. Don't forget the place.

DON'T FORGET THE TOWN IS GOING SOUTH

We have also excellent bargains in Astoria, Vancouver, Olympia, New Westminster and in New Seattle, British Columbia.

SAN FRANCISCO MARKETS.

Potatoes in Heavy Supply—Eggs Rapidly Going Down—Onions Strong.

SAN FRANCISCO, April 9.—[Special Telegram.]—At the present writing cereals are doing well. There has been some excitement in barley during the last day or two, and prices have risen to 90 and 92½c for for feed and 95c to $1 07½ for brewing. These prices are $1 50 per ton higher than those ruling last week. Wheat is firm and in fair demand, at a fractional advance. Millers report a satisfactory trade in flour, though the market is not as active as it has been. Exports of wheat and flour reduced to a wheat basis thus far this crop year amount to 13,663,000 centals, valued at $17,922,000, against 12,956,300 centals, valued at $19,477,000, during the same period the last crop year. Oats have been concentrated into strong hands, and prices have been marked up about $1 50 per ton during the week. They are very firm at the close, with slender offerings.

Potatoes continue the feature of the produce market. Receipts from the East the past four weeks amount to several hundred carloads, and the market is now heavily stocked. Prices have declined from $2 25 and $2 90 the ruling quotation several weeks ago to $1 25 and $2 50 for the same descriptions. Nothing saves the potato market from demoralization but the remarkable lateness of new potatoes, which will not arrive sufficiently to affect the old stock for some little time yet. Still, as it is, the market is very shaky.

Onions are stiff at sharp recovery, arrivals having been meager of late, and choice are now selling at $8 per cental. Good onions are scarce and mostly in the hands of jobbers. A number of consignments from Australia are expected on Saturday's steamer.

Hops are neglected, in sympathy with the depressed market at New York, where a decline has recently occurred.

There is nothing new in wool. The spring clip is coming forward steadily, and meets fair demand at unchanged prices.

The butter market is weak and heavily stocked. It is hard to keep stocks down to a manageable point even by free packing. Eggs have been going down nearly all the week. As soon as the Easter demand was satisfied the inquiry abruptly ceased, but receipts did not, and as renewed shipments from the East are looked for daily the market has broken.

Canned salmon has moved off more freely of late, and dealers now report cheaper grades well cleaned up. Prices are low, but speculation is dead, and there is little or no talk about futures.

British Deceived in Brewery Profits.

DETROIT, April 9.—[Pacific Postal Special.]—An English syndicate, headed by Mr. Seton Karr, of Liverpool, a year ago bought out the Detroit brewing establishments of A. G. Goebel, Jacob Mann, Anton Michenfelder and Charles Endriss, paying $800 000 therefor. The negotiations were prolonged on the refusal of the parties to take their share of securities, but the Englishmen were so persistent that they finally paid cash to two brewers. The development of the business failed to bear out the audit and prospectus, and to-day the English holders through Mr. Seton Karr, who came over here as their attorney, sold out the four breweries to a Detroit syndicate composed of the local directors of the concern and the original owners. The English investors sell out at a heavy loss, the loss being sufficient, it is reported, to make the investment in common stock of the English corporation a total loss.

The Northern Pacific Recalls Its Surveyors.

TACOMA, April 9.—[Special Telegram.]—Engineer Huson, of the Northern Pacific, stated that he has no information as to why the Northern Pacific surveyors were recalled from Lake Washington last week. He was telegraphed to from St. Paul to recall them, and did so. Whether the work of surveying the line to the northern part of the state has been given up entirely or only indefinitely postponed he does not know. Mr. Huson is now calling for bids for the construction of eighteen miles of railroad from Durham northward through the mining part to the head of Raging river. The extension will reach very nearly to the line of the Seattle, Lake Shore & Eastern railroad at Falls City. The bids are to be opened on the 15th instant, and the contract will call for the completion of the extension before the rainy season sets in next fall.

INSTANT RELIEF.

Ed. R. Schweier Permanently Cured of Catarrh, Throat and Lung Trouble in Seven Short Weeks, After All Other Doctors and Medicines Failed.

WRITES HIS OWN TESTIMONIAL.

He Cheerfully Testifies to the Magic Skill of Dr. Aborn, the Successful Eye, Ear, Catarrh, Throat, Heart and Lung Physician, and Asks to Be Referred to.

HE HAD DEFERRED HOPE.

Portland, Or., April 7, 1890.

Ed. R. Schweier, being duly sworn, deposes and says:

I hereby certify that I have been SERIOUSLY AFFLICTED WITH LUNG TROUBLE which I have had for nearly two years. I have tried various doctors and medicines without any permanent relief. Seven weeks ago to-day I applied to Dr. Aborn, Fourth and Morrison streets, Portland, whose medicines GAVE ME INSTANT RELIEF, and I have been gaining steadily since. I also had nasal catarrh in the most aggravated form, of which the doctor also gave me instant relief, and now I consider myself PERMANENTLY CURED of it. I think that Dr. Aborn's treatment had almost a magical effect in my case, and I take great pleasure in recommending others similarly affected. When I applied to Dr Aborn I was in almost a hopeless condition. I can be seen and referred to at any time at the City Creamery, corner Third and Taylor streets, Portland. ED R. SCHWEIER.

Sworn to before me this 7th day of April, 1890.
[Seal.] W. W. ROBERTS, Notary Public.

That NASAL CATARRH, the great precursor of Throat, Bronchial and Lung Diseases, including Consumption, can be radically cured is no longer a matter of controversy, as has been time and again demonstrated by Dr Aborn. He can refer to cases he treated fifteen to twenty five years ago, which have remained permanently cured up to the present time. He can refer to the most aggravated cases of catarrh of forty years' standing that he permanently cured. He can also refer to the most marvelous cures he has effected since his recent return to Portland.

Note—Dr. Aborn can be consulted daily from 10 to 12 A. M., 2 to 4 and 6 30 to 8 P. M. Offices and Laboratory, Fourth and Morrison Streets, Portland, Or.

"For years I have been afflicted with bad Digestion, Constipation and Piles. I have tried all the medicines I could get hold of, but all in vain. Even my physicians could not relieve my costiveness. In the meantime I struggled under great pain. Life was a burden. Two weeks ago I saw the Chicago "Times," and my eye fell on an advertisement of Tutt's Pills. I decided to try them. They have worked wonderfully. They keep me regular, don't make me sick, give me an appetite and are curing my piles. I am strong and can walk any distance. If I had had these pills five years ago they would have saved me $10,000; but they have saved my life. Let the afflicted everywhere know their value, which is beyond expression."

KINDNESS TO ANIMALS.

The Tenth Annual Entertainment of the Oregon Humane Society.

An Evening With the Pupils of the Public Schools at the Tabernacle—Prize Essays and Class Exercises.

The tenth annual entertainment of the Oregon Humane Society was given at the Tabernacle last evening. The large auditorium, as well as the galleries, were filled when W. T. Shanahan, master of ceremonies, called the house to order. Rev. T. L. Eliot in a few well chosen words asked the little ones, who were largely represented, to preserve order throughout the evening.

The exercises opened with the song, "American Hymn," by the pupils of the High school, Mrs. Mitchell, music instructress of the public schools, leading. Rev. Father Gibney then offered prayer. The reading of the Scriptures was omitted, owing to the absence of Rev. Dr. Bloch, to whom this duty had been assigned.

The next thing on the programme was a violin solo by Master Alfred Holt. He played Dancla's beautiful composition, "Romance et Bolero," and then, in response to a persistent encore, rendered "Canzanella," by Godard. Both of these selections were played with the feeling and perfect fingering of a maestro, and the youthful Ole Bull deserved all the applause so generously bestowed upon him.

Rev. T. L. Eliot, president of the society, then made a few remarks explanatory of the purport of the exercises of the evening and the objects of the society. He paid fitting compliments to several of the most active workers in the society, and thanked the public for the interest taken in the work.

Master Ray Steel was the next one to step up on the platform. He recited "Ranger," a skit in which a faithful dog is the hero, in a manner to elicit the applause of the entire audience. He spoke in a clear, loud voice, and his Demosthenian gestures were both apt and appropriate.

After the singing of "Oh, the Joy of Spring" by the pupils of the high school the first three prize essays were read.

Grace Eliot, of the North school, had chosen for her subject "Insects," Gertrude Pratt, of the Falling school, was interested in "Domestic Animals," and Ina B. Chance, of the Falling school, told all she knew about "The Dog as a Protector." The two former tied for the first prize. All of the essays were well written and showed careful work.

The audience was then favored with an instrumental quartette by the Misses Durham, Akers, Earhart and Shogren. The composition, "Venture a Terre," by Kowalski, was played in perfect time and with good effect.

The fourth prize essay, "My Walk," was read by Jennie Crawford, of the Harrison street school, and then followed the class exercises by the pupils of the Couch school under the direction of Professor J. Burnham. These exercises were the most entertaining ever witnessed on such an occasion, and the efficiency with which they were performed not only reflected great credit upon the pupils but upon the teachers as well.

To the time of a piano the first class marched upon the platform with the fixed step of a small regiment of soldiers, and then, under the leadership of little seven-year-old Lila Barnes, they gave a very pretty exhibition of arm exercises. Three different kinds of arm and shoulder movements (simple and complex) were given in perfect time with the piano.

The next class gave short recitations pertaining to the subject of kindness to animals, and in the third, Bertha Dewy delivered an address to the dog, a crayon portrait of that faithful animal resting on an easel upon the stage.

In the fourth class Carrie Gordon narrated an Alpine story in which the St. Bernard dog was again the hero, and Cora Tramberg and Gertie Eger each gave a brief dissertation on the habits and intelligence of this same faithful beast.

On the whole the class exercises were executed without a break, and the audience evidenced its satisfaction and appreciation by prolonged applause.

The High school "singing birds" sang in "The Woods," and Mrs. H. L. Hawver followed with "It Was Not to Be," a selection by Nessler.

Then came a second installment of prize essays. Phelps Holman, of the Park school, read an essay entitled, "Horses; Their Use and Abuse." Edith Hexter, of the Couch school, followed with the "Evidence of Intelligence in Animals," and Herbert H. Hoyt, of the Atkinson school, read, "The Story of a Nightingale." These compositions, as well as those which preceded near the first part of the programme, were meritorious, and reflected credit on the writers.

Alfred Holt was again brought before the audience with his precious violin. He played Hoff's musical gem entitled "Cavatina."

President Eliot then presented the prizes. The following pupils were presented with nicely framed pictures:

Maud Kenworthy, first prize, Central school, East Portland, "The Three Gleaners."

Ida Botkin, first prize, Mount Tabor school, "Can't You Talk?"

Herbert Hoyt, second prize, Atkinson school, Portland, "Looking Out for a Safe Investment."

Edith Hexter, second prize, Couch school, Portland, "The Pasture."

Aina B. Chance, second prize, Falling school, Portland, "The Ferryman's Daughter."

Grace Eliot, first prize, Atkinson school, Portland, "His Only Friend."

Gertrude Pratt, first prize, Falling school, "Sheep Pasturing," and Charles Darling, first prize, Stephens school, East Portland.

Ray Steel, for his masterly oration, was presented with a picture entitled "Et la Mer Moutait Toujours."

The rest of the prize pupils whose names have already been published were presented with books. The song "Good Night" by the pupils of the High school closed the exercises of the evening.

Those who were awarded prizes and have not already received them can find them in Mr. Shanahan's music store in the Ainsworth block.

5 PER CENT. GUARANTEED BOND.

Something New.

The Equitable Life Assurance Society of the United States, with assets of $107,150,309 and surplus of $22,821,074, are offering to the public an investment bond on the installment plan, guaranteeing 5 per cent. interest, and in addition a profit of from 60 to 75 per cent. on capital invested.

One advantage of this bond over a government, railroad or state bond is that you pay for it in installments; and should death occur during the payment of these installments, the face value of the bond is paid to the estate and the remaining obligations are canceled.

One word more: As some of our rivals claim their bonds or special contracts are given only to those who will take $50,000 or upwards, we wish to state that the above bond is for sale to any citizen of Oregon who is a good moral and physical risk in amounts from $1000 to $100,000. By calling or writing to the office, full illustrations of the workings of the bond will be furnished.

HOTEL PORTLAND.

The Elegant Appointments of the Pride of the Northwestern Metropolis.

There is no hotel in the United States that is furnished with a special view to the comfort and taste of its guests as is the Portland, just opened. A feature of the new house that will be appreciated by every guest is the barber shop and bathrooms. The entrance to these elegant rooms is on either Morrison or Sixth streets, or through the billiard rooms in the lower floor of the house. The floor of both the barber shop and six large bathrooms is in elegant tile work, perfectly fitted, and it is not asserting too much to say that both these apartments are the finest of any on the coast, if not in the United States. The chairs, seven in number, are arranged on each side of the large room used as a barber shop and are of the very latest pattern, being of the famous Columbia make. The central washstand with the top of genuine Knoxville Tennessee marble is provided with six bowls and as many silver plated faucets. The seating chairs of the room are an exact copy of the real bank of England chairs and are in solid mahogany. The bath rooms are the pride of the house. The tubs themselves are made of solid porcelain, while the tops surrounding the tubs are of genuine Teak wood imported at an enormous cost direct from Siam. Each tub is provided with the double spray, and each tub is large enough for the bather to almost take a swim in if he so desires, the top being about two and one-half feet above the floor. Both the barber shop and bath rooms are provided with electric lights and gas, and tourists who have examined the bath rooms of this house pronounce them the finest public bath rooms in the world.

The proprietors of these rooms, Messrs. Jubitz & Saling, are well known in this city as the proprietors of the famous Portland baths at 51 First street, which these gentlemen have now so successfully conducted for the past twenty-six years. They are both artists in their line, and their policy early adopted in this city of employing only the best men to stand behind their chairs has allowed them to build up the largest trade of any barbers in the city. They are both men of means and deservedly popular in business circles. Messrs. Jubitz & Saling have spent upwards of $10,000 in the furnishing and fitting of their new rooms at the Hotel Portland, and the fact that Portland is to-day able to boast of the most elegant tonsorial parlors in the United States, as well as the finest bath-rooms, all accomplished through the efforts of these enterprising gentlemen, should lead the citizens here to patronize in a most liberal manner these elegant rooms at the big hotel.

TO BE HANGED.

The great decapitation scene in Hanlon's "Fantasma" is one of the most thrilling effects ever produced on the stage. The ghostly knights who are amusing themselves at the expense of Pico, the clown, have ordered the latter's execution. With slow and solemn tread an esquire enters with the block, placing it in the center of the prison cell. He is followed by the executioner carrying the ax. A knight in eloquent pantomime orders the seizure of Pico and his head is placed upon the block. The headsman is ordered to do his work. Slowly and deliberately the ax is raised; with resounding force the blow is struck, and off rolls poor Pico's head. All this in the full glare of the calcium light. Although a vein of fun prevails during the entire act, yet so perfectly is the illusion carried, that during its performance at the Haymarket theater in Chicago, recently, Mons. Pizzarello, the Pico, amid shouts of laughter and applause, was compelled to show himself to the audience before the performance could proceed. William Hanlon, the inventor of the act, has secured it by patent.

HOGS AND COTTON OIL

Representative Negroes Denounce the Compound Lard Bill.

A BLOW AT THE COLORED LABORER

Two Hundred Thousand Blacks Dependent on the Cotton Seed Industry—The Republican Party Warned in Time.

WASHINGTON, April 9.—By request the house committee on agriculture to-day reopened the hearing on the Conger lard compound bill and the Butterworth anti-option bill, both of which have been reported to the house with favorable recommendations. On the first-named bill Messrs. A. ... representing the Georgia Agricultural Association, and J. P. Jones, representing the colored cotton farmers and planters of Alabama, both colored men, made arguments against the measure.

Jones pleaded for protection of the cotton seed industry against the burdens imposed by the bill, on the ground that it had contributed more than anything else to improve the condition of the colored farmer and laborer of the South. To pass this bill, he asserted, would be the entering of the wedge which would separate the colored people from the republican party.

Jones, in the course of his argument, said that if cottonseed oil must be taxed why not tax Western hogs? Why strike down one industry, that another might be protected? The republican party is committed to the policy of protection of American industries, but had it placed in the Chicago platform the singular creed that one industry should be taxed to death that another should be protected the party would have been buried so deep by the weight of public disfavor that Gabriel's trumpet could not have awakened it. The system inaugurated by the republican party of taxing one industry to protect another will be resented by the great mass of people, and the party that unwisely attempts it will be hurled from power.

The democratic party, Jones said, is committed to free trade. If there is anything in their professions, we confidently look to them to defeat this most pernicious measure. This bill, stripped of all disguises, resolves itself into this condition: The Western hog against the Southern negro. Which shall win? There are over 200 oil mills, mostly in the South. They employ nearly 75,000 persons, more than three-fourths of them are colored men. At least three persons rely upon each of these 75,000 for support. Passage of this bill would close up most of these mills and throw thousands of dependent people out of work, and entail hardship and want upon people less able to endure, and all this to protect the Western hog.

NEWS FROM OLYMPIA.

The Governor Tries to Keep Out New Railroads.

OLYMPIA, April 9.—[Special Telegram.]—Governor Ferry has filed his vetoes of senate bill 130, which provides for bridges across navigable streams, etc., and senate bill No. [illegible] granting right of way to railroad companies over lands belonging to the state.

J. M. Cannon and Paul F. Mohr, of Spokane Falls, and Judge W. H. Calkins, E. L. Thompson and Stuart Rice, of Tacoma, were in the city to-day on railroad business.

Chief Engineer Bogue, of the Union Pacific railway, will arrive in the city to-morrow, and will be the guest of Senator N. H. Owings. Assistant Engineer Kennedy has been here all week.

The governor to-day appointed the following commissioners to select a site for the state reform school: James Powers, of Vancouver; Joseph Nesbitt, of Goldendale, and Patrick Crosby, of Centralia.

State Auditor T. M. Reed left for Portland this morning.

A CHRISTIAN UNIVERSITY.

Educational Enterprise of the Disciples of Christ in Washington.

ELLENSBURGH, April 7.—[Special Correspondence.]—The Christian church, known also as the Disciples of Christ, are quite strong in Washington, being the second largest Protestant religious body in the state. At their annual state convention, held at Waitsburg, October 10, 1889, the following gentlemen were appointed as a committee on education to consider the feasibility of founding an institution of learning: T. F. Walden, chairman, Waitsburg; Neal Cheatham, Dayton; W. F. Cowden, Colfax; E. C. Sanderson, Colfax (now of Ellensburgh); A. J. Hodges, Ellensburgh. The committee met in the city of Ellensburgh April 3, 1890. All were present, and after a full and free conference the following measures were decided upon:

1. That in view of our numerical strength and the pressing needs of our people in the great Northwest, a university or college of high order be established in the state of Washington as soon as possible.

2. This institution to be located at any suitable place where the greatest financial inducements are offered.

3. A building to cost not less than $50,000 to be erected, work to be begun within six months after the location of said institution is agreed upon, and the building to be completed in two years.

4. We further pledge ourselves to open and maintain a first-class school in this building as soon as it is completed.

5. That an opportunity be at once given to all the thriving towns of our state to make offers looking to the securing of such location.

6. All communications looking to the matter of the location of this institution should be addressed to F. Walden, Waitsburg, or the secretary, E. C. Sanderson, Ellensburg.

T. F. Walden, Neal Cheatham, W. F. Cowden, E. C. Sanderson, A. J. Hodges, committee.

VANCOUVER NEWS.

Funeral of Mrs. Rice—The Citizens Excited Over Proposed Railroad Building.

VANCOUVER, Wash., April 9.—[Special Correspondence.]—The funeral ceremonies over the remains of the late Mrs. N. K. Rice, who died here Wednesday morning of consumption, were conducted to-day at St. James cathedral according to the solemn ritual of the Catholic church, and were witnessed by a large number of friends and acquaintances.

At an adjourned meeting held to-day the trustees of the Columbia Land and Improvement Company of Vancouver elected the following officers to serve for the ensuing year: President, General John Gibbon, U. S. A.; vice president, Hon. P. C. McFarlane; secretary and treasurer, Hon. L. Sohns; manager, Mr. L. M. ...

There is considerable excitement in Vancouver over the news contained in to-day's Oregonian that the Union Pacific seriously contemplates bridging the Columbia at Vancouver, and everybody is hopeful that the town will soon develop a phenomenal growth.

News From Colfax.

COLFAX, April 9.—[Special Telegram.]—Three tramps were arrested here last night, one of whom proved to be an escaped prisoner from Spokane Falls.

... T. Long, representing the Pauly Jail Company, was awarded to-day the contract to furnish the cells for the county jail, for $12,000. A contract was let to Mr. White to complete the courthouse for $30,000, making the total contracts let to date for the courthouse and jail $85,000, the whole to be completed August 1.

FOUR HANGED IN PENNSYLVANIA.

Three Committed Murder on Account of Women—One Died Cursing.

EASTON, Pa., April 9.—William H. Bartholomew was hanged here this morning for the murder of Aaron W. Dilliard, near Berlinsville, on September 6 last. They owned neighboring farms. Bartholomew was intimate with Mrs. Dilliard. Together they concocted a plan to get Dilliard to go out of the house at night to look after the cause of a disturbance among his chickens, when Bartholomew shot him. Mrs. Dilliard made a full confession, and was sentenced to prison for life.

Bartholomew's neck was broken by the fall. Although Bartholomew threatened to give the sheriff trouble and fight to the last, he walked to the scaffold quietly, with a firm step. After all the arrangements were completed he declared himself innocent; then he began damning his accusers, demanding that Detective Johnson and his paramour, Mrs. Dilliard, be also hanged. His last words were mixed with violent oaths and blasphemous language.

WAYNESBURG, Pa., April 9.—Zach Taylor was hanged here this morning for the murder of William McCausland, a drover of Allegheny. The murder was committed for the purposes of robbery. George Clark, Taylor's brother-in-law, was executed a few weeks ago for participation in the same crime. On the scaffold he reiterated his innocence.

BELLEFONTE, Pa., April 9.—Alfred James Andrews was hanged here this morning for the murder of 17-year old Clara Price, on November 27 last, after attempting to ravish her.

EDINBURG, Pa., April 9.—Charles Carter, colored, was hanged here to-day, for the murder of John Matthews, also colored, in a house of ill-fame, during a quarrel about a disreputable woman. The killing occurred November 3d.

California Judicial System Deranged.

SAN FRANCISCO, April 9.—A circular has just been issued by the California State Bar Association, which contains an address by Ex-Judge Thomas P. Stoney, president. President Stoney states that well-founded dissatisfaction with the condition of the law and with the mode of its administration in this state prevails widely. He says there is deplorable uncertainty as to what the law is, owing to want of harmony in the opinions of justices composing the supreme court, and added to this condition of affairs there is intolerable delay in obtaining justice in the ordinary course of judicial proceedings. He declares that if the evils complained of are as serious as they are claimed to be the only adequate remedy will be in thorough organization of the system by amendment of the constitution. The president announced that the executive committee deems it advisable to have a thorough discussion of the subject of judicial reform at the annual meeting of the association May 5 next, and invites the attention of all the members to the subject.

The Southern Oregon Presbytery.

JACKSONVILLE, April 9.—[Special Telegram.]—A stated meeting of the Southern Oregon Presbytery convened in the Presbyterian church last evening. The retiring moderator, Rev. R. McLean, of Grant's Pass, preached the introductory sermon. Permanent organization was effected. Rev. J. R. N. Bell was chosen moderator by acclamation. Home missions were considered at length this morning, and revision was ably and eloquently discussed this afternoon, the vote on it being deferred as the second order of business to-morrow. The presbytery accepted an invitation of the citizens of Jacksonville to visit at 5 P. M. the site of the school which will be tendered in the event of its location in Jacksonville. The session is harmonious and well attended, and deep interest is manifested in the decision of locating the seminary, which has been made a special order for Thursday evening.

The Charleston Equipped for Sea.

SAN FRANCISCO, April 9.—The United States cruiser Charleston, the flagship of the Pacific station, which has been at Mare Island navy yard taking on her armament and stores since her trial trip last August, left the navy yard early this evening, and steamed down the bay to this city, where she anchored in the stream. The Charleston will pass out of the Golden Gate to-morrow morning, and have a run of six hours for a trial of her engines, for the benefit of the inspection board. She will return here to-morrow evening and remain until Saturday morning, when she will leave for Santa Barbara, remaining away a week or ten days, during which time her guns will be tested. She will then return to San Francisco and remain in the harbor here until May 5, when it is expected that she will start on a regular cruise to South American ports.

California Retail Lumber Trust.

SAN FRANCISCO, April 9.—A convention of retail lumber dealers met at the rooms of the chamber of commerce in this city to-day. Representatives were present from almost every lumber section of the state. The purpose of the convention, announced in a call recently, is for mutual protection of legitimate trade, and to enforce the principle that the wholesale and retail branches of the lumber business are separate and distinct, and to resist the policy of wholesale dealers in their efforts to encroach upon the rights of retail lumbermen. W. W. Starberd was elected president, and H. Rogers secretary. After the appointment of committees the convention took a recess. The visiting lumbermen were given a banquet this evening.

Irrigation of Yakima Sage Lands.

NORTH YAKIMA, April 9.—[Special Telegram.]—Farmers met yesterday and petitioned the county commissioners to form an irrigation district under the new Wright law, making the acreage 75,000 instead of 45,000, as at first proposed. This is an important move here, as it makes an extensive tract tributary to the town. There is a rush for government land in the district covered. The cost as estimated by engineers here is $4 per acre for putting water on the land. This, added to the cost of $2 an acre for clearing the sage-brush, makes a cost of $7 an acre for clearing and putting water on the land here, with hops, alfalfa and fruit possible here as a sure crop. This is the first application of the new irrigation law.

California Prohibition Convention.

SAN FRANCISCO, April 9.—The state convention of the prohibition party met here to-day, and was called to order by Rev. George Morris, chairman of the executive committee. An attempt was made to call the roll, but a general clamor arose, as several delegates objected to proceeding until a regular presiding officer was chosen. Finally one member proposed the name of General John Bidwell, of Chico, for chairman, and a motion to that effect was carried. A. J. Waterhouse, of Stockton, was elected secretary. The chairman then appointed a committee on credentials, and the convention took a recess.

Richmond Democrats Indicted.

RICHMOND, Va., April 9.—The United States circuit court grand jury to-day indicted Preston Belvin, president of the Powhattan Club, A. M. Smith, jr., nominee for commonwealth attorney, A. B. Guigon, E. C. Tate and others for combining to delay and prevent voting in the First precinct of Jackson ward at the election held November 6, 1889, for members of congress. All the parties are democrats.

DUTY OF A RAILROAD.

Address of President Huntington of the Southern Pacific.

NO INTERFERENCE IN POLITICS

A Well-Managed Concern Should Be Popular—The Policy of Building Branches to Be Continued.

SAN FRANCISCO, April 9.—The annual meeting of the stockholders of the Southern Pacific Company was held at Fourth and Townsend streets to-day. The meeting was called at 10 o'clock and did not adjourn until after 2 this afternoon. The following directors were elected: C. P. Huntington, Leland Stanford, Charles F. Crocker, Thomas E. Stillman, T. H. Hubbard, A. N. Towne, J. C. Stubbs, E. H. Miller, jr., S. J. Gage, W. V. Huntington and W. E. Brown. The new board of directors then met and elected officers as follows: President, C. P. Huntington; first vice-president, C. F. Crocker, second vice-president, A. N. Towne; third vice-president, J. C. Stubbs. Mr. Huntington presented an address accepting the office of president. In his address he said:

Gentlemen of the Board of Directors of the Southern Pacific Company: I thank you for the honor you have done me in electing me president of the Southern Pacific Company, for it is an honor to be head of the executive department of this great corporation, with its 7500 miles and over of railroad, and with its $150,000,000 of capital, and I promise you that I will be as true to the interests of the company in the future as I have been in the past. I can promise nothing more, for at all times my personal interest has been second to that of the company. It shall be so in the future, and in no case will I use this great company to advance personal ambition at the expense of its owners, or put my hand into its treasury to defeat the people's choice and thereby put myself in positions that should be filled by others, but to the best of my ability will I work for the interest of the shareholders of the company and the people whom it should serve.

This company, if properly controlled, can be made to advance very largely the best interest of the states, and that, too, without doing injustice to its owners, for their interest could not be better served than by building branches into all the beautiful valleys of California and the other states and territories through which its lines have been extended, for in so doing it will not only bring profit and gladness to thousands of people, but business to the main line of the company, which means more money to the treasury. It will certainly be a great satisfaction to your president, and also should to every officer and employe of the company, to know that while we are all working for ourselves, the public who use the roads of the company are more benefited than we.

But, gentlemen, the best results cannot be brought about unless every officer of the company gives his best attention to the care of the company's interests, which can be best done without interfering in political affairs. The people are everywhere jealous of great corporations. Let us conduct this company so that all good people will be with us. If this is not done your president will certainly be on the side of the people. Corporations should not be used to advance the interests of this party or that, or to raise up any one man or pull down another, and this corporation shall not be so used henceforth for any such purpose if its president can help it, but he will do all he can to bring the property to the highest standard of efficiency at a minimum cost, not forgetting that there is a withholding that leadeth to poverty.

BOISE CITY'S BOOM.

The Idaho Capital is Experiencing Unprecedented Advancement.

BOISE CITY, Idaho, April 9.—[Special Correspondence.]—This solid and conservative town never dreamed of such a boom in real estate as it is now receiving. Take as an instance: The lot corner of Eighth and Idaho was offered your correspondent six months ago for $2500; it has now sold for $5590. More than fifty transfers have been made in the last six days at proportionate advances. Residence lots dull and slow of sale last fall at $750, are largely sought at $1500. On Main street the rise is fully 150 per cent. The Baptist church people are demoralized by an offer of $9000 for their building site, 100x122, corner of Idaho and Ninth, and are bewildered with the question where to go if they sell. The property was reluctantly valued at $3000 eighteen months ago. One of our county officers sold his private residence recently for $5000, but on attempting to find a house in which to move his family, was astonished to ascertain that there is not a vacant dwelling in Boise City.

Messrs. Clark and Hays, brokers, have attempted to relieve the pressure by platting twelve acres in the suburbs—it cost them $100 per acre, and was worth but $150 per acre a year ago—but it will not supply the demand a single week. An investment company has purchased the adjoining 20 acres, and is negotiating for thirty acres more at $500 per acre. Two hundred acres were contracted for on the north side of the city on the 5th at $500 per acre; this land has never before been estimated above $200 per acre and part of it is an old brick yard, worth perhaps $40 per acre. Lemp's new hotel, 100 feet front on Main street, not yet finished, is offered at $100,000; yesterday $75,000 was refused but "Kaiser John" will get his price.

While a good deal of this sudden advance comes from outside influence, that is, that the judgment of outsiders leads them to offer much higher prices for Boise real estate than local buyers have been paying—still most of the sales which have matured into cash, transfers have been based on local capital. People are waking up to the grand possibilities of the capital of the state of Idaho. Now that half a million dollars is changing hands on the basis of confidence in Boise's future, the growlers have concluded to take to the caves and jungles.

FOR THE RAILROAD.

The New Locomotives to Arrive Shortly at Anacortes.

ANACORTES, April 7.—[Special Correspondence.]—The locomotives for the railway company are expected to reach the city to-morrow and active preparations are being made to receive them.

The steamer J. E. Brittain arrived this morning from Roche Harbor, with a cargo of lime, consisting of about 2500 barrels, all of which is urgently required for the numerous buildings now under contract here.

The citizens' committee, organized some six weeks ago, will hold an important meeting next Wednesday at 8 P. M.

Notification has been received that there are eager inquiries East about Anacortes, and the publication in the New York Sun, which so ably portrays the island of Fidalgo and its resources, has no doubt opened the eyes of many to the fact that Anacortes is destined to be the great commercial center of Puget sound. Nature has given her all the advantages and human ingenuity will supply the balance.

The organization of a gentleman's club in Anacortes is on the tapis—an institution much needed and which will, no doubt, be largely patronized.

A committee, composed of Messrs. Ecale, Fife, Whitney, Munks and Gray, are canvassing among property holders for subscriptions toward the Northern Pacific railway subsidy, and they will undoubtedly meet with that hearty response for which the citizens of Anacortes are so justly noted. The turning point in the history of the city has arrived, and it remains with the people of Anacortes to say whether the most aggressive and progressive of the great transcontinental lines of the continent shall come here or not.

PLENTY OF FARMS IN THE EAST.

The Vision of New Jersey Farmers Bounded by the Horizon.

TRENTON, N. J., April 9.—The joint committee of the legislature to remedy the present agricultural depression of New Jersey have agreed upon a memorial to congress. It insists on demonitization of silver as one of the causes of depression. It also inveighs against the opening up of further public lands to be given away to foreign syndicates and immigrants, when there are plenty of farms in the East to be cultivated.

The memorial opposes irrigation by the government for the purpose of helping Western farms, and asks congress to turn its attention for awhile to farms in the East. Trusts are condemned, as are concerns which control Western beef and similar industries. The evils of adulterated food and its dangerous competition with honest farm products is set forth.

EASTERN OREGON POLITICS.

That Section Will Insist Upon Recognition in the Distribution of Offices.

LA GRANDE, April 8.—[Special Correspondence.]—The recent strategic move made by W. H. McDonal, cashier of the La Grande National bank, by which a strong alliance of the banking interests of Union county has been cemented together, is rapidly developing into more significance than was at first supposed, and bids fair to be the precursor of a still more remarkable master stroke at the coming republican state convention. Mr. McDonald disclaims any political issues as being at stake, but nevertheless it is a generally conceded fact that some very recent and remarkable moves have been made on the political checker board of Union county, which may redound to the interest of the republican party and by which many of the most prominent and influential republicans of Eastern Oregon are combining to demand a more marked recognition, but for what particular office cannot as yet be ascertained, but is pretty generally surmised.

This mysterious undercurrent of power was very strongly felt at the republican primaries in Baker, Wallowa and Union counties, and demonstrates the fact that there are cool, careful and calculating men now manipulating affairs east of the Blue mountains. It is a praiseworthy fact that perhaps never before in the political history of this part of Oregon has there been a more earnest and positive determination on the part of our best citizens to insist that the state honors be more geographically divided among just and efficient candidates. For once there will be a representation from east of the Blue mountains in attendance on the republican state convention, to whom other parts of the state may look for advice and counsel without depending solely upon petty politicians and ward schemers for advice.

Miss Jessie G. Baker, La Grande's new postmistress, has obtained permission from the department at Washington to remove the postoffice from its present location, and we understand it is to be removed to the building on Adams avenue, formerly occupied by Miss E. A. Wilson as a millinery shop. There is some objection to the move, but not sufficient to cause any particular disturbance.

M. M. Woods, a machinist and electric expert, is now here, and is busy putting the machinery of the electric plant into position. The machinery is to be started up next Friday, and Friday night the city is to be lighted up for the first time by electricity.

The East Oregon Presbytery, which has been in session at this place for some days past, adjourned yesterday, and prior to adjournment the question of revision of the confession of faith of the Presbyterian church was taken up, and the Presbytery decided in favor of revision.

BROWNSVILLE NOTES.

Growth of the Old and New Industries of This Thriving Town.

BROWNSVILLE, Or., April 7.—[Special correspondence.]—The weather is still cold and damp and so much rain keeps falling that farmers cannot do their usual spring work, but grass and grain is growing finely.

The Eagle flouring mill of this city is shipping flour by the car load down the valley, showing a decided increase of their trade over former years.

Our woolen mills have used up their supply of wool, so the sorters are idle for a short time, but they will soon have a new supply. These mills are turning out quantities of goods this season of a superior quality and finish, and are doing a good trade again all over the coast.

Last week Mr. J. M. Waters and several of our citizens returned from a visit to Seattle, and Messrs. Waters and Morelock of this city have entered into an agreement to build a flouring mill at Seattle this coming summer, for which they are to receive a bonus of $20,000 and two acres of land.

Mr. H. B. Moyer and a crew of loggers are now engaged in hauling logs into the creek above town, using in the business a portable steam engine. Speaking of timber, there is the largest body of timber up the valley of the Calipooia, just above this town, that can be found in the state, including both building and furniture material, and with our water power here there is the grandest opening for a furniture factory to be found on this coast, and then, too, there are thousands upon thousands of pounds of fruits and berries that rot on the ground every year for want of a cannery here.

Calipoola Lodge, No. 43, I. O. O. F., of this city, is making preparations for a grand celbration and picnic here on the 26th inst., and a fence is being built around the Washburn grove, in South Brownsville, making it the best grove in the county for a pleasant gathering. Music and speakers have been engaged, and it is expected a large crowd will be in attendance.

Mr. B. F. Childs of Prineville has rented the Sanders property and will be here in a few days with his family. He has recently purchased the McDowell property, north of town, comprising some 3000 acres, and will immediately put on a large band of sheep.

Mr. Thomas Kay, of the woolen mills at Salem, is visiting old friends here for a few days. Mr. Kay is the founder of the woolen mills of this place, and is now proprietor and chief manager of the new mills at Salem, and his many friends here, while sorry to lose him as a citizen, will be pleased to hear of his success in his great undertaking at the capital city. He has still a large farm almost joining this city, and considerable real estate in and around town.

The family of Mr. F. F. Croft has just moved to Albany. Mr. Croft is another man who was associated with Mr. Kay in the woolen mills of this place, and he, too, has departed for Albany to engage in the woolen manufacturing business.

Mr. A. O. Ecleson, chief engineer of the S. P. R. R., spent several days in our city the past week in the interest of that company, and has a party of surveyors coming up the narrow gauge making some important changes, and with the widening of this road into a standard gauge and a prospect of a standard gauge to Corvallis and a railroad up the river to this vast timber and mineral belt we look for lively times this summer in this part of the world.

Mrs. R. A. Sanders departed for Chico, Cal., last week, as her brother there is lying at the point of death.

Mrs. R. N. Thompson and two children also departed for a six weeks' visit to her parents in San Francisco.

For low rates, excellent accommodations and all the features that constitute a successful and enjoyable trip to the East, take the Northern Pacific railroad. OREGON PRESBYTERY.

Discussion of the Westminster Confession of Faith.

MAJORITY IN FAVOR OF REVISION

The Older Ministers Generally Opposed to It, But the Younger Members of the Clergy Outnumber Them.

Presbytery assembled at 9 o'clock A. M., and spent the first half hour in worship conducted by Rev. E. J. Thompson, D. D., of Corvallis. At 9:30 Dr. Landon, the moderator, took the chair. The session was formally opened with prayer by Rev. Robert Robe, of Brownsville. Mr. Robe is the only minister in Oregon of those who organized the presbytery in November 1853. The roll call showed forty-three members present.

Rev. J. R. Wilson, D. D., was received as a member of presbytery from the presbytery of Iowa.

The following new churches were reported and ordered enrolled: Newberg, Dallas and Woodburn.

Revs. P. C. Hetzler and G. Knox, of the United Brethren church, were present and were invited to sit as corresponding members.

The reading of the minutes of the autumn meeting of presbytery occupied about half an hour, and served to refresh the memory of the presbyters. The permanent clerk then read the minutes of the opening session. They were corrected and approved.

Four candidates for the Gospel ministry presented themselves, viz: Messrs. Plummer, Clark, Jones and Beatty. Two of these men are connected with the First church of Portland, one with the St. John's church, Portland, and one with the First church.

Oregon City was chosen as the place for holding the autumn meeting in October.

The church of Lebanon presented a call for the pastoral services of Rev. A. Marcellus, who is now serving the church at Oakland, Or. A committee on church property was appointed, in obedience to instructions of the last general assembly.

An amendment to the standing rules was proposed, making the autumn meeting occur on the Monday preceding the meeting of the synod, instead of the Tuesday preceding that meeting.

Rev. W. O. Forbes's resignation as permanent clerk was accepted.

The discussion of the enlargement of the home missionary committee was made the special order for Thursday morning.

The presbytery proceeded to the examination of the candidates for the ministry, principally as to their personal religious experience and motives for entering the ministry. The candidates were excused at the close of a satisfactory examination. They were received under the care of the presbytery by a unanimous vote.

A commission of five was appointed to direct the studies of Mr. Beatty, and to examine Mr. Haberly upon his return, with a view to reception under care of the presbytery.

At the recess an excellent lunch was spread by the ladies of the First church, in the parlors. At 2 o'clock the session was resumed, and the report of the committee on the overtures from the general assembly concerning the revision of the confession of faith, was read by Rev. W. H. Landon, D. D.

Dr. Landon stated that the report was an affirmative report, and was signed by three of the five who composed the committee. The two members who declined to sign it do not wish to present a minority report, but are unwilling to sign the majority report.

CONFESSION OF FAITH.

Dr. Landon then proceeded to read the following report of the committee on revision of the confession of faith:

The committee of the presbytery of Oregon, to which was referred the overture of the general assembly concerning the revision of the confession of faith, recommend the following:

First—That the first question, "Do you desire a revision of the confession of faith?" be answered in the affirmative.

Second—That the second question, "If so, in what respect and to what extent?" be answered as follows:

That while this presbytery accepts and adheres to the system of doctrine contained in the confession of faith, we believe that some changes are necessary; and while we think it wise that the changes to be made should be suggested by a committee appointed by the general assembly, their report to be ratified afterwards by the presbyteries, we desire at least the following:

First—That chapter III, section 7, be omitted, and the whole chapter, after the first section, be recast so as to give it a tone more in harmony with that of Scripture, introducing a fuller statement of God's love for the world, salvation through Jesus Christ and our obligation to preach the Gospel to every creature, all of which has been so long emphasized in the teaching of the church.

Second—That the ambiguous expression, "elect infants," which occurs in Chap. X, Sec. 3, be so changed as to express clearly the belief of the church upon the subject of infant salvation.

Third—That all of Chap. XXV, Sec. 6, which refers to the pope, be omitted, retaining only the first sentence, which reads, "There is no other head of the church but the Lord Jesus Christ."

Third—We recommend that this presbytery unite with other presbyteries in overturning the general assembly, "to invite the co-operation of the Presbyterian and reformed churches of America and of Great Britain and Ireland to formulate a short and simple creed, couched so far as may be in scripture language, containing all the essential articles of the Westminster confession, which creed shall be submitted for approval and adoption as the common creed of the Presbyterian and reformed churches of the world." Signed

WARREN H. LANDON,
H. A. NEWELL,
J. VOORHEES.

The presbytery then proceeded to discuss the report. A motion was made to adopt the report of the committee in answer to the first question, which means that this presbytery desires revision of the confession. A long and earnest discussion was entered upon. A strong letter from Rev. A. L. Lindsly, D. D., LL. D., in favor of revision, was read. Addresses were made in favor of revision by Revs. S. M. Campbell, D. D., late of Minneapolis, now pastor at Astoria; A. J. Brown, D. O. Ghormley, W. S. Holt, Elders C. C. Strong, W. M. Ladd, C. A. Hansen. Against revision by Revs. E. J. Thompson, D. D., Robert Robe, Condit, Travis.

The discussion closed at twenty minutes past 4. The roll was then called, and the ayes and nays were recorded. The result was: Ayes, ministers, 18; ayes, elders, 19—37. Nays, ministers, 10; nays, elders, 7—17. Excused elder, 1; total vote, 55.

It was then decided to consider the answer made by the committee to the second question, seriatim. The discussion was postponed until morning. The presbytery then took a recess.

Revs. Ross C. Houghton, D.D., of the M. E. Church, and W. W. Logan of the U. P. Church were present, and were invited to sit as corresponding members.

The reception given by the ladies in the evening was a very pleasant affair and much enjoyed by all who attended.

No Real Work Done at Nicaragua.

CHICAGO, April 9.—[Pacific Postal Special.]—C. Taumala, of San Jose, Costa Rica, was here a few hours yesterday. He declares that the citizens of Costa Rica and Nicaragua are well-nigh disgusted with the slowness of the Nicaragua Canal Company, and that there will be trouble unless the work is carried on more expeditiously. He says:

"Those who have the confidence of the company's officials say it is not intended to do any work for awhile, and that small contracts are let occasionally to keep the enterprise before the public and to satisfy New York capitalists who have put money into the venture. It seems the plan is to oust most of the officials, elect a new set and then go on with the work in earnest."

CARNEY DEFIES McAULIFFE.

To Fight in England or America for the Lightweight Championship.

NEW YORK, April 9.—According to information received in this city, Jemmie Carney, of Birmingham, England, lightweight champion of England, is anxious to have another go with Jack McAuliffe before the California Athletic Club with two-ounce gloves. Carney wants the fight to be for a purse of $5000, the contest to take place within four or five months from the signing of the articles.

If this proposition does not suit McAuliffe, Carney will fight him in England for $5000 or $10,000 a side, and allow him $750 for expenses. If the fight takes place in England he will deposit $5000, which he will forfeit if the American does not receive fair play. Telegrams have been sent to McAuliffe and President Fulda, of the California club, asking whether such a meeting can be arranged.

THE ADULLAMITES AGAIN.

Proceedings of the State Convention of the "Union" Party.

OREGON CITY, April 9.—[Special Correspondence.]—The Union state convention was called to order by Dr. J. F. Hendrix, chairman of the state central committee. B. C. Failing of Portland was elected temporary chairman, and being introduced spoke briefly of the issues before the party. Temporary organization was completed by the election of J. H. Morris of Jackson county and J. H. Mills of Multnomah county as secretaries. A committee of three consisting of J. A. Power of Multnomah county, G. W. Dimick of Marion county and N. Pierce of Umatilla county, was appointed by the chair on credentials.

The following committee of five was appointed on order of business: G. R. H. Miller of Clackamas, Z. T. Wright of Multnomah, Dr. Owens Adair, of Clatsop, Major Bruce of Benton and R. B. Hood of Wasco.

The number of delegates reported entitled to seats from the several counties was as follows:

Benton 13, Clackamas 13, Coos 3, Columbia 2, Clatsop 16, Douglas 5, Josephine by proxy, Jackson 9, Linn 11, Lane 5, Marion 42, Multnomah 50, Polk 7, Umatilla 8, Wasco 7, Washington 7, Yamhill 5.

Counties not listed had no representation. The counties represented had delegates present numbering between 85 and 100. The chair appointed the following committees:

Permanent organization—K. L. Hibbard, of Marion; John Butterworth, of Jackson, and G. C. Barger, of Columbia.

Party organization—A. R. Shipley, of Clackamas; J. F. Hendrix, of Linn; William Tapleman, of Multnomah.

Finance—H. E. Hayes, of Clackamas; N. Pierce, of Umatilla; A. F. Miller, of Multnomah.

After recess the committee on permanent organization reported in favor of making the temporary organization permanent, and the report was adopted.

While waiting for the committee on platform to report, M. V. Roork and J. F. D'Arcy addressed the convention, the former appealing for prohibition, and the latter opposing it as impracticable.

"Old Hutch" Ruined Fraley.

ST. LOUIS, April 9.—[Pacific Postal Special.]—It has come out that it was "Old Hutch" who "downed" Fraley. Ever since Fraley "laid down" on his contracts in Chicago three years ago Hutchinson has waited for an opportunity. He learned last week that Fraley was a heavy short of May, and orders to buy began to pour into the market. The result was the overthrow of the St. Louis plunger. It is said charges will be preferred against Fraley before the Exchange of selling heavily when he knew he must fail, and this to people who could ill afford to stand the loss.

PHILADELPHIA, April 9.—Moraigual & Co., paper dealers have assigned: liabilities $100,000. Members of the firm claim that the assets will fully cover the indebtedness.

California Socialist Convention Splits.

SAN FRANCISCO, April 9.—In the nationalist convention to-day the report of the committee on organization was read and discussed. The report recommends, among other things, a strong organization of clubs represented by a state administrative committee of three members from each congressional district, as opposed to the usual plan of a state central committee. Carter offered an amendment that the convention select one member at large for chairman of the administrative committee, and named J. W. Hines of San Jose. After two hours of debate, the amendment was rejected by a vote of 54 to 56, whereupon Carter and thirty or forty other delegates left the hall.

Dr. Peters Denies That He Is Dead.

BERLIN, April 9.—A cable from Zanzibar states that a letter has been received from Dr. Peters, under date of January 20, stating that he and Tiedemann were well.

WASHINGTON, April 9.—[Pacific Postal Special.]—The state department has been notified by the French minister that on the 4th inst. the French government, in order to prevent the importation of arms and munitions of war into Dahomey, declared a blockade applicable to that portion of the slave coast of Africa comprised between the boundaries of the French and German possessions of Popas, and the eastern boundary of the French possessions of Porto Novo.

Siberian Railway a Certainty.

PITTSBURG, April 9.—[Pacific Postal Special.]—Count Bokamtiff, of Russia, son-in-law of General Beam, of Washington, was a passenger for the West this morning. The count is at present secretary of the Russian legation at Athens. He spoke of the proposed Siberian railway as a certainty. Said he:

Siberia is wonderfully rich in minerals, which on account of lack of transportation facilities, remain undeveloped. Would it not be a great stroke if your American capitalists were to build a railroad to Alaska, where only a few miles of water would divide the two lines. Stranger things than this have happened.

Slashing Prizefight in Indiana.

CHICAGO, April 9.—Owen Congle and James Doheney, of Chicago, fought at Shelby, Ind., this morning, for the championship of Illinois. It was declared a draw at the close of the fifty-third round. Congle's jaw was broken by a swinging righthander from Doheney in the seventeenth round, but he continued the fight, standing on the defensive, waiting for an opening to do Doheney up with a punch. It did not come, however. Congle is a very powerful man, but unskilled, while Doheney has had practice in the ring.

Proud of Her Negro Blood.

NEW YORK, April 9.—A special to the Herald from Raleigh, N. C., says: Silvia Douke, a mulatto woman, was recently appointed postmaster at Rocky Mountain. This caused a bitter feeling on the part of the white people, and to-day Silvia writes a letter in which she denies being a negress, and says that two-thirds of her blood is of the best Anglo-Saxon origin, adding that she is proud of the small quantity of negro blood in her veins. She excoriates the newspapers for their strictures upon her.

Canadian Liberals Vote for Reciprocity.

OTTAWA, April 9.—[Special Telegram.]—The debate in parliament on the budget ended to-day. Cartwright's amendment was voted down, 95 to 60. All the liberals voted for unrestricted reciprocity. Cartwright's amendment practically meant a wide measure of free trade, and called upon the house to address itself to abolishing or reducing the taxes now imposed on articles of prime necessity to farmers, miners, fishermen and all other producers.

OLDS' DEATH SENTENCE

Judge Stearns Names May 16 as the Date of Execution.

OLDS HOPES FOR A NEW TRIAL

Liens Against a Shoe Factory—William Moakler Seeks Damages for Injuries—Fined for Selling Whisky to Indians

"Sandy" Olds is again within shadow of the gallows. Judge Stearns yesterday denied his motion for a new trial and sentenced him to be hanged Friday, May 16, between 10 A. M. and 2 P. M.

Sandy was late in getting out of bed yesterday, and was just sitting down to a warm breakfast when Jailer James opened the door of his cell and told him he was wanted in the court room. "I was taken completely by surprise," said Olds afterward. "Inside of a minute I was hurried away from a warm breakfast and told when I should die."

When Olds arrived in the court room Judge Stearns formally overruled the motion for a new trial. Previously, Judge Bellinger, one of Sandy's attorneys, submitted the motion without argument.

As Olds stood up to receive sentence a train passed up Fourth street, and all he heard was the date of the execution and the last words of the court: "And may God have mercy on your soul."

Olds took his sentence philosophically. This makes the second time he has been sentenced. He was then returned to his cell to finish his breakfast.

The case will be taken to the supreme court shortly. A bill of exceptions is now being prepared.

"It won't do to give up now," said Olds pleasantly, when asked about the appeal to the supreme court. "I have just as much hope as ever that I will come out of this thing all right. I am positive that the supreme court will grant me a new trial. I am convinced now that I cannot get a fair trial in this county. The editorial comments of THE OREGONIAN on my case have caused a prejudice against me which nothing that has been said in my favor has been able to remove."

SO BOTH WERE FINED.

In the U. S. district court yesterday Frank Scott and John Cooper, charged with selling liquor to Indians at Pendleton, each entered a plea of guilty and were fined $10 each. They were detected in the commission of the offense, so there was no question as to their guilt, but they testified that they had never before been arrested on such a charge; and that they derived no profit from the transaction, but simply bought the whisky for the Indian as an accommodation. There is some very slick Indian up there, who has been working this racket rather extensively of late. Some day one of the fellows he fools will go back there and make a good Indian of him.

MOAKLER'S SUIT FOR DAMAGES.

The suit of William Moakler vs. the Portland & Willamette Valley Railway Co. for $10,000 damages for injuries sustained while riding on the road, was on trial in Judge Shattuck's court yesterday. When the case first came up for trial Moakler was nonsuited. He appealed to the supreme court, which remanded the case for trial. The case was given to the jury in the afternoon.

UNITED STATES COURT BUSINESS.

An order was made in the United States district court yesterday approving the accounts of ex-Marshal John Myers and Marshal L. T. Barin.

In the United States circuit court H. J. Bean, of Pendleton, was appointed United States commissioner, vice Fred Page-Tustin, resigned. S. F. Wilson, of Empire City, was also appointed United States commissioner.

LIENS AGAINST A FACTORY.

Mechanics' liens aggregating $675.75 were filed against the Oregon Boot and Shoe Factory yesterday. The filers were Charles Stephens, J. Bennett, R. Cole, T. B. McDowell, Theodore Allerton, C. J. Ween, J. H. Quinn, E. S. Jones and T. G. Stephens.

DECREE OF DIVORCE.

Judge Stearns yesterday granted George Morgan a divorce from Adelia Morgan. Adultery was the ground.

In the case of Altos Birdsall vs. Eugene Birdsall a default was entered.

The Municipal Courts.

In the police court yesterday D. L. Murphy and James Rooney, simple drunks, were fined $5 each; J. Robertson and Peter McCrystal were fined $10 each, and Eugenia Gorrie and Mrs. Miller were given ten and five days respectively for the same offense.

The case against George Boswell, charged with the larceny of $300 from Dr. Wing Lee, on complaint of R. E. Case, was dismissed. Is appears that Boswell is innocent of any crooked dealings with Dr. Lee, as the latter refused to prosecute.

H. Brooks, arrested on complaint of Blanche DeCastro for the alleged theft of $20, was also discharged. There was nothing in the case to substantiate the claim of the complaining witness, and Brooks is again a free man.

THE JUSTICE COURTS.

Owing to the fact that all the attaches of the two justice courts were absorbed in the proceedings of the republican county convention no business was transacted in either of the courts. Both justices were anxious to succeed themselves in the next election, and for that reason the deliberations of the county convention were of some interest to them. A few unimportant civil cases were filed, but beyond that absolutely nothing was done.

Yesterday's Blotter.

UNITED STATES DISTRICT COURT.

United States vs. Frank Scott; information for selling liquor to Indians, plea of guilty; fined $10.

United States vs. John Cooper; same.

Order approving accounts of John Myers, United States marshal.

Order approving accounts of L. T. Barin, United States marshal.

UNITED STATES CIRCUIT COURT.

Washburn & Moen Manufacturing Company; motion for injunction and hearing on plea to bill argued and submitted.

United States vs. Matilda C. Rogers, administratrix; exceptions to bill submitted and sustained.

S. F. Wilson, of Empire City, and H. J. Bean, of Pendleton, appointed United States commissioners.

STATE CIRCUIT COURT NO. 1.

C. W. Slocum vs. O. A. Palmer; motion to strike out parts of complaint allowed, leave given to amend.

Parke & Lacy Machinery Company vs. George Purvis & Co.; judgment by default.

E. L. Reed vs. Columbia Fire and Marine Insurance Company; judgment on the findings.

Julia A. Techaring vs. Adolph Becker; dismissed.

Schmidt Label and Lithograph Company vs. R. H. Liebe, motion for a new trial argued and submitted.

EAST SIDE BABY HOME.

An Adjourned Meeting of the Stockholders.

INTERESTING REPORTS READ

From the Superintendent and Attending Physician—A Very Bright Outlook for a New Building, Etc.

An adjourned meeting of the stockholders of the Baby Home was held Tuesday evening at the First Presbyterian church. After a pleasing programme of recitation and song, the annual reports were read and accepted.

On motion of Rev. Ghormley, the reports of the superintendent and home physician were requested to be published in THE DAILY OREGONIAN. The other reports, with these, will be published in pamphlet form for general circulation.

The stockholders elected the following board of directors for the ensuing year: Mrs. L. M. Kern, Mrs. G. J. Ross, J. W. Kern, F. S. Dunning, A. L. Keenan. Mrs. L. M. Kern was chosen president; Mrs. G. J. Ross, vice president; Mrs. R. M. Robb, secretary; A. L. Keenan, treasurer; Mrs. E. A. Harbin, superintendent.

It was decided to build a suitable house for the home this spring. Already $2000 is donated for this purpose on condition that $4000 more be raised, of which $225 is pledged before the books are opened, Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Kern giving an acre of land in memory of their little boy, who died a year ago. The following gentlemen were made a committee to raise funds for the new building: West Side, Mr. Ben Selling, Mr. Herbert Bradley and Mr. J. N. Strong; East Side, Mr. F. S. Dunning and Rev. D. W. Ghormley. This committee will enter on their work at once. Mr. and Mrs. D. C. Latourette, of Oregon City, donate $25 for the new home in memory of their little boy, who died one year ago. The institution is a worthy one and there is now every prospect a suitable building will be provided this year. The following are the reports of the attending physician, Dr. A. W. Moore, and Mrs. E. A. Harbin, superintendent:

SUPERINTENDENT'S REPORT.

We hold in our hand a report of our work in the Baby Home, which we have compiled from the records of the year.

We have received from all sources and used for current expenses $1992 46, the expenditures being an average of $1 66 per month, which has not enabled us to keep quite even, as the estimate of necessary expenditure per month will show: House rent, $20; 1 day nurse, $15; 1 night nurse, $10; 1 cook, $15; 1 general help, $15; wood, $12; milk, $15; groceries and general supplies, $30; eat market meat, $12; laundry, $15; sundries, $20. Total, $189.

The word "sundries" is one we never enter on our account book. Every item is named and price paid placed opposite; used here it means such things as sawing and chopping wood, express on packages, medicine, articles of household furniture, stationery, postage stamps, street car fare, hack hire, etc. The generous donations of household necessities, which have been sent us from time to time, have enabled us to make a lower estimate than would have otherwise been possible. All such, also all cash donations which have been sent direct to us, and which was accurately reported to the board of directors, have been gratefully received and used and expended to the best advantage. There has also been most liberal donations of clothing, so that our expenditure for articles of clothing have been insignificant.

There has been children sheltered during the year, 119; removed by parents or friends, 54; adopted into good families, 14; died, 33; in charge at date, 18. Of the 33 who died their ages were as follows: over 1 year, 2; over 6 months and under 1 year, 3; over 2 months and under 6, 7; over 1 month and under 2, 11; under 1 month, 10. Cause of death as follows: Bowel trouble, 6; inanition, 6; scrofulous affection, 7; pneumonia, 3; injuries received at birth, 2; premature birth, 2; spinal trouble, 2; inherent consumption, 1; abscess in heart, 1; hernia, 1; convulsions, 1; paralysis of heart, 1. Of the 12 who were over 2 months of age 10 were brought to the home in a diseased condition, 5 of which cases were inherent.

In the foregoing report we have tried to state such facts as we thought would prove of interest to those who have so generously contributed toward the support of the institution which we represent.

With the knowledge and approbation of our president and attending physician and other prominent members of our association, we have supplemented our report by remarks and explanations pertinent to the matter in hand. We make no apology for our plain speaking, being impelled to the same by a sense of duty to what we conceive to be the highest interests of humanity. The question of how to best care for infant paupers, usually termed foundlings, is one which the public is called upon to decide. Therefore, it must be a fit subject for public discussion, as it is only by discussion that the best methods of work can be decided upon in any department.

You have heard in the report that 119 children have been sheltered during the year. Of this number fifty-one belonged to the class referred to. Many of these were brought to the home when only a few hours old; some of them without ever having received any attention whatever, being simply wrapped in a piece of old blanket or shawl, and perfectly innocent of either water or clothing. Many of these would die under the most favorable circumstances, their blood being poisoned with an incurable taint which shall here be nameless.

Many naturally healthy babies perish miserably for the want of their natural food, their systems being too tender and delicate to be able to assimilate the diet upon which we are compelled to feed them. The fact of their sleeping in cradles, thus being deprived of the warmth contact with the body of the mother supplies is also unfavorable to their well being. Deprived of their birthright—mother love, mother food and mother presence—small wonder that so many little unfortunates find existence impossible.

While those intrusted to our care are carefully tended, kept clean and warm and fed according to the latest approved methods, as recommended by the leading physicians, it is impossible for us to supply the place of a mother to babes. We have given our most earnest attention to this matter for more than a year; have consulted with a number of the medical fraternity; have read books bearing on this subject; have tried many of the different prepared and lactated foods in addition to the usual one, cow's milk, with but indifferent success, and our conclusion, reached not more by our own failure to obtain satisfactory results than by statistics which show conclusively that failure is general all over the world where taking very young babes to care artificially for in institutions has been attempted, that mothers should be urged, if possible compelled, to nurse their children. And we hereby enter our solemn protest against the practice now prevalent of removing the child from its mother's care at birth to take the chances, which are largely against them, of maintaining existence under the unfavorable circumstances by which they are unavoidably surrounded.

And we earnestly recommend that the managers of hospitals and other places where homeless prospective mothers go to be cared for during the period of confinement, that they insist upon their nursing their babes for at least six months; an even longer period is desirable. If without means, let them be sent to the county poor farm until the necessary period expires.

If hospitals, refuge, orphan and baby homes are instituted and maintained for humanitarian purposes, then should the managers of such earnestly strive to promote the best interests of humanity at large by their treatment of those entrusted to their care. We do not believe that any mother, even though she be not a wife, is ever made better by sending her child away from her to hide her misfortune from the world. On the contrary, such a course only serves to extinguish whatever may remain of womanly good and tenderness in her heart; while if she be encouraged to fulfill a mother's part for even a limited period the maternal instinct will be stimulated and at least partially developed in her heart, by this means softened and made amenable to good influences, time given for serious reflection; and if proper influences are brought to bear, she will, we believe, in the majority of cases, come out of the fiery furnace of her dire misfortune a woman with pure motives and strength of character, to bear her cross and fight life's battles.

Thus two great objects will have been attained. The ultimate good of the mothers and the prevention of this wholesale "slaughter of the innocents."

The remaining seventy-eight children were mostly the children of poor mothers who were compelled to work for their own and their children's support, and finding it impossible to find employment where they could keep their little ones with them were glad to find a home with open doors where they would find shelter, clean, warm clothing and beds, and wholesome food for them. A number of these deserving, but unfortunate women, have been cared for temporarily by us, until work could be found or arrangements made to send them to distant relatives. Could you have listened to the sorrowful stories that have been poured into our ears, tales of want and bereavement and bitter grief, and listened to the expressions of gratitude for help rendered, broken as they were often by sobs, and which have been the means largely of keeping our philanthropy at the high water mark, you would believe as we do that your money was not given in vain. We have been compelled to refuse admittance to many children of this deserving class for want of room and means. We earnestly hope that the people of this Christian land will make it possible for us to erect a substantial building which will be large enough for our purpose with means enough at our command to carry on this work with increased facilities for doing good with benefit to the cause of humanity and credit to our community of wealth in which we live. Respectfully submitted, MRS. E. H. HARBIN, Superintendent.

PHYSICIAN'S REPORT.

Upon the 19th of July 1889 I was requested to serve as physician to the Baby Home, and have from that day to the present visited it as often as twice a week, and frequently for weeks in succession, when there was sickness and the necessity of the cases demanded it, paid a visit there each day. During this period an opportunity has been afforded me to learn somewhat of the workings of this institution.

Our building is a low-posted, two story house of seven small rooms, destitute of every modern convenience, has no ventilation except through the doors and windows, when if these were opened to let in the fresh air, owing to the crowded condition of the home, a draught was sure to blow on some of the little ones.

The carpenter, in his hurry, had so poorly constructed it that it was with difficulty that the place could be kept warm during the cold days of the past winter. Although there is no sewer to the premises, yet by carefully watching all the cesspools, and disinfecting them occasionally, the surroundings have been as hygenic as the average of the homes of East Portland. That there could have been better work done in a more modernly constructed building, no one who has visited the institution will doubt.

The past six months has been an exceptionally unhealthy period for children. It is to be hoped that we shall not soon see a repetition of the past. The prolonged hot weather of the past summer changed Oregon from a heretofore healthy climate, especially for children, to one of continual sickness, and sent scores and hundreds of little ones to early graves. Nor did sickness end with summer, for hardly had the diseases of summer passed when la grippe visited our coast, claiming its share of victims.

We have to record the death of 33 children out of 119 sheltered during the past year. This rate of mortality may seem great, but not more so than could have been expected from the causes above mentioned, and not greater than at any other like institution of the Eastern states any year which has the care of this class of infants. Carefully prepared statistics show the death rate among children to be alarming. One-fourth of all deaths recorded are children under one year is the rule; twenty-one of these thirty-three were under two months of age. This is a similar record to every other institution where children of this tender age are cared for.

Dr. J. Lewis Smith, of New York, a man considered excellent authority upon diseases of children, gives an account of the great mortality of these very young hand-fed children. He says: "Some years ago, before the New York foundling asylum was established, the foundlings of New York, now more than 1000 annually, were taken to the asylum on Blackwell's island and consigned to the care of the pauper women." He says: "When assigned to duty in the almshouse, where these children were, I was informed that all the foundlings died before the age of two months, one only was pointed out, as a curiosity, who had been an exception to the rule."

The disease of which they perished is the same malady which has been so trying to us at the Home, namely indigestion and diarrhea, occasioned by a lack of strength and development of the digestive organs to digest and assimilate any kind of artificial food.

There seems to be a feeling prevalent among some, who are entirely ignorant of the management of the Baby Home, who have never visited it, except to criticise, who see the emaciated forms of these little ones, almost reduced to skeletons, who bespeak more of starvation than their real disease, choleric diarrhoea, with which we had been contending for weeks, who, owing to their delicate constitution and tender age, were only able to digest a teaspoonful of food, from the cupful taken into the stomach. This, I say, together with the mortality which we have had, has created the impression that the children were starved, and this emaciated appearance was due to neglect of feeding. Time will convince people that this is false, which we claim it is, most emphatically. Money has not been spared in procuring the best foods known for infants. Plenty of good cow's milk has been dispensed to the little ones, and all the infant foods which I have suggested have been carefully purchased, and I believe faithfully fed. We have used extensively Mellin's Food, and Carnick's and others, of nearly equal merit. Never have I heard economy suggested, when I have advised ever so costly food for the healthy, or medicine for the sick ones.

I am inclined to believe that more of the children's deaths have been caused by over-feeding, rather than by starvation, for it is as tempting for nurses as to mothers, to offer to the babe a bottle full of milk to stop it crying, when it is already suffering from an excess of food, that they will do it, and often cause an attack of bowel trouble, from which the little one may suffer for days, if it does not result in its death.

The sick have received as much care and attention from me as though they were the richest of my patients. With many of those who have died I have called in some of the best physicians of the city to consult with me; other patients, their parents preferring a physician of their own choice, have selected their own doctor, with little better success with these very young infants.

The children which we have at these institutions are the least liable to live of any class to be found, a number of whom, for lack of care on the part of the mother, from drugs taken by the mother or operations performed to a very late period, are born into the world barely alive, many of whom have inherited a disease which nature very happily relieves by an early death, in spite of efforts of faithful nurse or intelligent physician. Five or six of this class it has been our misfortune to obtain during the past six months.

The children who have been at the Home for several years look well fed, rosy cheeked and as well cared for as any in the city, and I should have no hesitation to recommend the Baby Home of East Portland to my friends as a proper place for their children who are bereft of parents and friends to care for them, nor would I hesitate, if the necessity of the case demanded it, of putting my own children under the protection and care of this very worthy institution. A. W. MOORE, Attending Physician.

NOTES.

Parker & Western, whose shop is on L street between First and Second, are the leading carriage and wagon builders in East Portland. Their work shows this. The fine moving wagon of Magness & Kadderly, turned out by this firm is the best evidence of their skill and workmanship. They are now finishing a fine delivery wagon for E. Mulig that shows further the kind of work they can do.

SUPERINTENDENT SMITH'S REPORT.

Mr. Clark Smith, school superintendent of Washington county, sends the following circular report under a recent date:

You are cordially invited to attend the annual teachers' institute in Hillsboro the 24th, 25th and 26th of April, 1890. I have engaged a number of the very best educators to give instruction during the institute.

As indicating the importance of our educational work, allow me to mention that we have seventy-six districts, 120 teachers, 305 school officers, 4543 school children and school property worth $56,250.

Since taking charge of the superintendent's office I have made over 200 school visits in all parts of the county. I have received about 100 letters concerning school matters per month and have answered each one on the same day or the next after receiving it. I have held twenty-six institutes and educational meetings, and our board of education has held seven public examinations at which 148 teachers were examined.

At the last three apportionments $23,745 were divided among the districts of the county.

MARKETS BY TELEGRAPH.

NEW YORK STOCK MARKET.

NEW YORK, April 9.—There was more business in stocks to-day, but the increased trading was entirely for account of board room traders. Union Pacific received the most attention, and it was quite active at advancing prices, the improvement being accompanied by vague rumors of something of a favorable nature to come out in the next few days. Trading in the stock ran up to over 28,000 shares, and shows a gain of ¾ at the close. The market rallied slightly toward the close, which was dull and steady at small fractions under last night's figures.

Dyspepsia

Is one of the most prevalent of diseases. Few persons have perfect digestion. One of Ayer's Pills, taken after dinner, or a dose at night before retiring, never fails to give relief in the worst cases, and wonderfully assists the process of nutrition. As a family medicine, Ayer's Pills are unequaled.

James Quinn, 90 Middle st., Hartford, Conn., testifies: "I have used Ayer's Pills for the past thirty years and consider them an invaluable family medicine. I know of no better remedy for liver troubles, and have always found them a prompt cure for dyspepsia."

Lucius Alexander, of Marblehead, Mass., was long a severe sufferer from Dyspepsia, complicated with enlargement of the Liver, most of the time being unable to retain any food in his stomach. Three boxes of Ayer's Pills cured him.

Frederic C. Greener, of East Dedham, Mass., for several months troubled with Indigestion, was cured before he used half a box of these Pills.

A VETERAN.

I was wounded in the leg at the battle of Stone River, Dec. 31st, 1862. My blood was poisoned from the effects of the wound, and the leg swelled to double its natural size, and remained so for many years. The poison extended to my whole system, and I suffered a thousand deaths. Nothing did me any good until I took Swift's Specific, which took the poison out of my system, and enabled me to feel myself a man again. S. S. S. is the remedy for blood poison. Shorey, Hall & Co.

PORT TOWNSEND, WASH.

[illegible] REASONS.

Reasons Why Port Townsend Is Destined to be a City Of Great Importance!

REASON 1: It has the best harbor of Puget Sound, from Cape Flattery to Olympia, having the most convenient anchorage over the greatest area, from 5 to 15 fathoms deep, with the best holding ground. There are no bars, shoals, rocks or hidden dangers of any kind throughout the entire bay, which is land locked and well sheltered from the stormy winds and from the heavy ocean swell.

REASON 2: Ease of approach from the ocean. A sailing vessel can run direct from the ocean to the anchorage in Port Townsend Bay, with a westerly wind, or beat up to her anchorage with an easterly wind, the Straits of Fuca being over 12 miles wide, while above Port Townsend to any of the cities the navigation is more intricate, requiring the constant use of tugs. Steamers can run the distance from the ocean to Port Townsend during the densest fogs by aid of their compass alone, there being no hidden danger to apprehend.

REASON 3: It is the port of entry of Puget Sound, and its geographical position is such that it will afford greater facilities to commerce over a greater extent of country than any one position on Puget Sound.

REASON 4: It is at the entrance to Admiralty Inlet and within the lines of the proposed military works for the defense of Puget Sound, and is where the naval squadron will have a rendezvous, and where the government will build a dry dock for repairs, and a naval station for supplies for our naval vessels and the merchant marine.

REASON 5: It will become the great wheat shipping point on the Pacific Coast. It has been ascertained that from the junction of the Snake and Columbia rivers to Port Townsend there is a fall of about 400 feet, and that it is practically very nearly a level grade and that one engine can haul 25 loaded cars to Port Townsend, while it takes two decapod engines to haul 14 loaded cars through the tunnel to Tacoma. The peninsula which lies between Port Townsend and Port Discovery harbors, presents on both these harbors a greater extent of water front than any other position on Puget Sound, both of which can be utilized by one line of railroad, thus offering greater facilities for handling vast quantities of wheat than can be found elsewhere in the whole country.

REASON 6: It will be the headquarters and great point of transit of all the whaling fleet, which can here ship all their oil and bone to Eastern markets and save 700 miles of ocean travel, which they now have to take to transport these products to San Francisco.

REASON 7: It will be the headquarters of the fishing business. The Union Pacific Railroad Co. stated to the senate committee on relations with Canada who were here in 1889, that they intend putting in refrigerator cars to take fresh fish through on the long haul at greatly reduced rates, and will here ship all the salmon pack, as well as other fish products destined for the interior and Eastern markets.

REASON 8: It is the point of departure for all passengers and freight to British Columbia and Alaska, and its unrivaled scenery makes it the admiration of all tourists who have ever visited Puget Sound.

REASON 9: It is the location of the smelting works of Irondale, on Port Townsend Bay, where the best charcoal iron known in the world is produced. A plant will be put up at these works by the company to manufacture steel plates for boilers and for building vessels, steel rails and all iron material required for railroad construction and every kind of iron for blacksmith use.

REASON 10: Port Townsend, by its geographical position, is intimately and directly connected with Portland, being due north, as can be seen on any map. The Willamette meridian, which commences in Portland as its initial point, terminates in Port Townsend bay, between Point Hudson and Marrowstone Point. The Port Townsend Southern railroad will soon connect the two cities, and Port Townsend will become in fact one of Portland's most important shipping points.

REASON 11: Because on the peninsula between Port Townsend and Port Discovery bays will be built within the very near future the most important city on the Pacific Coast, a city that will be fostered and developed by the Union Pacific railroad, which will here have its grand western terminus, from whence will proceed lines of great ocean steamships, which will bring in the commerce of Asia and China and the south seas.

[illegible] OREGON

HOME OF THE

Fig Tree and Vine

GRANT'S PASS is located on the Oregon & California Railroad, 300 miles south of Portland and in the heart of the famous Rogue River Valley—the Santa Clara of Oregon.

GRANT'S PASS contained but a single dwelling prior to the extension of the Oregon & California Railroad in 1883. Present population exceeds 2500.

GRANT'S PASS erected 212 buildings, including a $30,000 brick opera house, during the last seven months of 1889.

GRANT'S PASS property quadrupled in value between May and December, 1889, and bids fair to do the same during the first six months of 1890.

GRANT'S PASS is the county seat of Josephine county, one of the extreme southern counties of Oregon, and is known throughout the state as the home of the fig and vine.

GRANT'S PASS has ten general merchandise stores, doing an aggregate cash business of over $3000 per day, and plenty room for more.

GRANT'S PASS is the sole distributing point for 1800 square miles of the most prolific territory on the Pacific Coast, embracing the whole of Josephine county.

GRANT'S PASS has shipped $2,320,000 worth of gold dust since 1883, being the output of a few partially developed placer mines in Josephine county.

GRANT'S PASS has one sash and door factory, with a paid up capital of $125,000, affording employment to over 200 men all the year round.

GRANT'S PASS has twenty saw mills in operation in the Sugar Pine Forests, within a radius of 28 miles, and ships more lumber and manufactured woodwork than any town in Oregon, except Portland.

GRANT'S PASS is situated on the north bank of the beautiful Rogue River, which, in addition to its charming scenic features, affords a 50,000-horsepower for manufacturing purposes.

GRANT'S PASS is surrounded by the forest wealth of Michigan, the precious metals of Montana, the marble quarries of Vermont, and the semi-tropic fruit fields of Southern California.

GRANT'S PASS, by reason of its wonderfully diversified resources, affords an inviting field for the speculator, the manufacturer, the miner, the dairyman, the fruit grower, the lumberman, the stock-raiser, and last, but not least, the inactive healthseeker.

GRANT'S PASS is a new pushing town, has drawn its support from the progressive sections, has no "winged insects on it," and offers no special inducements to the "mossback."

GRANT'S PASS has a daily stage line and mail service to Crescent City, California, and a telephone line to the same point, 87 miles distant, is now being built.

GRANT'S PASS has a national bank with a paid up capital of $50,000, and its deposits for the first two weeks of its existence, from January 1 to January 13, 1890, footed up over $50,000.

GRANT'S PASS is going to be the great midland city of Oregon and California.

GRANT'S PASS is a division point on the Southern Pacific system, has a round house, machine shops, and will sooner or later be made the chief car manufacturing center of the state, on account of the superiority of its timber.

GRANT'S PASS laid 17,000 feet of ten-foot sidewalk, and expended $196,000 for improvements in 1889.

GRANT'S PASS will be the inland terminus of the Grant's Pass and Coast Railroad, thus affording a short and inexpensive ocean outlet for its products.

GRANT'S PASS has made greater progress, and enlisted more capital than any town in Oregon of equal size during the past year.

GRANT'S PASS has a modern water and electric light system in course of construction, and work upon an improved sewerage system will be commenced early in the spring.

GRANT'S PASS has a $20,000 brick hotel under way, and another to cost $25,000 is to be erected before the close of the present year.

GRANT'S PASS is not a paper town based upon a bubble, but a solid commercial city, and there is nothing of an "untamed feline nature in its composition.

GRANT'S PASS has already earned more money for investors in proportion to the amount invested than any town in Oregon or Washington.

GRANT'S PASS will soon be reached by the great Union Pacific Railway system on its westward march from Boise City to San Francisco via the Donahue road, the two roads now being separated by a distance of less than 600 miles.

GRANT'S PASS will soon be the greatest pork-packing center on the North Pacific Coast. Arrangements are now being made by Portland parties for the establishment of a packery with a daily capacity of 300 hogs.

GRANT'S PASS shipped during the year 1889, 110 carloads of choice watermelons, 73 carloads of canteloupes, 82 carloads of sweet potatoes, 87 carloads of peaches, 330 carloads of apples, 11 carloads of nectarines, 19 carloads of grapes, 18,000 pounds of almond nuts, 32,000 pounds of prunes, 48 carloads of hops, 36 carloads of broom corn, 113 carloads of gold-bearing quartz, worth $65 per ton, and 1878 carloads of lumber and manufactured woodwork. Shipments extended north to Seattle and south to Los Angeles.

GOVERNMENT LAND. Josephine County, of which Grant's Pass is the County Seat, contains 145,000 acres of good unoccupied government land, besides 460,000 acres of railroad lands, now on the market, at prices ranging from $2 50 to $20 per acre.

BUSINESS PROPERTY on the principal streets all level cleared and sidewalked, and within 300 feet of a $30,000 brick opera house, can be had for a short time only at TEN DOLLARS PER FRONT FOOT.

RESIDENCE LOTS, 50x100 feet each, all level, cleared, and surrounded by modern dwellings, can be had at prices ranging from $40 to $125 each; terms, one-half cash, balance in one year at 10 per cent.

ACRE TRACTS overlooking the beautiful Rogue River, in city limits, clear and level, at prices ranging from $75 to $300 each, one-half cash.

WORKERS IN CONGRESS.

The Men Who Are Found in the Committee Rooms.

GREAT INCREASE OF BUSINESS

The Oregon Senator as the "Sportive Dolphin of the Columbia"—Gossip About Senators and Representatives.

WASHINGTON, April 5.—[Special Correspondence.]—The ways and means committee of the house is now holding daily sessions and representatives of all the manufacturing and other interests of the United States are having hearings before it. The fifteen members of the committee on appropriations are working nightly trying to figure out just how many dollars and cents each part of the government ought to cost, and they will bring in bills which will take from the treasury somewhere near $400,000,000 before the session is closed. The committee on pensions has bills involving a hundred million dollars upon its table, and the judiciary committee is preparing measures which involve the courts of the whole United States and which effect every lawyer and client in the country. The real work of both houses of congress does not appear in the newspapers. We now have a congres of business men rather than a body of sophomore statesmen, and the flowery days of Henry Clay and Tom Corwin are gone forever. Year by year stump speaking is dying out. Private conversations and quiet talks have taken the place of long-winded harangues, and some of the hardest workers of both houses never make a speech. Four-fifths of the speeches which are made are never listened to, and 80 per cent. of the men whose names appear so often in the congressional record are uninfluential blowhards.

The committee rooms are the workshops of the capitol. In them is brewed the solid beer of legislation. The froth alone appears on the floor and as a rule the members who stir the glass and rouse the foam have little to do with making the valuable liquid over which they spout for buncombe. At the beginning of our history it was possible to consider all bills which came before congress in open session. Now such a thing would be preposterous, and the immensity of the work which is unloaded upon congress increases every year. During the forty-eighth congress about 11,000 bills were presented in both houses. In the forty-ninth this number had crawled up to 15,000, and during the last congress more than 17,000 bills and joint resolutions were introduced into the house and the senate. All of these bills have to be considered in committee, read in the house and passed or rejected. Most of them are accompanied by voluminous reports and some have volumes of arguments and testimony which must be gone through with before their merits can decided. Less than one-sixth of them become laws, and during the last congress out of the 17,000 bills only 1800 were passed and signed by the president. The division of them among the committees is the only means by which they could be considered at all, and some curious instances of the ignorance of congressmen as to their work occurs in regard to them. When Senator Manderson first attended the committee of which he was a member at his opening session he was given a bill to report upon and he told the clerks to send the papers in this bill to his room at the Portland flats as he intended to do his work at home. The next day he received a full barrel of manuscript consisting of musty papers and enough closely written sheets if pasted together to have carpeted the whole District of Columbia.

There are in all 113 committees in both houses of congress, and in addition to these every day or two a select or special committee is appointed. Each committee has from three to sixteen members, and its chairman represents it on the floor of the house or senate. The more important committees have committee rooms and messengers to take care of them. These rooms are elegantly furnished. They are carpeted with Brussels carpet and their ceilings are frescoed with appropriate paintings. The agricultural committee has a picture of Cincinnatus leaving the plow to go to the war over its door, and the ways and means has ceilings covered with paintings. These committee rooms are furnished in mahogany furniture, costly wood fires blaze away in their open fireplaces, and in not a few of them beautiful clocks, bronzes and objects of virtu stand on their mantels under the immense mirrors in gilt frames. Not a few of these rooms are loafing places as well as workshops, and in some of the committee rooms of the senate private lunches are served. Don Cameron has one of the best senatorial committee rooms, and he frequently gives a little spread here to those he loves. Senator Plumb's committee room is headquarters for Kansas politicians, and everyone has heard of the fine old liquors which Edmunds keeps in his cupboard at the capitol. Senator Hawley, who is head of the military affairs of the senate, has a room in which you will frequently see old soldiers pleading their claims, and Senator Ingalls has perhaps the finest room in the whole capitol building. He is chairman of the District of Columbia committee, and his room is as big as a church. It has an elegant Turkish rug on its floor, and the guides bring in visitors and show them the room. These visitors were so inquisitive that Ingalls had to quarter himself in the further corner of the room near the window, and he has put up a blue baize curtain with a brass railing around his desk to keep the tourists from seeing the letters he writes to his constituents. Senator Quay's committee room is always filled with his friends who are waiting to see him. He does not very often appear, and he has a watchdog in the shape of Dick Murphy, his clerk, to keep them off.

The ways and means committee of the house in which the tariff agitators are being daily heard is the finest on that side of the capitol. It ought to be, for it is the most important committee of the house. It is walled with tariff documents and the long table which fills its center is surrounded at almost any hour in the day with noted men. The bill which it has just prepared embraces every business in the land and its provisions affect the pocket for better or worse of every individual in the country. The reconciling of the diverse interests which must be done in such a measure requires an enormous amount of work and worry and the best men in the house are put on the ways and means. Its chairman is the leader of the majority, and McKinley has taken the place of Mills. McKinley overworked himself and got sick through its business some weeks ago, and Roger Q. Mills tells me that the position of chairman of the ways and means is a cancer which gnaws at the vitals of the man who holds it. He says he has not recovered from the work that he did upon it, and McKinley, with the presidential bee buzzing in his bonnet, is probably more annoyed at the fear of a mistake than Mills was. John G. Carlisle spends a great deal of time in this committee room, and Roswell P. Flower does considerable work within it.

The chairman of the ways and means has for years been a man of great reputation on one side or the other of the tariff question, and the chairman of the various committees of both house and senate are especially fitted for their respective positions. The committees are by no means made up by chance and the greatest caution is used to get the proper men for the proper places. Speaker Carlisle nearly broke his health in laying out the work for the various members of the house and big Tom Reed lost many sleepless nights in the same way last December. The head of the committee on appropriations is Joseph G. Cannon, of Illinois. He has been in the house for nearly a score of years, and he is supposed to know where every dollar of the $350,000,000 goes. General Garfield said he would rather be on the committee on appropriations than any other, because it made him thoroughly acquainted with the government. It is a very important committee, and only old congressmen are given places upon it. The committee on judiciary has fifteen members. All of them are lawyers and most of them are judges. All sorts of legal questions come before them, and they swallow up everything relating to the law. Judge E. B. Taylor, the successor of Garfield, is its chairman, and he has been in the house for years. The head of the committee on patents is Benjamin Butterworth, who was once commissioner of patents, and the chairman of the committee on postoffices is an ex-postmaster, Harry Bingham, of Philadelphia.

The senate elects its committees by yea and nay vote, the majority deciding upon their constitution in caucus. The same wisdom is exercised in the composition of the committees and the chairmen have their specialties. Senator Dawes, the head of the Indian affairs, has made a hobby of Indian matters for thirty years, and he knows more about them than any other man in the country. There is no better posted lawyer in the country than Edmunds, and as head of the judiciary, he knows more by intuition than any other senator can learn by reason. Allison is peculiarly fitted to be chairman of the committee on appropriations, and his diplomatic talents enable him to reconcile the diverse interests which come before him. It was in reference to his actions upon this committee that Ingalls made that famous remark about him. He was disposing of some objector in his oleaginous manner when one of the Western senators admiringly said to Ingalls: "Aint he slick?"

"Yes," said Ingalls, "he's the slickest man in the senate. You could put his 200 pounds into hobnailed wooden clogs and drive him at a ten-mile pace over a corduroy road and he wouldn't make as much noise as a tom cat slipping across a Turkish carpet after a canary bird."

Allison's talent as a statesman, his thorough knowledge of the government and his diplomatic tendency make him here one of the most valuable men in congress. Senator Plumb knows all about the public lands, and as chairman he is very valuable. It is the same with Lewis Payson, of Illinois, in the house. Both men are hard workers, and have studied these questions for years. Senator Blair has a wonderful knowledge of education, and if he would learn the virtues of condensation he might be a great man. Blair called it the other day the "Legislative Slop Bucket," and the senators now dignify this committee by that name.

One of the most important committees of the senate is that of printing, and Senator Manderson, at the head of this, has one of the finest committee rooms of the capitol. Under him the Congressional Record is gotten out, and the government printing office, with its 3000 employes, is controlled. All the government documents are printed through this committee, and its expenditures amount to $3,000,000 a year. All of Manderson's committees are hard ones, and he is one of the workers of congress. He is worth his salary, and if congressmen were paid in proportion to the work they did, there would be a wide difference in compensation. A congressman during his first two years is worth practically nothing, and we could better afford to pay such men as Holman and Payson $20,000 a year than the new members $5000. One of the most valuable members of the senate is Cockrell, and this not from any extraordinary ability, but from hard work. He is a sort of senatorial hack, and his brother senators rely upon him. They know that he will watch every private bill, and he sits in his desk with his fingers on the keys ready to object to anything he does not understand. He works twelve hours out of every twenty-four, and he is an invaluable man on the committees. Holman has made the subject of appropriations so much of a study during a score and more of years, that he knows to a cent just how much the old negro women in the treasury get for the towels they wash, and he can tell you, I am sure, as to whether the government furnishes the soap or not. He knows the cost of every brick in every public building, and he saves the government a great deal of money by the fear which he inspires in contractors. Edmunds' knowledge of the law is worth $25,000 a year to the government, and Don Cameron's business ability comes out frequently in committees. Cameron never speaks on the floor and he doesn't work very hard on committees. He understands how to use other men to help him, however, and does it. Aldrich, of Rhode Island, is a good worker on financial questions, and Bate, of Tennessee, is a valuable committee worker. Senator Blackburn is another regular worker, and Beck takes the place of Allison on the democratic side on the important committees of finance and appropriations. He is by no means well this season and has not been doing his usual amount of work.

The Southern senators lack the grasp of the Northern men, and it takes them three times as long to get at the nub of a case. The Western senators are the hardest worked. Their correspondence is ten times as large as that of the Eastern men. Their people are greater letter writers, and they have more interests before congress. The average senator from the West gets from 100 to 200 letters a day, while an Eastern man can dictate answers to his mail in an hour. Davis, of Minnesota, brings a lawyer's insight and habits into his committee work, and Ingalls, of Kansas, is one of the hard workers of congress. Paddock, the chairman of the committee on agriculture, has plenty to do since the farmer has become such a political quantity, but as for Payne, of Ohio, he has done nothing since he came to the senate, and is doing nothing now. Senator Stanford is a worker, notwithstanding his millions.

Senator Dolph devotes himself especially to the Pacific slope, and one of his hobbies is the improvement of the Columbia river. He has been nicknamed by his brother senators "The Sportive Dolphin of the Columbia." He is a hard-working man and he approaches Cockrell in his hacklike labors. Farwell never makes any speeches, but his business ability comes out in his committee work, and he may be called a silent force. Wade Hampton tries to work, but he has no business ability, and Hiscock is both ornamental and useful. Senator Hoar is one of the hardest committee workers of the senate. He is the schoolmaster of the body and criticizes his brothers' language upon many occasions. He never uses a singular for a plural, and he would die rather than say "them things," or "I done it," as some of the men who sit near him do. He is a potent force on the judiciary committee, and is the best posted on American history of any man in the body. Senator Sherman has had thirty-five years' experience in making laws, and he has not wasted a day in his whole thirty-five years. He is more than worth his salary, and as the head of the foreign relations committee he has one of the best rooms in the senate wing.

Senator Ransom is chairman of the committee on private land claims. When Bayard was at the head of this committee it did considerable work. During the last two congresses it has done nothing and it now hardly holds a meeting. Still before it are the titles of a great many of the lands of the Southwest. New Mexico and Arizona are crying aloud for a bill to settle their titles, but the matter lies dormant and Ransom ditto. Senator Chandler is as active as a cricket wherever he is. He can't keep still a minute and he does a good deal of work as chairman of the committee on immigration. Cullom is a hard worker and his committee room is so situated that he has to go through another room to get to it. Morrill was until lately the hardest worker of the committee on finance, of which he is the chairman. Up to last year he had not missed a meeting, and Morgan knows more on any subject by instinct than any other man in the senate. Senator Evarts is chairman of the committee on library. He is not doing much just now for his eyes are troubling him very greatly. All of his reading has to be through someone else, but his experience is such that his opinions are very valuable. Gorman is a strong force on the committee on appropriations. He is a fine business man, and he learned while he was a page that he couldn't catch flies with vinegar, and he uses diplomacy in his work. Gray is a good lawyer and a good worker. Harris, of Tennessee, is a crank on rules. He is the parliamentary watch dog of the senate and is a worker and a fighter. Platt, of Connecticut, is a good all-round man. Philetus Sawyer has other men to do his work for him. He has gotten through more individual pension bills than any other senator, and he has a number of important committees. Spooner is a good worker, and Vance makes a nice figure for the head of the women's suffrage committee. Stewart, of Nevada, does a great deal of work both on the floor and in committee. He is at the head of the committee on mines and mining, and is a crank upon silver. Vest is a hard worker. Walthall is the best type of a Southern gentleman statesman, and, like Butler, he gets through with a great deal of work in a very easy way. The new senators have not been here long enough to show their mettle, but the millions which McMillan has made in making cars ought to make him a good chairman for manufactures, and Moody ought to know something about Indian depredations over which he is chairman.

THE SIGHTS OF PARIS.

Contagion Produced by the City's Universal Vivacity.

FIFTEEN THOUSAND SMALL CABS

A Newspaper With 950,000 Circulation—A Large English-Speaking Population—Living Has Become a Fine Art.

PARIS, March 22.—[Special Correspondence.]—Paris is the city of pleasures and of intellectual pursuits, distinguished for frivolity, distinguished for research, and next to Buda Pesth, the wickedest city in the world. The sensation it first produces is one of mental exhilaration, for the universal vivacity is contagious. It seems as if the electrical current which unites humanity is strongest here, and one feels as if he had received a shock (one is often shocked in Paris), which manifests itself in a puissant force universal in its operation, which elevates the spirit of the city and makes Paris, for pleasure, the center of the world. The phenomenon which Schiller describes as "the last perfection of our qualities is when their activity, without ceasing to be sure and earnest, becomes sport," is surely illustrated here, and it is this thought which thrusts itself upon the mind as visibly as the Eiffel tower, Notre Dame, Champs de Elysees, or the scene which spreads out before one from the tower St. Jacques, is what makes Paris seem the gayest city in the world. The present everywhere asserts itself, the entire environment is modern, everything is finished.

A few days after our arrival here we had the pleasure to meet our friend, Mr. Ernest De Lashmutt, who has been here several months. He very kindly showed us the city, and we visited the various places of interest, and found them all more or less as the guide books, and other books describe them.

The medical college is not a very attractive looking building, but is conveniently arranged. There are 800 students, many of whom are women. The course of study lasts five years. The museums are very fine, but the opportunities for study are not any better than in New York or Vienna. We found the hospitals very interesting. Hotel Dieu is the most famous. It is all of stone, has 550 beds, but in emergency can accommodate 1000 patients. It is not as large as the Hospital St. Louis. Among the renowned men in medicine here are Pasteur, who stands at the head, Charcot, Duval, Verneuil, the first surgeon, Tillux, Treatat, Panus, Potain, Peter, Farnier and Fournier. Brown-Sequard is also well known, but is not as much of an authority as some of the others mentioned. These men are all well known in science, and Pasteur especially has done much for it, but France takes the lead more in fashions and intellectual pursuits than in scientific. Throughout all the countries of Europe it is an affectation to talk French, and their trashy novels are to be found in every large city. Scientifically the French follow the lead of the Germans and of the English. In education all details are carried out, but they seem to follow M. Renan's advice, "Aspire to know all things, the limits will appear soon enough," which, of course, isn't very good advice.

The scenes on the boulevards are no doubt the gayest and liveliest in the world. There being few street cars, and those big busses, make it necessary for some other means of transportation, and one-horse cabs do the work. There are 15,000 of them, and when a person is in a hurry to cross the street at boulevard de Sebastopol he is apt to think the whole 15,000 are there to prevent it. All over the city one sees the advertisement that Le Petit Journal has 950,000 circulation daily. It is a small four-page paper; contains the installment of two continued stories, and the editor's (M. Emile de Girardin) maxim, "a new idea every day," which he says is the secret of journalism. Anyhow, by it he has got for his paper the largest circulation in the world. The papers here are run on different principles than in America. Their object seems more to give an opinion of the news than the news itself. The Figaro, which is the organ of society, is said to have no principles. It is fashionable and frivolous and reflects the scenes of the boulevards and French life generally. Usually there is not much news in it, but the leading editorial, called the "chronique," gives an opinion on what is of importance. Temps is said to be the best paper. In make up and news it resembles some of the American and English dailies. It is owned by the Hebrard brothers, and on the staff are M. F. Sarcey, Weber and Mantz. Charivari, the first comic journal ever published, is characteristic of Paris. As "nothing is more significant of men's character than that which they find laughable," Charivari must be taken as a sign of Paris. Punch, the London Charivari, is written to be read by the English young lady, but this journal is often only fit for coarse-grained men and women. Gil Blas resembles Figaro, and the rest of the others resemble these in general, but differ in particulars. Paris was once known as a place of "high thoughts, seated in a heart of courtesy," but I hardly think that the phrase can now be applied to it, and yet as far as more outward air of good breeding goes, every Frenchman easily leads Europe. True politeness can only be associated with principle and honor, for it must be founded on self-respect as well as respect for others—and in Paris, generally speaking, some of these essentials are very often lacking. The doctrine of morals has declined with the advance of manners.

It is estimated that there are 20,000 English-speaking people in Paris, the majority of whom are Americans. If a person has a fortune to spend Paris is a good place to come. The art of living is a fine art here, and for comfort and convenience everything that the world produces can be had here.

Politically France is pretty quiet at present, but the resignation of Bismark in Germany has caused quite a commotion. A new ministry has recently been formed here and the general opinion of the papers is that its term will be a long and prosperous one. It seems odd to think of France as a republic, for everything points to former monarchy. Baron Haussman, who has recently published his memoirs, and who, as much as anyone else, was the founder of modern Paris, says: "I am of the firm opinion that no other form of government than the empire is possible for France." But as a republic it is getting along very well, and we hope it will continue so and prosper. Paris is to-day, without doubt, the gayest city, and, with its magnificent buildings, its Eiffel tower, Place de Concorde, grand boulevards, Louvre, Luxembourg, Versailles and other palaces, in all probability the finest city in the world.

ROYAL BAKING POWDER

Absolutely Pure.

This powder never varies. A marvel of purity strength and wholesomeness. More economical than the ordinary kinds, and cannot be sold in competition with the multitude of low test, short weight alum or phosphate powders. Sold only in cans. ROYAL BAKING POWDER CO., 106 Wall st., N. Y. LEWIS M. JOHNSON & CO., Portland, Oregon.

"Tell me," the teacher, smiling, said,
"The name of names most dear."
And she glanced at each thoughtful little face
As she waited the answer to hear.
But startled was she when a hand was raised,
And a face between smiles and tears
Was turned to her and in eager tone,
A little maid's answer—all her own—
Was lisped: "Please, Miss, Dr. Pierce."

The teacher laughed heartily as she told her friends, but when she discovered that the little one's mother had for years been a sufferer from disease peculiar to her sex, and had been cured by Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription, she felt like hugging the little darling whose answer thus spoke her love for her mother.

Thousands of women bless the day when Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription was first brought to their attention.

"Favorite Prescription" is the only remedy for woman's peculiar weaknesses and delicate ailments, sold by druggists, under a positive guarantee from the manufacturers, that it will give satisfaction in every case, or money refunded. Certificate of guarantee printed on its wrapper, and faithfully carried out by the proprietors for many years.

As an invigorating tonic, it imparts strength to the whole system. For overworked, "worn-out," "run-down," debilitated teachers, milliners, dressmakers, seamstresses, "shop-girls," housekeepers, nursing mothers, and feeble women generally, Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription is the greatest earthly boon; being unequaled as an appetizing cordial and restorative tonic.

As a soothing and strengthening nervine, "Favorite Prescription" is unequaled and is invaluable in allaying and subduing nervous excitability, exhaustion, prostration, hysteria, spasms and other distressing, nervous symptoms, commonly attendant upon functional and organic disease. It induces refreshing sleep and relieves mental anxiety and despondency.

A Book of 160 pages, on Woman: Her Diseases and their Self-cure, mailed (sealed in plain envelope) on receipt of ten cents, in stamps.
